Tito Proposes 'Coexistence' Summit Talks

By TOM HOGE

He made the proposal in a speech prepared for delivery before the U.N. General Assembly in which he appealed urgently for an end to the cold war.

The visiting Yugoslav leader asserted that the fundamental political question facing mankind is coexistence among states with different economical and political systems.

Tito put it this way:

"It would be of particular importance for the further improvement of international relations and for the strengthening of peace in the world for the United Nations — as the most representative gathering of equal and sovereign nations and as the most prominent forum through which world opinion expresses itself—further to elaborate and to codify the principles of peaceful coexistence."

He said he is aware that the matter is covered by the U.N. Charter and is also under discussion in the assembly's legal committee.

Nevertheless, he added, because of the fundamental importance he attaches to the question, "I feel that the United Nations should devote particular attention to the consideration of this question on a high level and in a manner which would most appropriately reflect its importance."

Tito, making his first visit to the U.N. since 1960, has contended the international organization should draw up ground rules for peaceful East-West relations.

Tito, who came to New York after talks in Washington last week with President Kennedy, has followed a path of nonalignment in the East-West struggle.

Dog Elected Chairman of Liberal Party

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A local chairman of Britain's Liberal party took a far from Liberal view today of a group of young Liberals who elected a dog as their chairman.

The dog — a 6-year-old mongrel — is named Bruno.

"It was a gross piece of stupidity," said Eric James, "and it's embarrassing to the party."

James is ward chairman of Britain's third party in suburban Teddington. The young Liberals in his ward nominated and elected the dog.

"The parliamentary way out of this mess," said James, "is to pass a resolution of no confidence in the dog. He would then be relieved of his duties."

He promised such action, probably next week.

The chairmanship of the Teddington Young Liberals came vacant and "no one was prepared to fill the post," said the dog's owner, David Crawford, 22. "So for a joke, I nominated Bruno."

"Bruno was democratically elected," Crawford continued, "and the appointment was duly recorded in the minutes. I'm terribly sorry if this has caused trouble."

New County Budget to Be Inspected

The 1964 budget for El Paso County will be open for public inspection for nine days beginning Wednesday at the County Office Building.

The budget, in its final form as submitted to the board of county commissioners, reflects an overall increase of 3.52 mills for a total of 26.41 mills, compared to 22.89 mills in 1963.

Commissioners, who have been juggling county departmental figures for the past two weeks, will give final approval to the budget Nov. 1. They are scheduled to appear Friday before the Colorado Tax Commission in Denver for detailed explanation of the 1964 budget.

Two new items appear in the 1964 budget, one of which was approved by voters in the last general election calling for the establishment of a regional library at a rate of a one mill levy for 1964.

Castro Accuses U.S. of Hiding Hurricane News

By DANIEL HARKER

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro has announced that his government is raising the price of beef, poultry, beer and cigarettes to help pay for a $260-million flood control program in hurricane-devastated Oriente Province.

In a three-hour television report Monday night on Hurricane Flora, Castro also accused the United States of withholding weather information from Cuban meteorologists during the storm.

He said a charge by the United States that Cuba had refused to allow flights of U.S. hurricane spotter planes over Cuba was "absolutely false."

"What we only ask," he said, "is that they cease a blockade on a country which has suffered a disaster of this kind.

The prime minister said a massive public works program for Oriente Province, in eastern Cuba, will include dams and flood control systems so there will never be a repetition of Flora's floods, which ruined crops.

Admitting heavy losses in the sugar crop, Cuba's principal earner of foreign currency, Castro said the price increases are necessary to buy heavy building equipment for the reconstruction program.

He said beef would be hiked to 55 cents a pound and poultry to 65 cents, while 5-cent increases would be added to cigarettes, now 10 cents a pack, and beer, now 25 cents a bottle.

Castro said the hurricane which swept the island two

Ethiopian Still Tries to Settle Algerian War

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS, (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia continued his efforts to mediate the Algerian-Moroccan border dispute today. Morocco held out little hope for a quick settlement.

"The position of the two countries on the frontier question remains the same," Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Balafrej told newsmen Monday shortly before the 74-year-old emperor boarded a plane in Rabat, the Moroccan capital, for Algiers.

Selassie had several meetings in Morocco with King Hassan II in an effort to mediate the conflict over possession of a desolate tract in the Sahara.

In Algiers, Selassie was greeted at the airport by President Ahmed Ben Bella and received a hero's welcome as they drove through the city in an open car.

The emperor is reported trying to persuade Ben Bella to agree to a summit meeting with King Hassan. Hassan was said o have assured Selassie he is prepared to meet Ben Bella anyhere to discuss a cease-fire.

However, Ben Bella's government has unleashed an unprecedented hate campaign against

Six-Man Space Mission Planned to Planet Mars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. scientists are studying a possible space mission which would take six men on a 16-month round-trip to the planet Mars.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate Space Committee, told the Women's National Democratic Club Monday it was too early to determine the size of the Mars spacecraft, the number of its crew, or whether it would have built-in gravity, but that such a mission was under study.

"The journey to an orbit about Mars would take 140 days," Anderson said. "Forty days would be devoted to exploration of the planet. The return trip would take 240 days, or 110 days longer than the trip out.

"The Mars ship would comprise three main sections: A command unit to protect the astronauts during launch and a return through the earth's atmosphere, a mission unit containing the crew's living quarters, and a landing craft," Anderson said.

In preparation for eventual interplanetary travel, Anderson said, valuable experience will be gained from long-duration flights in the Gemini and Apollo spacecraft. These are seen as the successors to Project Mercury which has placed astronauts in orbit around the earth.

"Two men in the Gemini capsule will spend several weeks in earth orbit, and three men in the Apollo spacecraft may stay aloft as long as two months," Anderson said.

Siamese Twin Baby Dies After Surgery

Doctors at Baptist Hospital said they were "hopeful but very guarded" about Michael's chances of surviving.

The Siamese twins, born last Nov. 3 in Wilmington N.C., to Mrs. James Genovese, wife of a Marine Corps sergeant, weighed 10 pounds, 4 ounces at birth. Their combined weight before surgery was 32½ pounds.

Eight surgeons worked five hours to separate the boys. They said Mark died because he had too little brain left.

Probe of Jobless Frauds to Cost State $21,040

DENVER (AP) — A $21,040 federal grant will finance the state's investigation into alleged unemployment compensation frauds, and Gov. John Love said that if the money's not enough, the state will pay the bill.

"I can't believe costs will be too extreme," Love said, adding that the investigation is of sufficient importance to warrant completion no matter who pays. He indicated the inquiry would take three months.

The grant approved Monday by the U.S. Labor Department provided that the investigators will be hired through the state's civil service system. Love said five or six persons already on the state payroll would do the job. They would be transferred from their present departments to the investigative body.

Two college professors already are studying statistically how the investigation will be conducted. The two, one from the University of Colorado and the other from Denver University, were recently hired by the state. Their salaries have not been determined.

Love said the professors will only set up the sampling proce-

Seven Big Steel Firms May Be Probed for Prices

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — At least seven big steel companies have been subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in New York under mysterious circumstances. It was reported that the inquiry concerned steel prices.

However, none of the steel firms openly said so, and the Justice Department in Washington declined comment.

A spokesman for one company, Republic Steel Corp., said the subpoenas "took the industry by surprise."

An across-the-board increase in prices by most major steel producers within 48 hours in April 1962 erupted into an epic business-government clash. The $6 a ton hike was rescinded under White House pressure.

Among other things, a grand jury investigation was launched but nothing came of it.

President Kennedy expressed concern earlier this month over selective increases last spring and this fall covering about 70 per cent of all steel products.

Kennedy said the situation was being watched very carefully, along with markups in other industries, but said nothing about any formal investigation.

Increases in which the White House acquiesced last spring were limited to steel sheets, used heavily by automobile and appliance makers, and steel strip.

They were initiated by Wheeling Steel Corp., the 11th ranking company, and gradually spread across the industry.

Another round of increases started in September applied to oil field pipe, bars, plate, structural shapes and semi-finished steel sold by primary producers to processors, plus a few other products.

Besides Republic, the third-ranking producer, companies confirming receipt of subpoenas Monday included U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., National Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., and

Atom Attack Unrealistic, Londoner Says

DENVER (AP) — The image of a nuclear bomb devastating a huge city with its impact in a future war is probably unrealistic, says Wilfred Chambers, the head of Civil Defense for London.

On a vacation tour of the United States, Chambers said Monday it is now believed that bombs would fall somewhere outside of major cities. Fallout would cripple the population and ground troops would take the city later.

If a bomb made a direct hit on the city, he explained, there would be too much damage to valuable and conquerable property.

Publicity Man Proposed for State Committee

DENVER (AP) — A public relations specialist is going to be hired by Gov. John Love's Local Affairs Study Commission, the group's executive board decided Monday.

Rep. John Mackie, R-Longmont, said the public relations man is needed to counteract a public lack of knowledge of what the commission is doing.

Mackie said the public relations staff member would also help with research and other staff functions. He estimated the salary at between $6,000 and $7,000 a year and said that the commission has enough money in its present budget to hire the new staff member now.

The committee also approved a $100,000 budget for next year and decided to look into the problem of commission members who don't attend meetings. The problem of what to do about consistently absent commission members is to be discussed at the next meeting of the full commission on Nov. 11.

Mackie told board members he would like to have those members resign who are not taking part in committee meetings, and to replace them with more active members.

The $100,000 approved for next

Anti-Titoists Stage Incidents In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Police kept a tight protective guard on Yugoslav President Tito and his party today following two incidents involving anti-Titoist factions. President Kennedy asked for a report.

A clash between Tito aides and five persons Monday night, followed by the seizure of two anti-Titoists near the foreign visitor's hotel suite, caused high-level conference's about Tito's safety.

United Nations Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who participated in the talks, said Kennedy had telephoned Secretary of State Dean Rusk Monday night for a report from Rusk and protocol chief Angier Biddle Duke about the incidents at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Stevenson commented as he left his residence in the Waldorf Towers for the United Nations and an address there later by Tito. He said he would talk with Kennedy later by telephone.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said the police security detail had not been increased because the department felt it was adequate.

Police released the three Tito aides after questioning about the clash on a street outside the hotel, and said a routine report of the incident would be made to the State Department. One of the aides reportedly brandished a knife during the struggle.

The two men arrested on the 35th floor of the hotel were charged with disorderly conduct.

Sproul to Build Dwellings for Senior Citizens

A group of dwellings for senior citizens will be built in a new addition by Sproul Homes, Inc., southeast of the city, a spokesman for the company disclosed to City Council today.

Leonard Couch, project manager, said a 27.4-acre tract in the addition will be devoted to 250 two-room group dwellings or units for senior citizens.

The units, which will not be attached, come under the zoning classification, known as "group dwelling."

City Council voted to annex the Sproul property, Pikes Peak Park Addition No. 5, a 316.24-acre property east of South Circle Drive and south of Airport Road.

Most of the property is zoned R-2 (single-family residential) with the exception of the Group Dwelling; a 20.9-acre tract zoned Planned Business Center-3; and a 13.91-acre tract zoned R-5 (multi-family residential).

Also at this morning's meeting, City Council deferred until Nov. 12 any action on a zone change ordinance at the southeast intersection of Pikes Peak Avenue and South Circle Drive.

William E. Wiley has requested a change from R-2 to R-5 and C-5 (intermediate business) to build apartments and a service station on the property.

The City Planning Commission denied the request Sept. 12, but an Oct. 8 City Council reversed that decision and okayed the zone change. The ordinance was up for second reading today.

Councilman Eugene McCleary voted to deny the request and was supported by William S. Roe and Mrs. Betty Krouse. They were outvoted 4-3, and the motion lost.

In the absence of two council members, Harry Scurr and Bill Becker, council then voted to table the request until affirmative action cauld be taken by the entire City Council.

Also tabled until Nov. 12 was action on an ordinance prepared by City Attorney F. T. Henry which would govern the use of city park roads by various vehicles within the park system.

U.S. Takes Action Against Viet Nam Special Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is cutting off assistance to the South Vietnamese special force troops that led government raids against Buddhist pagodas.

They will get no more U.S. help until they are assigned to field duty against Communist guerrillas.

The action, announced Monday by the State Department, is a direct challenge to Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and reportedly the behind-the-scenes ruler in Saigon.

It is also, State Department officials said, in line with President Kennedy's announced policy—the United States will support what helps the war effort and will not support what does not.

The troops are an elite airborne corps numbering about 8,000. Beside military assistance they have been receiving about

Communist China Seat Bid Again Rejected by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations has again rejected membership for Communist China in a vote hailed by the United States as a clear indication of opposition to the Peking regime.

The vote Monday constituted another victory for the United States in its battle to keep Red China out of the world organization. It was the 14th time that the General Assembly has either rejected or sidetracked Peking's admission.

The 111-member General Assembly defeated an Albanian-Cambodian resolution to seat Peking and oust Nationalist China 57-41 with 12 abstentions. Ethiopia, which voted for admission last year, was absent. Passage of the resolution would have required 74 votes, a two-thirds majority.

Last year the vote was 56 against and 42 in favor, with 12 abstentions.

This was the first year that the resolution for Peking's admission was not sponsored by the Soviet Union, currently embroiled in an ideological dispute with Red China. The Soviet bloc voted for the resolution, but the Russians made only a token speech urging its adoption.

Sherbondy Caught In Chicago With Other Suspects

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Two ex-convicts from Colorado, one a paroled murderer, and a companion were seized Monday night after the FBI had alerted state police that an unidentified man had reported he was being kidnaped.

State police found four homemade bombs, four revolvers and a shotgun in the car in which the men were riding They also found $1,682 in the car and said the three men were carrying a total of $2,138.

Arrested after a chase north of Chicago were James Sherbondy, 43, who was identified by police as a convict who was paroled last December from the Colorado Penitentiary in Canon City after serving 25 years of a life sentence for the murder of a deputy sheriff.

James McMahon, assistant director of Illinois public safety, said the others arrested are Jack Kelm, 58, of Canon City, paroled two years ago while serving a term for aggravated robbery, and Arlen E. Thompson, 40, of Denver.

McMahon said Thompson had telephoned the FBI in Chicago Monday from Des Plaines, Ill., and said he was being kidnaped. He gave the license number of the car in which he and the two ex-convicts were riding and their location—near the Elgin area.

McMahon said he did not

Many Communities Face Drought Water Shortage

By United Press International

A crop-crippling, fire-sparking drought across the East forced schools to close today and threatened many communities with water shortages.

Turbulent weather raged around the stricken area.

Nearly 2,000 students started half-day classes today in Tussey Mountain schools near Saxton, Pa., in an effort by city authorities to conserve water. All schools cafeterias were ordered shut down.

A bottling firm and a laundromat agreed to close down two days a week in Saxton because of dwindling water supplies.

Youngsters at Bakerton, Pa., returned to class today for the first time in a week, but were asked to carry boiled water until new wells are tested for purity.

By DANIEL HARKER

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro has announced that his government is raising the price of beef, poultry, beer and cigarettes to help pay for a $260-million flood control program in hurricane-devastated Oriente Province.

In a three-hour television report Monday night on Hurricane Flora, Castro also accused the United States of withholding weather information from Cuban meteorologists during the storm.

He said a charge by the United States that Cuba had refused to allow flights of U.S. hurricane spotter planes over Cuba was "absolutely false."

"What we only ask," he said, "is that they cease a blockade on a country which has suffered a disaster of this kind.

The prime minister said a massive public works program for Oriente Province, in eastern Cuba, will include dams and flood control systems so there will never be a repetition of Flora's floods, which ruined crops.

Admitting heavy losses in the sugar crop, Cuba's principal earner of foreign currency, Castro said the price increases are necessary to buy heavy building equipment for the reconstruction program.

He said beef would be hiked to 55 cents a pound and poultry to 65 cents, while 5-cent increases would be added to cigarettes, now 10 cents a pack, and beer, now 25 cents a bottle.

Castro said the hurricane which swept the island two

Six-Man Space Mission Planned to Planet Mars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. scientists are studying a possible space mission which would take six men on a 16-month round-trip to the planet Mars.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate Space Committee, told the Women's National Democratic Club Monday it was too early to determine the size of the Mars spacecraft, the number of its crew, or whether it would have built-in gravity, but that such a mission was under study.

"The journey to an orbit about Mars would take 140 days," Anderson said. "Forty days would be devoted to exploration of the planet. The return trip would take 240 days, or 110 days longer than the trip out.

"The Mars ship would comprise three main sections: A command unit to protect the astronauts during launch and a return through the earth's atmosphere, a mission unit containing the crew's living quarters, and a landing craft," Anderson said.

In preparation for eventual interplanetary travel, Anderson said, valuable experience will be gained from long-duration flights in the Gemini and Apollo spacecraft. These are seen as the successors to Project Mercury which has placed astronauts in orbit around the earth.

"Two men in the Gemini capsule will spend several weeks in earth orbit, and three men in the Apollo spacecraft may stay aloft as long as two months," Anderson said.

Ethiopian Still Tries to Settle Algerian War

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS, (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia continued his efforts to mediate the Algerian-Moroccan border dispute today. Morocco held out little hope for a quick settlement.

"The position of the two countries on the frontier question remains the same," Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Balafrej told newsmen Monday shortly before the 74-year-old emperor boarded a plane in Rabat, the Moroccan capital, for Algiers.

Selassie had several meetings in Morocco with King Hassan II in an effort to mediate the conflict over possession of a desolate tract in the Sahara.

In Algiers, Selassie was greeted at the airport by President Ahmed Ben Bella and received a hero's welcome as they drove through the city in an open car.

The emperor is reported trying to persuade Ben Bella to agree to a summit meeting with King Hassan. Hassan was said o have assured Selassie he is prepared to meet Ben Bella anyhere to discuss a cease-fire.

However, Ben Bella's government has unleashed an unprecedented hate campaign against

Siamese Twin Baby Dies After Surgery

Doctors at Baptist Hospital said they were "hopeful but very guarded" about Michael's chances of surviving.

The Siamese twins, born last Nov. 3 in Wilmington N.C., to Mrs. James Genovese, wife of a Marine Corps sergeant, weighed 10 pounds, 4 ounces at birth. Their combined weight before surgery was 32½ pounds.

Eight surgeons worked five hours to separate the boys. They said Mark died because he had too little brain left.

Probe of Jobless Frauds to Cost State $21,040

DENVER (AP) — A $21,040 federal grant will finance the state's investigation into alleged unemployment compensation frauds, and Gov. John Love said that if the money's not enough, the state will pay the bill.

"I can't believe costs will be too extreme," Love said, adding that the investigation is of sufficient importance to warrant completion no matter who pays. He indicated the inquiry would take three months.

The grant approved Monday by the U.S. Labor Department provided that the investigators will be hired through the state's civil service system. Love said five or six persons already on the state payroll would do the job. They would be transferred from their present departments to the investigative body.

Two college professors already are studying statistically how the investigation will be conducted. The two, one from the University of Colorado and the other from Denver University, were recently hired by the state. Their salaries have not been determined.

Love said the professors will only set up the sampling proce-

Seven Big Steel Firms May Be Probed for Prices

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — At least seven big steel companies have been subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in New York under mysterious circumstances. It was reported that the inquiry concerned steel prices.

However, none of the steel firms openly said so, and the Justice Department in Washington declined comment.

A spokesman for one company, Republic Steel Corp., said the subpoenas "took the industry by surprise."

An across-the-board increase in prices by most major steel producers within 48 hours in April 1962 erupted into an epic business-government clash. The $6 a ton hike was rescinded under White House pressure.

Among other things, a grand jury investigation was launched but nothing came of it.

President Kennedy expressed concern earlier this month over selective increases last spring and this fall covering about 70 per cent of all steel products.

Kennedy said the situation was being watched very carefully, along with markups in other industries, but said nothing about any formal investigation.

Increases in which the White House acquiesced last spring were limited to steel sheets, used heavily by automobile and appliance makers, and steel strip.

They were initiated by Wheeling Steel Corp., the 11th ranking company, and gradually spread across the industry.

Another round of increases started in September applied to oil field pipe, bars, plate, structural shapes and semi-finished steel sold by primary producers to processors, plus a few other products.

Besides Republic, the third-ranking producer, companies confirming receipt of subpoenas Monday included U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., National Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., and

Atom Attack Unrealistic, Londoner Says

DENVER (AP) — The image of a nuclear bomb devastating a huge city with its impact in a future war is probably unrealistic, says Wilfred Chambers, the head of Civil Defense for London.

On a vacation tour of the United States, Chambers said Monday it is now believed that bombs would fall somewhere outside of major cities. Fallout would cripple the population and ground troops would take the city later.

If a bomb made a direct hit on the city, he explained, there would be too much damage to valuable and conquerable property.

Publicity Man Proposed for State Committee

DENVER (AP) — A public relations specialist is going to be hired by Gov. John Love's Local Affairs Study Commission, the group's executive board decided Monday.

Rep. John Mackie, R-Longmont, said the public relations man is needed to counteract a public lack of knowledge of what the commission is doing.

Mackie said the public relations staff member would also help with research and other staff functions. He estimated the salary at between $6,000 and $7,000 a year and said that the commission has enough money in its present budget to hire the new staff member now.

The committee also approved a $100,000 budget for next year and decided to look into the problem of commission members who don't attend meetings. The problem of what to do about consistently absent commission members is to be discussed at the next meeting of the full commission on Nov. 11.

Mackie told board members he would like to have those members resign who are not taking part in committee meetings, and to replace them with more active members.

The $100,000 approved for next

Anti-Titoists Stage Incidents In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Police kept a tight protective guard on Yugoslav President Tito and his party today following two incidents involving anti-Titoist factions. President Kennedy asked for a report.

A clash between Tito aides and five persons Monday night, followed by the seizure of two anti-Titoists near the foreign visitor's hotel suite, caused high-level conference's about Tito's safety.

United Nations Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who participated in the talks, said Kennedy had telephoned Secretary of State Dean Rusk Monday night for a report from Rusk and protocol chief Angier Biddle Duke about the incidents at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Stevenson commented as he left his residence in the Waldorf Towers for the United Nations and an address there later by Tito. He said he would talk with Kennedy later by telephone.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said the police security detail had not been increased because the department felt it was adequate.

Police released the three Tito aides after questioning about the clash on a street outside the hotel, and said a routine report of the incident would be made to the State Department. One of the aides reportedly brandished a knife during the struggle.

The two men arrested on the 35th floor of the hotel were charged with disorderly conduct.

Sproul to Build Dwellings for Senior Citizens

A group of dwellings for senior citizens will be built in a new addition by Sproul Homes, Inc., southeast of the city, a spokesman for the company disclosed to City Council today.

Leonard Couch, project manager, said a 27.4-acre tract in the addition will be devoted to 250 two-room group dwellings or units for senior citizens.

The units, which will not be attached, come under the zoning classification, known as "group dwelling."

City Council voted to annex the Sproul property, Pikes Peak Park Addition No. 5, a 316.24-acre property east of South Circle Drive and south of Airport Road.

Most of the property is zoned R-2 (single-family residential) with the exception of the Group Dwelling; a 20.9-acre tract zoned Planned Business Center-3; and a 13.91-acre tract zoned R-5 (multi-family residential).

Also at this morning's meeting, City Council deferred until Nov. 12 any action on a zone change ordinance at the southeast intersection of Pikes Peak Avenue and South Circle Drive.

William E. Wiley has requested a change from R-2 to R-5 and C-5 (intermediate business) to build apartments and a service station on the property.

The City Planning Commission denied the request Sept. 12, but an Oct. 8 City Council reversed that decision and okayed the zone change. The ordinance was up for second reading today.

Councilman Eugene McCleary voted to deny the request and was supported by William S. Roe and Mrs. Betty Krouse. They were outvoted 4-3, and the motion lost.

In the absence of two council members, Harry Scurr and Bill Becker, council then voted to table the request until affirmative action cauld be taken by the entire City Council.

Also tabled until Nov. 12 was action on an ordinance prepared by City Attorney F. T. Henry which would govern the use of city park roads by various vehicles within the park system.

He made the proposal in a speech prepared for delivery before the U.N. General Assembly in which he appealed urgently for an end to the cold war.

The visiting Yugoslav leader asserted that the fundamental political question facing mankind is coexistence among states with different economical and political systems.

Tito put it this way:

"It would be of particular importance for the further improvement of international relations and for the strengthening of peace in the world for the United Nations — as the most representative gathering of equal and sovereign nations and as the most prominent forum through which world opinion expresses itself—further to elaborate and to codify the principles of peaceful coexistence."

He said he is aware that the matter is covered by the U.N. Charter and is also under discussion in the assembly's legal committee.

Nevertheless, he added, because of the fundamental importance he attaches to the question, "I feel that the United Nations should devote particular attention to the consideration of this question on a high level and in a manner which would most appropriately reflect its importance."

Tito, making his first visit to the U.N. since 1960, has contended the international organization should draw up ground rules for peaceful East-West relations.

Tito, who came to New York after talks in Washington last week with President Kennedy, has followed a path of nonalignment in the East-West struggle.

U.S. Takes Action Against Viet Nam Special Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is cutting off assistance to the South Vietnamese special force troops that led government raids against Buddhist pagodas.

They will get no more U.S. help until they are assigned to field duty against Communist guerrillas.

The action, announced Monday by the State Department, is a direct challenge to Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and reportedly the behind-the-scenes ruler in Saigon.

It is also, State Department officials said, in line with President Kennedy's announced policy—the United States will support what helps the war effort and will not support what does not.

The troops are an elite airborne corps numbering about 8,000. Beside military assistance they have been receiving about

Communist China Seat Bid Again Rejected by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations has again rejected membership for Communist China in a vote hailed by the United States as a clear indication of opposition to the Peking regime.

The vote Monday constituted another victory for the United States in its battle to keep Red China out of the world organization. It was the 14th time that the General Assembly has either rejected or sidetracked Peking's admission.

The 111-member General Assembly defeated an Albanian-Cambodian resolution to seat Peking and oust Nationalist China 57-41 with 12 abstentions. Ethiopia, which voted for admission last year, was absent. Passage of the resolution would have required 74 votes, a two-thirds majority.

Last year the vote was 56 against and 42 in favor, with 12 abstentions.

This was the first year that the resolution for Peking's admission was not sponsored by the Soviet Union, currently embroiled in an ideological dispute with Red China. The Soviet bloc voted for the resolution, but the Russians made only a token speech urging its adoption.

Sherbondy Caught In Chicago With Other Suspects

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Two ex-convicts from Colorado, one a paroled murderer, and a companion were seized Monday night after the FBI had alerted state police that an unidentified man had reported he was being kidnaped.

State police found four homemade bombs, four revolvers and a shotgun in the car in which the men were riding They also found $1,682 in the car and said the three men were carrying a total of $2,138.

Arrested after a chase north of Chicago were James Sherbondy, 43, who was identified by police as a convict who was paroled last December from the Colorado Penitentiary in Canon City after serving 25 years of a life sentence for the murder of a deputy sheriff.

James McMahon, assistant director of Illinois public safety, said the others arrested are Jack Kelm, 58, of Canon City, paroled two years ago while serving a term for aggravated robbery, and Arlen E. Thompson, 40, of Denver.

McMahon said Thompson had telephoned the FBI in Chicago Monday from Des Plaines, Ill., and said he was being kidnaped. He gave the license number of the car in which he and the two ex-convicts were riding and their location—near the Elgin area.

McMahon said he did not

Many Communities Face Drought Water Shortage

By United Press International

A crop-crippling, fire-sparking drought across the East forced schools to close today and threatened many communities with water shortages.

Turbulent weather raged around the stricken area.

Nearly 2,000 students started half-day classes today in Tussey Mountain schools near Saxton, Pa., in an effort by city authorities to conserve water. All schools cafeterias were ordered shut down.

A bottling firm and a laundromat agreed to close down two days a week in Saxton because of dwindling water supplies.

Youngsters at Bakerton, Pa., returned to class today for the first time in a week, but were asked to carry boiled water until new wells are tested for purity.

Goldberg Questions Sentences for Rape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Arthur Goldberg of the Supreme Court raised a question today whether the Constitution permits the death penalty for rape if a human life is neither taken nor endangered.

Goldberg, saying he thought this question should be considered, dissented to Supreme Court orders which denied reviews to two convicted rapists. Justices Douglas and Brennan said they also favored hearing the appeals.

The men whose appeals were rejected are:

Frank Lee Rudolph, a Negro under death sentence in Alabama on conviction of raping a white woman in 1961.

The high court simply issued orders declining to hear these appeals but with a notation that Justices Goldberg, Douglas and Brennan favored hearing them. The court division thus was 6-3.

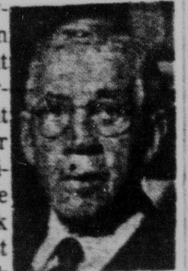
I Remember

By CHARLES S. DUDLEY



C. S. DUDLEY

With Ent Air Base in Colorado Springs, great Ft. Carson a short distance south of the city and Cheyenne Mountain hollowed out for headquarters in event of a nuclear war, old fortifications of the Pikes Peak Region against Indian attack appear mere flyspecks on the landscape.

The comparison shows how time flies. Old rock and groat defense formations, or rather the ruins of them, are of interest once in a while at meetings for the reading of historical papers. The uninformed viewer might be pardoned if he wondered whether such inconsiderable remaining structures were indeed relics of something that had been built or just natural formations in a rocky area.

But brave men and women among the pioneers depended upon them for protection of their lives and the lives of their children. Photographs and paintings of these pioneers are to be seen in the Colorado Springs Pioneers Museum. In a case there also are some of the weapons they relied on in case of an attack. Nothing nuclear. Just old muzzle loading muskets, used with powder and ball.

South of Colorado Springs, near Fountain, may be seen what is called an old groat fence corral in which cattle have been kept at times. Those walls, or fences, were originally a defense against attack by marauding Indians. Or so at least they are said to have been.

North of Colorado Springs, near Monument, is seen the ruins of a low stone structure not long ago used as a chicken coop. It was a fort to which residents of that area resorted a number of times for defense they feared Indian attacks. Not far from there is a house with massive stone walls in which, at least at one time, there were portholes. Another fort.

On West Kiowa Street, right in Colorado Springs, is a house in which residents of little old Colorado City were "forted up" on more than one occasion. A green log palisade at such times was built around it, behind which men of the town were prepared to resist the Indians if they should attack with flaming arrows. The women and children occupied the house in such times of danger. A battle was never fought there, but there was ample fear one would be, more than once.

The ruins of the old Harlow Teachout place, a mile north of present Pikeview, first stop on the old Colorado City-Denver Road, are other lingering partial stone structures that speak eloquently of those dangerous days as the pioneers were crossing the Great Plains in covered wagons and establishing homes at the foot of Pikes Peak. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Englert, indefatigable in historical research, drove me there once and I wrote it up for the Gazette Telegraph. I now come across that clipping, with my by-line on it, dated Nov. 22, 1953. But the story already is so old I scarcely remember writing it.

At this place there was a three-story frame hotel, long ago burned down or just naturally disintegrated. Parts of the foundation and of a massive stone barn remain. This barn was serviceable as a fort.

So you see the Pikes Peak Region can offer contrasts in preparation for defense, if attack should come. The signal now for a possible attack is the prolonged wailing of loud sirens. In those days of which the remainder of stone forts speak the alarm was brought by a fast horseback rider, and the ranchers hastened in wagons to assemble at strongholds if it should come to fighting.

JFK Is Prepared For Democratic Fund Raising

By FRANK CORMIER

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —President Kennedy is ready to make a series of cross-country appearances at Democratic fund-raising dinners which he hopes will duplicate a record-setting affair in Boston Saturday night.

White House sources said the fund-raising tours, are expected to raise as much as $10 million for next year's campaign.

Final decisions on cities where Kennedy will appear have not been reached, but it is expected that he will hit many major population centers — including Dallas, San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Miami before the presidential campaign begins.

The Boston dinner drew more than 7,000—at $100 a plate—a bonanza of more than $700,000 for the Democratic party. It was the biggest affair of its kind in New England history.

Party functionaries approached the President immediately after the dinner to urge that he appear in other cities, and it was learned he was more than receptive to the idea.

Kennedy flew to Hyannis Port Sunday morning from Boston and spent a quiet day with his invalid father, Joseph P. Kennedy, and his mother, Rose.

Soon after arrival, the President joined his father for a boating excursion on Lewis Bay and Nantucket Sound. He also had dinner with his parents.

He said they can show their concern about unemployment by voting for an $11-billion tax cut; about Latin America, by restoring recent cuts in Alliance for Progress funds; and about racial troubles, "by voting for a strong civil rights bill."

The president also urged appropriations for science and space, restoration of tentative cuts in foreign aid, and affirmative action on education, with employment, medical care for the elderly and area redevelopment.

More Exploration Said Needed For Oil Supplies

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —One of the nation's leading petroleum geologists said today America's oil industry can meet market demands of the future only through technological excellence, more wildcat tests and by drilling to unexplored depths.

Ira H. Cram, vice president and chairman of the executive committee of Continental Oil Co., was the keynote speaker at the opening session of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists here.

He said wildcat tests in the future would have to be made "in the wide open spaces away from the shadow of (present) oil fields."

Cram predicted the United States would consume 90 billion barrels of oil from 1961 to 1980 and the rest of the world would need another 140 billion barrels.

About 1,500 delegates from the United States and other countries were attending the society's five-day 33rd international convention.

Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter was scheduled to speak to the society later in the day.

Reapportion Plan Review Is Permitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision holding Delaware's recently enacted reapportionment plan unconstitutional.

The decision was given by a special three-judge U.S. District Court in Wilmington. It was appealed to the highest tribunal by a group of county and state officials who contended there had been a "gross abuse" of judicial power.

The District Court held the Delaware House of Representatives must be selected strictly on a population basis. It also held the Delaware Senate should be based substantially on population, but other factors may be given some weight in reapportionment.

The District Court rejected an argument that the Delaware Senate should follow the model of the United States Senate. It declared that unlike the states, "there never was much and there is now no sovereignty in the counties of Delaware."

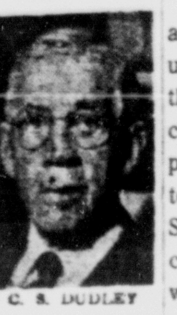
I Remember

By CHARLES S. DUDLEY



C. S. DUDLEY

With Ent Air Base in Colorado Springs, great Ft. Carson a short distance south of the city and Cheyenne Mountain hollowed out for headquarters in event of a nuclear war, old fortifications of the Pikes Peak Region against Indian attack appear mere flyspecks on the landscape.

The comparison shows how time flies. Old rock and groat defense formations, or rather the ruins of them, are of interest once in a while at meetings for the reading of historical papers. The uninformed viewer might be pardoned if he wondered whether such inconsiderable remaining structures were indeed relics of something that had been built or just natural formations in a rocky area.

But brave men and women among the pioneers depended upon them for protection of their lives and the lives of their children. Photographs and paintings of these pioneers are to be seen in the Colorado Springs Pioneers Museum. In a case there also are some of the weapons they relied on in case of an attack. Nothing nuclear. Just old muzzle loading muskets, used with powder and ball.

South of Colorado Springs, near Fountain, may be seen what is called an old groat fence corral in which cattle have been kept at times. Those walls, or fences, were originally a defense against attack by marauding Indians. Or so at least they are said to have been.

North of Colorado Springs, near Monument, is seen the ruins of a low stone structure not long ago used as a chicken coop. It was a fort to which residents of that area resorted a number of times for defense they feared Indian attacks. Not far from there is a house with massive stone walls in which, at least at one time, there were portholes. Another fort.

On West Kiowa Street, right in Colorado Springs, is a house in which residents of little old Colorado City were "forted up" on more than one occasion. A green log palisade at such times was built around it, behind which men of the town were prepared to resist the Indians if they should attack with flaming arrows. The women and children occupied the house in such times of danger. A battle was never fought there, but there was ample fear one would be, more than once.

The ruins of the old Harlow Teachout place, a mile north of present Pikeview, first stop on the old Colorado City-Denver Road, are other lingering partial stone structures that speak eloquently of those dangerous days as the pioneers were crossing the Great Plains in covered wagons and establishing homes at the foot of Pikes Peak. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Englert, indefatigable in historical research, drove me there once and I wrote it up for the Gazette Telegraph. I now come across that clipping, with my by-line on it, dated Nov. 22, 1953. But the story already is so old I scarcely remember writing it.

At this place there was a three-story frame hotel, long ago burned down or just naturally disintegrated. Parts of the foundation and of a massive stone barn remain. This barn was serviceable as a fort.

So you see the Pikes Peak Region can offer contrasts in preparation for defense, if attack should come. The signal now for a possible attack is the prolonged wailing of loud sirens. In those days of which the remainder of stone forts speak the alarm was brought by a fast horseback rider, and the ranchers hastened in wagons to assemble at strongholds if it should come to fighting.

JFK Is Prepared For Democratic Fund Raising

By FRANK CORMIER

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —President Kennedy is ready to make a series of cross-country appearances at Democratic fund-raising dinners which he hopes will duplicate a record-setting affair in Boston Saturday night.

White House sources said the fund-raising tours, are expected to raise as much as $10 million for next year's campaign.

Final decisions on cities where Kennedy will appear have not been reached, but it is expected that he will hit many major population centers — including Dallas, San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Miami before the presidential campaign begins.

The Boston dinner drew more than 7,000—at $100 a plate—a bonanza of more than $700,000 for the Democratic party. It was the biggest affair of its kind in New England history.

Party functionaries approached the President immediately after the dinner to urge that he appear in other cities, and it was learned he was more than receptive to the idea.

Soon after arrival, the President joined his father for a boating excursion on Lewis Bay and Nantucket Sound. He also had dinner with his parents.

He said they can show their concern about unemployment by voting for an $11-billion tax cut; about Latin America, by restoring recent cuts in Alliance for Progress funds; and about racial troubles, "by voting for a strong civil rights bill."

The president also urged appropriations for science and space, restoration of tentative cuts in foreign aid, and affirmative action on education, with employment, medical care for the elderly and area redevelopment.

More Exploration Said Needed For Oil Supplies

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —One of the nation's leading petroleum geologists said today America's oil industry can meet market demands of the future only through technological excellence, more wildcat tests and by drilling to unexplored depths.

Ira H. Cram, vice president and chairman of the executive committee of Continental Oil Co., was the keynote speaker at the opening session of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists here.

He said wildcat tests in the future would have to be made "in the wide open spaces away from the shadow of (present) oil fields."

Cram predicted the United States would consume 90 billion barrels of oil from 1961 to 1980 and the rest of the world would need another 140 billion barrels.

About 1,500 delegates from the United States and other countries were attending the society's five-day 33rd international convention.

Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter was scheduled to speak to the society later in the day.

Reapportion Plan Review Is Permitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision holding Delaware's recently enacted reapportionment plan unconstitutional.

The decision was given by a special three-judge U.S. District Court in Wilmington. It was appealed to the highest tribunal by a group of county and state officials who contended there had been a "gross abuse" of judicial power.

The District Court held the Delaware House of Representatives must be selected strictly on a population basis. It also held the Delaware Senate should be based substantially on population, but other factors may be given some weight in reapportionment.

The District Court rejected an argument that the Delaware Senate should follow the model of the United States Senate. It declared that unlike the states, "there never was much and there is now no sovereignty in the counties of Delaware."

Wiman Named Instructor of Training Course

John L. Wiman has been named instructor-moderator for the Life Underwriters Training Council Course being held at 8:30 a.m. each Saturday thru May in the YMCA board room.

Eighteen members of the life insurance business have enrolled in this year's class, according to William Pilcher, chairman of the training council for the Pikes Peak Region.

The Life Underwriter Training Council was organized in 1937 by four major groups in life insurance. They are the American Life Convention, the National Association of Life Underwriters, the Life Insurance Association of America and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association.

This year's course is the first of two parts. It will cover such studies as life insurance as property, policy features and plans, personal needs for insurance, programming of insurance benefits, Social Security, veterans' benefits and the different methods of record-keeping.

Textbooks and initial lesson assignments will be distributed Nov. 2 to the life insurance agents and managers enrolled in Part I.

New County Budget to Be Inspected

vary in future years depending on budget needs.

The second item inserted in the 1964 budget — the public works fund supported by a three-mill levy — is the principal factor in the 3.52 overall levy increase.

Commissioners and other county officials will speak at public hearing beginning at 2 p.m. Thursday to explain the need for the public works fund which is earmarked for county capital improvements including expanded court house and jail facilities.

The resolution adopting the public works fund mill levy was passed last week by commissioners without a vote of the taxpayers or a public hearing.

Board Chairman Keith McBurney said that Colorado statute gives commissioners authority to impose a three-mill levy for a public works fund without a vote of taxpayers.

Another state statute limits the amount of money to be raised on a bond issue by limiting the per cent of bonded indebtedness for a county and therefore, according to McBurney, eliminates the possibility of financing the proposed capital improvements thru a bond issue.

In addition to the three-mill levy for the public works fund and the one mill for the regional library, taxpayers will pay four mills for operation of the Welfare Department in 1964; 3.1 mills for the roads and bridges fund and four mills for the county general fund.

The mill appropriation for these three county funds totals 11.1 which is the same levy paid in 1963.

The county public school levy will be down from 11.79 to 11.31 in 1964, for a drop of .48 mills.

If the budget is approved in its final form, Colorado Springs property owners will be faced with a 10.08 mill levy increase over 1963 or a 18.2 per cent tax raise.

In addition to the 3.52 county tax increase, Colorado Springs taxpayers will pay 17.10 mills for city tax in 1964, up 1.13 mills; 33.25 for School District 11, up 4.95 mills, bringing the total tax levy for 1964 to a record 65.45 mills.

director ordered the town of Harper's Ferry to post signs that its water supply is potentially unsafe. The city's well supply is low and water is being pumped from a nearby creek.

The drought has sent West Virginia's crop losses for the year soaring to more than $76 million.

Fires continued to flare across the kindling dry forests and fields of the Midwest and East.

Forty new fires broke out in West Virginia Monday and 41 of the state's 152 current blazes were still spreading. Fifteen persons were arrested for misdemeanor in refusing to fight forest and brush fires.

Sherbondy Caught In Chicago With Other Suspects

know why Thompson thought he was being kidnaped. He said Thompson, Sherbondy and Kelm had driven from Colorado several weeks ago to resort areas in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. He said the three had admitted obtaining $7,500 in a robbery of a supermarket in nearby Crystal Lake.

McMahon said the three had spent about a week in resort areas near La Crosse, Wis., and Winona, Minn., before returning to northern Illinois. He said Thompson had returned to Denver by train but a few days ago drove his car to Woodstock, Ill., where he met Sherbondy and Kelm.

After the FBI had alerted the state police, troopers spotted the car and halted it nearby Huntley. The three men offered no resistance when police ordered them from the car.

McMahon said that Sherbondy had $1,260 on his person; Kelm had $604 and Thompson $274. Police said that Thompson claimed that the $1,682 found in the trunk of the car was his.

Colorado's parole director, Edward W. Grout, placed a "hold" order on Sherbondy and said he also would have Kelm returned to the state.

Sherbondy was paroled Dec. 12, 1962. His original life sentence for the murder in November 1937 of Deputy Sheriff O. W. Meyer of Eagle County, Colo., was commuted to 44 years and 10 months in 1960.

Kelm was paroled several years ago after serving part of a 35-to-40 year sentence for robbery.

Headed by Col. Le Quang Tung, a devoted supporter of Nhu, about 4,000 of them were placed on special duty in Augus In this role they led the government raids against Buddhist pagodas. An estimated 2,000 or more remain in Saigon, serving —according to some reports— as a palace guard to protect Nhu from domestic opposition.

U.S. officials said the special force troops were given their bonus CIA pay in September for duty in August, but there have been no further payments to units assigned to Saigon.

U.S. officials said that all military-assistance support to units not fighting the war or on special training assignments is being halted.

The special force was trained particularly for action on the northern border, used as entry into South Viet Nam by Communist infiltrators who travel through southern Laos.

A high State Department official speaking Monday night of aid to Viet Nam said, "We're in the business of helping them win the war. We're not going to support military units that are not being used against the Viet Cong. When they are, and come under the regular military chain of command, we will help them."

The U.S. action drew praise from Tran Van Chuong, who has resigned as Vietnamese ambassador to the United States in protest of the government's policy on Buddhists.

Chuong, a Buddhist, said the aid to the special troops had been "misused against the people." The cut-off, he said, is "an indication to South Viet Nam's people that they are not being abandoned to the present tyrants."

All-Faiths Chapel Planned in Abilene

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Plans to build a $150,000 all-faiths chapel at the Eisenhower Center in Abilene were announced Monday by Harry Darby, chairman of the Eisenhower Library Commission.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was present for the unveiling of a portrait of himself at the library.

Darby said the chapel would be built as the result of a suggestion made by Eisenhower last July.

"We hope to have the chapel ready for dedication next fall," Darby said.

On his last visit here Eisenhower said he believed Americans should always have a place where they can sit down "and meditate about the greatness of God and about the future of all mankind in this world."

Hassan, and the Algerian president could not easily sit down with the man his propaganda machine has described as a "contemptible feudal tyrant" without losing face.

Ben Bella's ministers have repeated for days that there can be no further peace talks without the unconditional withdrawal of all Moroccan forces from the disputed desert areas.

This was a demand believed difficult for Hassan to accept. The Algerians say the border lies more than 65 miles northwest of Hassi Beida, where most of the fighting has taken place.

Most of the wasteland between Hassi Beida and the frontier line claimed by Algeria has been under Moroccan control for years.

The dispute is further complicated by the Moroccan claim that the Algerian government-in-exile during the Algerian war of independence promised most of the disputed territory to Morocco in gratitude for aid against the French.

The disputed region is along a 600-mile stretch on the Moroccan-Algerian border in an area regarded as worthless until rich deposits of iron, coal and other minerals were discovered several years ago.

State Employes Lose Telephone Credit Cards

DENVER (AP) — Telphone credit cards of most or all of Colorado's state employes were invalidated for the rest of 1963 Monday by Gov. John Love.

Gov. Love issued the order through state purchasing agent Louis Middlemist, who said there have been no specific reports of abuse of the cards.

Middlemist explained that emplayes who have cards find it easier to make a long distance call than to write a note, and that it is too easy for a business call to give way to personal conversation, adding to the bill.

The purchasing agent said he told Mountain States Telephone Co. to cancel all 1,223 cards now held by state employes.

But he indicated that some of the cards might be reinstated. Gov. Love had remarked that members of the Colorado State Patrol and some other state employes have to make long distance calls at times.

Employes of the Game, Fish and Parks Department hold 219 credit cards. Other departmental totals include the patrol, 160; health, 109; highway, 97; revenue, 92; education, 60; employment, 45; rehabilitation, 44, and compensation insurance, 32.

Telephone service cost the state $850,000 in fiscal 1962-63. In the current year it is expected to cost nearly $1 million.

Middlemist, with the governor's approval, issued another order Monday designed to save money. He told department heads that his office would not accept any capital outlay items that had not been approved by the State Budget Office.

He said the policy should save money by ending the practice of using surplus money at year's end to buy items not specifically authorized in the budget.

Mostly Clear Weather Noted Thruout Nation

CHICAGO (AP)—There were some wet spots in the far Northwest, and Midwest but generally clear, dry and unseasonably warm weather prevailed in most of the nation today.

Autumn's severe drought continued across wide areas in the eastern half of the nation. Rainfall Monday and over the weekend eased the critical dry spell in central sections. Forest fires continued to plague arid regions in the East.

Storms battered the northern Pacific Coast with heavy rain and gale-force winds reported at Astoria, Ore., during the night. More than one inch of rain fell in Port Angeles, Wash., in a six-hour period.

The shower belt during the early morning was from northeastern Kansas northward to Lake Superior and in parts of northern Illinois.

A tornado struck the Litchfield, Minn., area, 75 miles west of Minneapolis, Monday, wrecking a machine shop. Weather Bureau officials said the tornado was believed to be the first recorded in Minnesota in October.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 40s and 50s in the northeast corner of the country and in much of the west to the 60s and 70s in other areas.

10-Man Crew Reported Safe In Hurricane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Navy destroyer escort Fogg, caught in the whiplash of Hurricane Ginny, rode 25-foot seas today without engine power. Two Coast Guard vessels standing by her off North Carolina reported her 10-man crew was safe.

A decision on what to do about the Fogg awaits weather developments, a Coast Guard spokesman said in New York.

The Coast Guard cutter Casco reached her Monday night, after the Fogg was spotted by a Navy hurricane-hunter plane.

The Casco, a 311-foot patrol gunboat, was joined by the cutter Chilula in standing watch within 1,000 yards of the Fogg, reported about 100 miles east of Cape Fear, N.C.

The center of Hurricane Ginny was about 60 miles northeast of the ships, the Coast Guard said. Altho the Fogg was only on the fringe of the season's seventh tropical storm, she was taking a beating from the winds.

The Coast Guard said latest weather advisories indicated that Ginny, packing 80-m.p.h. winds extending 50 miles in all directions from the center, may drift to the southwest, bringing her even closer to the Fogg.

The cutter Casco radioed Coast Guard area headquarters in New York that the 10 men aboard the Navy ship apparently had come to no harm.

The auxiliary oceangoing tug Salish was pulling the Fogg through hurricane-lashed seas when the tow line parted 45 miles southeast of Cape Lookout, N.C.

The Fogg, in mothball-storage condition, was en route from Hampton Roads, Va., to Mayport, Fla., to join the reserve fleet. She has been inactive since 1947.

"We won't be able to tie onto her until the weather abates," a Navy spokesman said in New York.

Powerless because of her dead engines, "she's at the mercy of the weather," he said. "But those ships are built to take it."

Three Navy vessels headed toward the Fogg—the destroyer Henley, the salvage vessel Opportune and the tug Paiute.

Hurricane Ginny continued to lash the North Carolina coast. She was reported about 125 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., after remaining in a small area throughout Monday.

Residents of North Carolina off-shore islands rode out the storm with few actual hurricane precautions. Businesses and schools opened as usual.

The Weather Bureau warned that gale-force winds would extend to the north today.

Hurricane warnings were out for the Cape Hatteras area, and gale warnings were issued from Provincetown, Mass., southward to Myrtle Beach, S.C. and the southern portion of Chesapeake Bay.

A federal official is to act as liaison between the committee and the federal government, but Love said the U.S. Labor Department had said the state would have full responsibility for the investigation.

A supervisor is to be hired to head the investigation. Atty. Gen. Duke Dunbar's office is in the process of negotiations, but Love declined to identify the prospective appointee.

The investigation was spurred by the recent disclosure by State Auditor John Proctor of alleged fraud in payment of unemployment claims over the past six years.

Where Proctor's investigation took in only the Denver metropolitan area, Love said, the current study would include the entire state.

Wiman Named Instructor of Training Course

John L. Wiman has been named instructor-moderator for the Life Underwriters Training Council Course being held at 8:30 a.m. each Saturday thru May in the YMCA board room.

Eighteen members of the life insurance business have enrolled in this year's class, according to William Pilcher, chairman of the training council for the Pikes Peak Region.

The Life Underwriter Training Council was organized in 1937 by four major groups in life insurance. They are the American Life Convention, the National Association of Life Underwriters, the Life Insurance Association of America and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association.

This year's course is the first of two parts. It will cover such studies as life insurance as property, policy features and plans, personal needs for insurance, programming of insurance benefits, Social Security, veterans' benefits and the different methods of record-keeping.

Textbooks and initial lesson assignments will be distributed Nov. 2 to the life insurance agents and managers enrolled in Part I.

New County Budget to Be Inspected

vary in future years depending on budget needs.

The second item inserted in the 1964 budget — the public works fund supported by a three-mill levy — is the principal factor in the 3.52 overall levy increase.

Commissioners and other county officials will speak at public hearing beginning at 2 p.m. Thursday to explain the need for the public works fund which is earmarked for county capital improvements including expanded court house and jail facilities.

The resolution adopting the public works fund mill levy was passed last week by commissioners without a vote of the taxpayers or a public hearing.

Board Chairman Keith McBurney said that Colorado statute gives commissioners authority to impose a three-mill levy for a public works fund without a vote of taxpayers.

Another state statute limits the amount of money to be raised on a bond issue by limiting the per cent of bonded indebtedness for a county and therefore, according to McBurney, eliminates the possibility of financing the proposed capital improvements thru a bond issue.

In addition to the three-mill levy for the public works fund and the one mill for the regional library, taxpayers will pay four mills for operation of the Welfare Department in 1964; 3.1 mills for the roads and bridges fund and four mills for the county general fund.

The mill appropriation for these three county funds totals 11.1 which is the same levy paid in 1963.

The county public school levy will be down from 11.79 to 11.31 in 1964, for a drop of .48 mills.

If the budget is approved in its final form, Colorado Springs property owners will be faced with a 10.08 mill levy increase over 1963 or a 18.2 per cent tax raise.

In addition to the 3.52 county tax increase, Colorado Springs taxpayers will pay 17.10 mills for city tax in 1964, up 1.13 mills; 33.25 for School District 11, up 4.95 mills, bringing the total tax levy for 1964 to a record 65.45 mills.

Light rain continued in the central Atlantic coastal regions, associated with Hurricane Ginny. Spotty rain in the Rio Grande Valley amounted to over one half inch locally during the night.

Temperatures were generally in the 60s and 70s along the southern edge of the country early this morning. Readings in the 60s extended northward into Minnesota and Wisconsin.

know why Thompson thought he was being kidnaped. He said Thompson, Sherbondy and Kelm had driven from Colorado several weeks ago to resort areas in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. He said the three had admitted obtaining $7,500 in a robbery of a supermarket in nearby Crystal Lake.

McMahon said the three had spent about a week in resort areas near La Crosse, Wis., and Winona, Minn., before returning to northern Illinois. He said Thompson had returned to Denver by train but a few days ago drove his car to Woodstock, Ill., where he met Sherbondy and Kelm.

After the FBI had alerted the state police, troopers spotted the car and halted it nearby Huntley. The three men offered no resistance when police ordered them from the car.

McMahon said that Sherbondy had $1,260 on his person; Kelm had $604 and Thompson $274. Police said that Thompson claimed that the $1,682 found in the trunk of the car was his.

Colorado's parole director, Edward W. Grout, placed a "hold" order on Sherbondy and said he also would have Kelm returned to the state.

Sherbondy was paroled Dec. 12, 1962. His original life sentence for the murder in November 1937 of Deputy Sheriff O. W. Meyer of Eagle County, Colo., was commuted to 44 years and 10 months in 1960.

Kelm was paroled several years ago after serving part of a 35-to-40 year sentence for robbery.

U.S. Takes Action Against Viet Nam Special Troops

Headed by Col. Le Quang Tung, a devoted supporter of Nhu, about 4,000 of them were placed on special duty in Augus In this role they led the government raids against Buddhist pagodas. An estimated 2,000 or more remain in Saigon, serving —according to some reports— as a palace guard to protect Nhu from domestic opposition.

U.S. officials said the special force troops were given their bonus CIA pay in September for duty in August, but there have been no further payments to units assigned to Saigon.

U.S. officials said that all military-assistance support to units not fighting the war or on special training assignments is being halted.

The special force was trained particularly for action on the northern border, used as entry into South Viet Nam by Communist infiltrators who travel through southern Laos.

A high State Department official speaking Monday night of aid to Viet Nam said, "We're in the business of helping them win the war. We're not going to support military units that are not being used against the Viet Cong. When they are, and come under the regular military chain of command, we will help them."

The U.S. action drew praise from Tran Van Chuong, who has resigned as Vietnamese ambassador to the United States in protest of the government's policy on Buddhists.

Chuong, a Buddhist, said the aid to the special troops had been "misused against the people." The cut-off, he said, is "an indication to South Viet Nam's people that they are not being abandoned to the present tyrants."

All-Faiths Chapel Planned in Abilene

Hassan, and the Algerian president could not easily sit down with the man his propaganda machine has described as a "contemptible feudal tyrant" without losing face.

Ben Bella's ministers have repeated for days that there can be no further peace talks without the unconditional withdrawal of all Moroccan forces from the disputed desert areas.

This was a demand believed difficult for Hassan to accept. The Algerians say the border lies more than 65 miles northwest of Hassi Beida, where most of the fighting has taken place.

Most of the wasteland between Hassi Beida and the frontier line claimed by Algeria has been under Moroccan control for years.

The dispute is further complicated by the Moroccan claim that the Algerian government-in-exile during the Algerian war of independence promised most of the disputed territory to Morocco in gratitude for aid against the French.

The disputed region is along a 600-mile stretch on the Moroccan-Algerian border in an area regarded as worthless until rich deposits of iron, coal and other minerals were discovered several years ago.

State Employes Lose Telephone Credit Cards

DENVER (AP) — Telphone credit cards of most or all of Colorado's state employes were invalidated for the rest of 1963 Monday by Gov. John Love.

Gov. Love issued the order through state purchasing agent Louis Middlemist, who said there have been no specific reports of abuse of the cards.

Middlemist explained that employes who have cards find it easier to make a long distance call than to write a note, and that it is too easy for a business call to give way to personal conversation, adding to the bill.

The purchasing agent said he told Mountain States Telephone Co. to cancel all 1,223 cards now held by state employes.

But he indicated that some of the cards might be reinstated. Gov. Love had remarked that members of the Colorado State Patrol and some other state employes have to make long distance calls at times.

Employes of the Game, Fish and Parks Department hold 219 credit cards. Other departmental totals include the patrol, 160; health, 109; highway, 97; revenue, 92; education, 60; employment, 45; rehabilitation, 44, and compensation insurance, 32.

Telephone service cost the state $850,000 in fiscal 1962-63. In the current year it is expected to cost nearly $1 million.

Middlemist, with the governor's approval, issued another order Monday designed to save money. He told department heads that his office would not accept any capital outlay items that had not been approved by the State Budget Office.

He said the policy should save money by ending the practice of using surplus money at year's end to buy items not specifically authorized in the budget.

The shower belt during the early morning was from northeastern Kansas northward to Lake Superior and in parts of northern Illinois.

A tornado struck the Litchfield, Minn., area, 75 miles west of Minneapolis, Monday, wrecking a machine shop. Weather Bureau officials said the tornado was believed to be the first recorded in Minnesota in October.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 40s and 50s in the northeast corner of the country and in much of the west to the 60s and 70s in other areas.

10-Man Crew Reported Safe In Hurricane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Navy destroyer escort Fogg, caught in the whiplash of Hurricane Ginny, rode 25-foot seas today without engine power. Two Coast Guard vessels standing by her off North Carolina reported her 10-man crew was safe.

A decision on what to do about the Fogg awaits weather developments, a Coast Guard spokesman said in New York.

The Coast Guard cutter Casco reached her Monday night, after the Fogg was spotted by a Navy hurricane-hunter plane.

The Casco, a 311-foot patrol gunboat, was joined by the cutter Chilula in standing watch within 1,000 yards of the Fogg, reported about 100 miles east of Cape Fear, N.C.

The center of Hurricane Ginny was about 60 miles northeast of the ships, the Coast Guard said. Altho the Fogg was only on the fringe of the season's seventh tropical storm, she was taking a beating from the winds.

The Coast Guard said latest weather advisories indicated that Ginny, packing 80-m.p.h. winds extending 50 miles in all directions from the center, may drift to the southwest, bringing her even closer to the Fogg.

The cutter Casco radioed Coast Guard area headquarters in New York that the 10 men aboard the Navy ship apparently had come to no harm.

The auxiliary oceangoing tug Salish was pulling the Fogg through hurricane-lashed seas when the tow line parted 45 miles southeast of Cape Lookout, N.C.

The Fogg, in mothball-storage condition, was en route from Hampton Roads, Va. , to Mayport, Fla., to join the reserve fleet. She has been inactive since 1947.

"We won't be able to tie onto her until the weather abates," a Navy spokesman said in New York.

Powerless because of her dead engines, "she's at the mercy of the weather," he said. "But those ships are built to take it."

Three Navy vessels headed toward the Fogg—the destroyer Henley, the salvage vessel Opportune and the tug Paiute.

Hurricane Ginny continued to lash the North Carolina coast. She was reported about 125 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., after remaining in a small area throughout Monday.

Residents of North Carolina off-shore islands rode out the storm with few actual hurricane precautions. Businesses and schools opened as usual.

Hurricane warnings were out for the Cape Hatteras area, and gale warnings were issued from Provincetown, Mass., southward to Myrtle Beach, S.C. and over the southern portion of Chesapeake Bay.

A federal official is to act as liaison between the committee and the federal government, but Love said the U.S. Labor Department had assured him that the state would have full responsibility for the investigation.

A supervisor is to be hired to head the investigation. Atty. Gen. Duke Dunbar's office is in the process of negotiations, but Love declined to identify the prospective appointee.

The investigation was spurred by the recent disclosure by State Auditor John Proctor of alleged fraud in payment of unemployment claims over the past six years.

Where Proctor's investigation took in only the Denver metropolitan area, Love said, the current study would include the entire state.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Realistic Philosophy Required

A month or so ago there was shocking evidence of delinquency at a party held in a Long Island mansion. Young people, gathered for honest festivities, turned the night-long soiree into a window-breaking, house-wrecking binge.

The most shocking part of the whole affair was that the merry-makers didn't really seem to feel that their conduct was shocking.

They did several thousands of dollars worth of damage and a few conceded they'd "help pay" for the damage. Even the host and hostess of the affair tended to shrug off the matter and to indicate that the cost in thousands was minor. After all, everyone had a good time.

But the episode serves as a good reason to turn a searchlight into our secret hearts to find out why such an attitude persists in this day and age.

In nearby communities, leading citizens are getting together and forming organizations wherein it is hoped that some code of conduct can be written and spelled out so that young people will actually learn better than to carry on in the manner of lawless hoodlums. Characteristically, parents are being blamed. If the young people had been properly raised, it is stated, then a situation such as the Long Island saturnalia could not have arisen.

And there is some merit to the argument, of course. Parents and young people alike have been remiss in their interpersonal relations and in assuming personal responsibility.

Before a blanket indictment is rendered, however, it is important to discover whether or not the specific occasion is a unique and wholly unprecedented event or whether it tends to fit into a recognizable pattern, one with which human experience is conversant.

Have there been periods before when young people have cut virtually every tie of restraint and forebearance and let their impulses and whims run the road to the sky? The answer is that this sort of conduct has occurred regularly. Further, it has tended to occur among those people, such as the Romans, who prided themselves on the extent of their laws, their regulations, their ability to compel uniformity.

Young people, the world around, tend to skip the traces, primarily at the point where parental authority is downgraded and state authority is superimposed. If young people have and retain a respect and veneration for their parents, episodes of vandalism and wild unrestraint are minimized.

On the contrary, when parenthood is attacked and criticized; when parental authority is superseded by the state, as in the case of government educational programs and taxation generally, then parental authority breaks down.

Young people tend to look up to an authority. If a parent finds himself helpless in his dealings with the state, there is a tendency on the part of the young person to cast the state in the role of hero and to degrade the parent who seems incapable of coping with the threat.

And since the state customarily shows little if any respect for the property rights of individuals when its own demands are considered in conflict, the young people learn a complete disregard for property rights and evince this disregard by breaking windows, smashing furniture and by acts of wantonness and vandalism typical of pirates and barbarians.

There is a temptation to make the government school system a whipping boy in this instance, for the influence of this system is immediate and real. But the truth is that we only have the government system because of a failure on the part of our culture to generate a love of truth and a realistic philosophy which can and will impart a valid system of values which will engender self-restraint and circumspect behavior.

Man-made laws never have and never will be a substitute for individual self-control. And freedom is so important that it can only occur in those climates where self-control is the rule and not the exception.

The real problem of the delinquents includes the school system, the government, the parents, the young people, and scores of other actors. To find a cure no solution outside of a completely realistic philosophy will suffice.

Wisdom

It is said that wisdom is composed of ten parts. Nine of these parts are silence. The tenth part is brevity.

Understanding In the Philippines

Every now and again some group of men somewhere in the world discover the real danger from government. The matter is momentous. And we have been considerably heartened to note that the Free Enterprise Society of the Philippines contains just such men who are unafraid of stating their position forcefully and with logic and forebearance at their command. In the Philippines, Commerce Secretary Cornelio Balmaceda recently offered plans for an expansion of his office in an effort to provide a "guidance center" for Philippine businessmen.

In the Manila Bulletin of August 14, Balmaceda was given space to offer his five-point program. Response to each of these points was provided by the Free Enterprise Society. Because of the excellence of their rebuttal and because some kind of "cooperation" with government is so frequently looked upon as a panacea by businessmen, we are reproducing here a major portion of the Bulletin article.

Possibly American businessmen will read and see the importance of the stand being taken in the Philippines.

"First point: — Balmaceda stated that he is starting an export office in which everybody whose signature is needed — the number varying from 30 to 55 — would be concentrated in the export office which would coordinate the activities.

"Answer to first point: — Commenting on the Export Office, the Free Enterprise society says, 'By Mr. Balmaceda's description, the attempt of the government to eliminate export red tape must end up with even more red tape. Not only is no one fired, but also a new office is set up and businessmen will now have to deal, in addition, with the coordinators.'

"Second point:— Balmaceda ascertained that the statistical offices are scattered thruout various government departments. He also felt that they were inaccurate. By specific instructions from the President, he said, he would establish a businessman's guidance center where statistics would be assembled and not released until certified to be correct.

"F.E.S. answer:—The Free Enterprise society states: 'The delay businessmen experience now in getting statistics will be lengthened since the new office must spend extra time in coordination and verification. If government were not providing these alleged services, competent businessmen who collect and sell economic information would no longer have to fight government competition nor be frustrated by the government drift toward monopoly in statistics!

"Third point:— On the subject of Expert-Consultants, Balmaceda invited businessmen to send representatives of every business so that the department of commerce could avail itself of expert-consultants in each branch of business. Balmaceda urged the C. C. P. in Manila to establish offices thruout the country. He said he wanted the C.C.P. in Manila to be the federation headquarters so that by consulting it, he might know the reactions of businessmen.

"F. E. S. answer: — Reacting to this proposal, the Free Enterprise society stated: 'The very nature of government expansion is to encroach on the interests and limit the opportunities and freedoms of private businessmen. Government therefore, needs the tangible sanction they can get from anyone naive enough to picture himself as "cooperative" even cooperating with the natural adversaries of business. Actually, without "expert-consultants" to attribute the "cooperation" to, government would not engage in further encroachment, since this would look too much like raw aggression on the part of government.'

"Fourth point: Balmaceda made an appeal for support of cooperatives. He said that after 50 years of cooperatives, the poor do not benefit from them, so businessmen should be self-sacrificing.

"F. E. S. answer: — The Free Enterprise society states: 'If after 50 years, the manifestly or inherently unworkable ideas of business cooperatives have failed, why don't those people in government with a phobia against profits, admit they are unworkable?'

"Fifth point: — Going on the subject of self-sacrifice of businessmen, Balmaceda made a strong plea for it as he has often done before.

"F. E. S. answer: — The Free Enterprise society says: 'Government people are remarkably prone to ask businessmen and other citizens for self-sacrifice. It is not without justification that Ayn Rand (Atlas Shrugged), has said, "Whenever someone is asking for sacrifice, you can be sure that there is someone around to collect that sacrifice."

" 'Talk of self-sacrifice properly belongs among government officials, the higher up the better, particularly the President's cabinet. Every cabinet-man should be filled with the spirit of self-sacrifice, ready to reduce his plantilla of officials, which otherwise lend him glamour in his function as a potent authority. This goes particularly for the President. He should be self-sacrificing, so as to reduce the patronage which might otherwise bear him on its crest for reelection. This is the only field where self-sacrifice would work in government.

" 'The society asserts it has no quarrel with any individual in government but merely wishes to contradict the implication by government people and their apologists that government is being of any significant help. If people depend on the government, when does independence of spirit begin? When will the people bcome self-reliant? Only actual reduction of the number of bureaucrats can reduce bureaucracy. Because of the failure of the Central Bank, for instance, to practice self-sacrifice, the officials who were once in the exchange control department were transferred to a greatly expanded export control department, instead of being dropped from the taxpayers' liability. Government attempts to reduce red tape are often regretably ridiculous and insincere. If they really wanted to stop red tape, they would know what to do.' "

Galbraith Praises Profit

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Minoo Masani, the former Mayor of Bombay, India, is in this country, and he has some interesting stories to tell about the effect of his homeland on Harvard's Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, the New Deal-Fair Deal economist who recently returned to the United States after spending two years as U. S. Ambassador in New Delhi.

According to Masani, Galbraith, after his contact with the distinctly non-affluent society of India, got to talking very much like any conservative, right wing — or classically liberal — economist. India's Nehru, of course, is anything but conservative or classically liberal. As head of the Indian government, Nehru has advocated Soviet-style planning, with priority being given to the "public sector" of the economy as fast as the Indian Congress Party is willing to push it. The result has been three successive five-year socialist plans which have resulted in a declining rate of growth, a drying-up of savings, and a stagnant condition in exports.

The Indian economy is now growing at a rate of 2.2 per cent a year, a rate which shows up horribly when it is compared with the 20 per cent pace of growth in non-socialist Japan. The average Indian, according to Masani, is no better off today than when the British pulled out of his country in 1947, for the population increases eat up the small economic gains.

Galbraith, says Masani, got a quick whiff of the true drift of Indian affairs, and proceeded to talk forthwith like an American economist of the Calvin Coolidge era. He began to lecture the Indians for putting no trust in the concept of profit. "What is this post office socialism that you have?" he asked. "Don't you know that profit is a good thing?"

Since he was ambassador to a nation which had asked the American government for the gift of a billion-and-a-half dollar steel mill, to be owned by the Indian state, Galbraith couldn't very well openly oppose the "public sector" idea as applied to local steel production. But when he came to sing his swan song as ambassador last June 28 in a speech at the University of Bombay, Galbraith lit into the whole idea of putting industrial development in India ahead of agricultural development.

The central test of any policy, Galbraith told the Indians, is whether it promises to improve the position of the average person. And this average person in India is obviously the poor peasant who would like to know how to get a little more fertilizer and good seed on his land. Steel, for him, is a distant luxury that is meaningless.

With the "average person" in mind, Galbraith attacked the Indian planners who hold the "accepted tests of the economist — the rate of investment and of economic growth." "An undue emphasis on the rate of growth," so Galbraith continued "can lead. . .to undue emphasis on current savings and on increase of these savings thru taxation ... the average person may know of the hopes for the future. This can rarely be accepted with grace and contentment when living standards are close to the margin."

Masani, who is general secretary of the Swatantra or Freedom Party of India and a member of the Indian Parliament, naturally welcomes Galbraith as an ally in the war against the "Stalin Psychosis" as applied to forcing swift industrialization on an economy that hasn't solved the problem of raising enough food for itself. He knows, of course, that Galbraith, now that he is back in "affluent" America, will probably revert to his old habit of knocking private enterprisers and advocating vast increases in the U. S. "public sector." Nevertheless it might be asked whether President Kennedy can trust Galbraith to support the sort of U. S. foreign aid that steel-mill-happy dictators like Nehru and Indonesia's Sukarno invariably want.

SWITCH

In this connection, Masani, who has talked in Washington recently with everybody from Senator Barry Goldwater to White House aide Arthur Schlesinger Jr., had an interesting chat with Walt Rostow, the Kennedy policy adviser who has theorized rather extensively about bringing primitive and backward economies to the "take-off place" by thrusting steel mills upon them. Rostow, it seems, has been guilty recently of heresy in respect to his own gospel. He has been telling the Mexicans that the development of a thriving rural economy is more important than steel.

So what goes on here? Are Galbraith and Rostow getting ready to apply for jobs under a Republican administration? Or are they about to urge Kennedy to make sure of the 1964 election by stealing some of Barry Goldwater's clothes?

Question Box

Question No. 353: "Should a newspaper refuse to run beer, whiskey and tobacco ads because some readers think by so doing the newspaper is not striving for the purpose of making the community an even better place to live?"

ANSWER: The reason that we think that it should run these ads is because it is not the mission of the newspaper to censor what the readers have a right to read. Advertising is news.

Some people think that we should try to keep the youth in the dark and not let them know anything about the temporary enjoyment and the dangers of drinking alcoholic beverages or using tobacco. When they see them advertised in the home, in the paper, the parents have an opportunity then to explain the harm that can come from alcoholic beverages and tobacco. There is no possible chance for youth to grow up without knowing about tobacco and alcohol. It is much better for a young person to get the information about them from the counterbalancing influence of the parents and their associates.

A newspaper is like a railroad, carrying commodities. Practically no one would think that a railroad should refuse to haul tobacco products or alcoholic products. A newspaper that attempts to determine what people should read is becoming arbitrary and not leaving it up to the readers to decide what part of the newspaper they want to read.

The truth will always win in a fair presentation. We do not need to be afraid of socialism or communism or alcholic beverages or tobacco or narcotics if people who are opposed to them set the right kind of example as to the harm that comes from their use.

Trying to keep people in the dark is just the policy that all dictators try to use. The newspaper should not try to be a dictator, it should try to give people information of all kinds.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

The Old Mountaineer

Thoughts by the Wayside

By FRANK McDONOUGH JR.

After a long and tedious session in the hospital, a doctor friend of mine once said, "I wish I had been an architect." That was nothing more nor less than human nature cropping out because distant fields are always greener, or at least they appear so. A plumber wished he had been a road contractor, a carpenter thought he would be better fitted to be an artist, and I knew a whole crop of lawyers who, for some unknown reason, had secret desires to be college professors. There is so much of human interest in the sports world that I still have the yearning now and then to have worked and trained as a sports editor. So if I dip into the world of sports now and then, I hope I may be forgiven. It is the human side of that world which interests me more than the purely technical. Frankly, the football sportscaster who announces that the Colts are playing a six two two one defense, or that Jim Brown has gained 1792 yards in rushing, bores me to tears. Those statistics are mechanical and technical, and while they are necessary adjuncts to following any game, they overlook the deep human elements and the deep philosophy and psychology which affect the inner spirits of the players, and the outcome of the game itself.

Taking a look at the recent World Series I am sure there were human elements involved which affected the outcome, and those same human elements are affecting the relations between nations. The Yankee ball club has been a group of perfectionists. Naturally, at times they have been subject to human error, but generally they have performed with the perfection of a Swiss watch, tuned to that perfection by the hand of a master of his craft. And yet the smallest fleck of metal or a tiny speck of dust will take that product of perfect art slightly off its intended perfect function. It will be out of tune with exact reality. And so the Dodgers came out to the field of battle to meet their giant foes. These fellows were not exactly inept, and yet all in all they lacked the finesse of the opposing champions. True, the Dodgers received the most magnificent pitching since the old days of Christy Mathewson, and the other days when the Boston fans chanted, "Spahn and Sain and pray for rain."

And yet there was another element which entered into the whole picture, silenced the bombers' bats by a fraction of a moment and slowed their arms and footsteps by an unconscious fraction of a second. Three wild, hilarious, harum-scarum young men, with incredible speed in their legs and wild abandon in their hearts, forgot that they should see no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil, and took for their motto, "Get on the bases and run 'em ragged." The crowds loved them. Their next moves were uncertainty personified. They outran their hats, they outran time, they put an unknown fear into the hearts of their opponents.

The Yankee footsteps were half a stride off beat, their arms half a second slower than necessity required, their thinking fell a bit from the pedestal of perfection. Flecks of human dust and metal got into the baseball watchcase, and the Yankees were off balance. Nobody knew what might happen next and, as the saying goes, it usually did. Equilibrium was in imbalance, equanimity was slightly off the beam, perfection was pushed into moments of imperfection whether in the field or at the bat. The Yankee armies of a hundred years ago could never foresee what Stonewall Jackson might do next, or where he might be, and they lost their balance at Manassas and Chancellorsville. The unknown moves of an opponent are more dangerous than if he were playing by rule and rote. The Dodgers simply had the Yankees half a step off stride, half a second off timing, and half a thought off normal thinking.

Our enemies are slowly but surely winning the cold war thru exactly the same tactics. The Russians are playing the Dodger game on us. With honeyed words they proclaim world peace and the game seems to be going along normal human lines. Then men are stopped at the Berlin wall of shame, men are shot without reason or trial. Then they play upon our sympathy and greed because their own people are starving. They are inured to their vodka and we are fools enough to believe that we can stay above their table and maintain our equilibrium. We cannot, and we are constantly off balance because in some ways at least we are a nation of moral perfectionists. We pride ourselves that our national word of honor is our bond, and for some reason of foolhardiness we seem inclined to attribute the same characteristics to our foes. But day by day and hour by hour they are keeping us off balance and we do not have sense to realize it. We are skidding dangerously on a super highway of decency, forgetting that here and there our enemies are pouring the oil filth of their Godlessness at strategic spots along the road.

It has been said that if they would amend the rules, Maury Wills would steal first base. Khrushchev has already broken all rules and has stolen first base just ninety miles from our shores. Gromyko has put on the mask of his candied smile and may end up stealing the entire receipts from the box office. The captain of our team takes one step 'fahwahd' and two backwards; Bobby's plaything is the federal arsenal; they have even dug little Eddie out of mothballs, given him a notebook so that he can take notes as he falls backward into the next swimming pool; and Lyndon Johnson, a good reserve pitcher up from the Texas league, is making speeches on mental health out in the sticks. We are well off stride. Our reflexes are hamstrung. Flecks of red dust and metal have gotten into the precision of our thinking. We are losing the series, and as certainly will lose the world.

EMPLOYMENT

To the Editor:

How many hours in an American work-week? It isn't 40 hours.

Count the number of people who hold more than one job, include their hours in the work week and it will average out well over 40 hours.

In the lower income family brackets about 25 per cent of the wives also work. Up to the $15,000 a year family the portion of working wives rises to 50 per cent. Add these hours worked to supplement the husband's work week.

Working wives and moonlighting did not become common until government penalized employers for working employees over 40 hours a week, kept people from working long enough to earn the money they need.

Shortening the work week has provided more jobs, for the employed and for the wives of the employed, but has done little to solve the problem of the unemployed seeking employment.

Fewer, not more, restrictions upon employment, guaranteeing the right to work to everyone and the reduction in employment taxes are the way to insure employment for everyone and economic growth for the nation.

EXTREME

To the Editor:

Are extreme rightists doing more harm than Communists? Any person right of center may or may not be considered extreme. Love of country may be held by some to be extreme and interfering with one world government and peace. Some think of the governments of Mussolini and Hitler as having been right of center and all Fascists and neo-Nazi pretenders today so far to the right that they constitute a right-lunatic-fringe. These movements and their sympathizers are as far left of true constitutional government as Khrushchev, Castro et al, and any socialist dictators of the past, and should be answered accordingly.

What's the Matter With The Money System?

By OSCAR COOLEY
Associate Professor of Economics
Ohio Northern University

The basic weakness in our money system is that the creation and control of money is in the hands of the federal government. This weakness was also present in the years before 1933, when we were on a gold coin standard.

History indicates that no government can be trusted with the control of money. All governments at times rob their people by deliberate inflation. The last time our government did this was in the 1940's, when it engineered a vast increase of the money supply, which had the effect of depreciating the dollar to less than half its 1940 value.

This was supposed to be necessary in order to win the war. Later, I shall argue that point. Now I will merely throw out the question: Why should it be necessary to rot the dollar in order to fight and win a war?

The great bulk of our money today is "demand deposits" in commercial banks, that is, deposits subject to check. We have progressed from the primitive system of gold coin money, as stated last week. We now have a medium of exchange, the bank check, which consists of a bank's ability and obligation to pay. In short, it is bank credit.

And this credit rests, in turn, upon the ability and obligation of borrowers — business entrepreneurs, mainly — to repay the bank what they have borrowed from it. And this is nothing more nor less than the productive ability of these businesses, which means the productive ability of all America. What could be better "backing" for our money than this?

To understand this, one must realize that when a firm "borrows money" from a commercial bank, it does not really borrow money at all but merely buys the right to draw checks on that bank up to a certain amount. That is, the loan is made in the form of a checking deposit in the bank. This is how "checkbook money" is created.

Thus, a bank lends far more money than it has in its vault. What it really lends is its promise to honor the depositor's checks when presented.

What, one may ask, limits the amount of such "checkbook money" that can be created? It is limited by the bank's reserves, which consist of quickly collectible "promissory notes" of responsible debtors (such as the Federal Reserve Bank, other banks, and the U. S. Treasury) which it holds. By law, the deposits must not be so large that the reserve, as a percentage of the deposits, will fall below a specified percent.

Thus, our whole monetary system is a labyrinth of credit which is being transferred from person to person as a medium bringing about the exchange of goods and services. Its soundness depends on the judgment and prudence of all concerned, each seeing to it that he does not assume obligations disproportionate to those that are owed him.

The fact that our money is based upon credit (or debt) does not mean it is unsound. Most of our economy, indeed, is based upon debt.

The first essential is that the total supply of our medium of exchange be increased only as rapidly as the demand for it. If the creation of that supply is allowed to depend on the amount of productive loans demanded by business and considered prudent by the lending banks, then, automatically, the supply will equal the demand. No medium of exchange can be devised that will be so sound as one based on the nation's volume of business.

Needless to say, we do not have such a system now. Far too much of our "checkbook money" is based upon government debt, not business debt. Let us see how government debt creates checkbook money.

Uncle Sam borrows just as business firms borrow, except that he gives a bond, or Treasury bill, instead of a promissory note. Bonds and bills, however, are not essentially different from notes; whatever name they go by they are "promises to pay."

When commercial banks buy the government's bonds or bills, as they often do, they pay for them in the same way they pay for a business borrower's notes, that is, by giving the U. S. Treasury a demand deposit. The Treasury has such deposits in nearly all the commercial banks in the land.

When the Treasury wishes to spend these deposits, it orders them transferred to a Federal Reserve Bank and then draws checks on the Federal Reserve Bank. Thus, the government's borrowing becomes "checkbook money" — new checkbook money which did not exist before.

In my next article, I shall try to explain why checkbook money, highly beneficial when prudently created by business loans, is unsound when created by government loans.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Realistic Philosophy Required

A month or so ago there was shocking evidence of delinquency at a party held in a Long Island mansion. Young people, gathered for honest festivities, turned the night-long soiree into a window-breaking, house-wrecking binge.

The most shocking part of the whole affair was that the merry-makers didn't really seem to feel that their conduct was shocking.

They did several thousands of dollars worth of damage and a few conceded they'd "help pay" for the damage. Even the host and hostess of the affair tended to shrug off the matter and to indicate that the cost in thousands was minor. After all, everyone had a good time.

But the episode serves as a good reason to turn a searchlight into our secret hearts to find out why such an attitude persists in this day and age.

In nearby communities, leading citizens are getting together and forming organizations wherein it is hoped that some code of conduct can be written and spelled out so that young people will actually learn better than to carry on in the manner of lawless hoodlums. Characteristically, parents are being blamed. If the young people had been properly raised, it is stated, then a situation such as the Long Island saturnalia could not have arisen.

And there is some merit to the argument, of course. Parents and young people alike have been remiss in their interpersonal relations and in assuming personal responsibility.

Before a blanket indictment is rendered, however, it is important to discover whether or not the specific occasion is a unique and wholly unprecedented event or whether it tends to fit into a recognizable pattern, one with which human experience is conversant.

Have there been periods before when young people have cut virtually every tie of restraint and forebearance and let their impulses and whims run the road to the sky? The answer is that this sort of conduct has occurred regularly. Further, it has tended to occur among those people, such as the Romans, who prided themselves on the extent of their laws, their regulations, their ability to compel uniformity.

Young people, the world around, tend to skip the traces, primarily at the point where parental authority is downgraded and state authority is superimposed. If young people have and retain a respect and veneration for their parents, episodes of vandalism and wild unrestraint are minimized.

On the contrary, when parenthood is attacked and criticized; when parental authority is superseded by the state, as in the case of government educational programs and taxation generally, then parental authority breaks down.

Young people tend to look up to an authority. If a parent finds himself helpless in his dealings with the state, there is a tendency on the part of the young person to cast the state in the role of hero and to degrade the parent who seems incapable of coping with the threat.

And since the state customarily shows little if any respect for the property rights of individuals when its own demands are considered in conflict, the young people learn a complete disregard for property rights and evince this disregard by breaking windows, smashing furniture and by acts of wantonness and vandalism typical of pirates and barbarians.

There is a temptation to make the government school system a whipping boy in this instance, for the influence of this system is immediate and real. But the truth is that we only have the government system because of a failure on the part of our culture to generate a love of truth and a realistic philosophy which can and will impart a valid system of values which will engender self-restraint and circumspect behavior.

Man-made laws never have and never will be a substitute for individual self-control. And freedom is so important that it can only occur in those climates where self-control is the rule and not the exception.

The real problem of the delinquents includes the school system, the government, the parents, the young people, and scores of other actors. To find a cure no solution outside of a completely realistic philosophy will suffice.

These Days

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Minoo Masani, the former Mayor of Bombay, India, is in this country, and he has some interesting stories to tell about the effect of his homeland on Harvard's Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, the New Deal-Fair Deal economist who recently returned to the United States after spending two years as U. S. Ambassador in New Delhi.

According to Masani, Galbraith, after his contact with the distinctly non-affluent society of India, got to talking very much like any conservative, right wing — or classically liberal — economist. India's Nehru, of course, is anything but conservative or classically liberal. As head of the Indian government, Nehru has advocated Soviet-style planning, with priority being given to the "public sector" of the economy as fast as the Indian Congress Party is willing to push it. The result has been three successive five-year socialist plans which have resulted in a declining rate of growth, a drying-up of savings, and a stagnant condition in exports.

The Indian economy is now growing at a rate of 2.2 per cent a year, a rate which shows up horribly when it is compared with the 20 per cent pace of growth in non-socialist Japan. The average Indian, according to Masani, is no better off today than when the British pulled out of his country in 1947, for the population increases eat up the small economic gains.

Galbraith, says Masani, got a quick whiff of the true drift of Indian affairs, and proceeded to talk forthwith like an American economist of the Calvin Coolidge era. He began to lecture the Indians for putting no trust in the concept of profit. "What is this post office socialism that you have?" he asked. "Don't you know that profit is a good thing?"

Since he was ambassador to a nation which had asked the American government for the gift of a billion-and-a-half dollar steel mill, to be owned by the Indian state, Galbraith couldn't very well openly oppose the "public sector" idea as applied to local steel production. But when he came to sing his swan song as ambassador last June 28 in a speech at the University of Bombay, Galbraith lit into the whole idea of putting industrial development in India ahead of agricultural development.

The central test of any policy, Galbraith told the Indians, is whether it promises to improve the position of the average person. And this average person in India is obviously the poor peasant who would like to know how to get a little more fertilizer and good seed on his land. Steel, for him, is a distant luxury that is meaningless.

With the "average person" in mind, Galbraith attacked the Indian planners who hold the "accepted tests of the economist — the rate of investment and of economic growth." "An undue emphasis on the rate of growth," so Galbraith continued "can lead. . .to undue emphasis on current savings and on increase of these savings thru taxation ... the average person may know of the hopes for the future. This can rarely be accepted with grace and contentment when living standards are close to the margin."

Masani, who is general secretary of the Swatantra or Freedom Party of India and a member of the Indian Parliament, naturally welcomes Galbraith as an ally in the war against the "Stalin Psychosis" as applied to forcing swift industrialization on an economy that hasn't solved the problem of raising enough food for itself. He knows, of course, that Galbraith, now that he is back in "affluent" America, will probably revert to his old habit of knocking private enterprisers and advocating vast increases in the U. S. "public sector." Nevertheless it might be asked whether President Kennedy can trust Galbraith to support the sort of U. S. foreign aid that steel-mill-happy dictators like Nehru and Indonesia's Sukarno invariably want.

SWITCH

In this connection, Masani, who has talked in Washington recently with everybody from Senator Barry Goldwater to White House aide Arthur Schlesinger Jr., had an interesting chat with Walt Rostow, the Kennedy policy adviser who has theorized rather extensively about bringing primitive and backward economies to the "take-off place" by thrusting steel mills upon them. Rostow, it seems, has been guilty recently of heresy in respect to his own gospel. He has been telling the Mexicans that the development of a thriving rural economy is more important than steel.

So what goes on here? Are Galbraith and Rostow getting ready to apply for jobs under a Republican administration? Or are they about to urge Kennedy to make sure of the 1964 election by stealing some of Barry Goldwater's clothes?

Understanding In the Philippines

Every now and again some group of men somewhere in the world discover the real danger from government. The matter is momentous. And we have been considerably heartened to note that the Free Enterprise Society of the Philippines contains just such men who are unafraid of stating their position forcefully and with logic and forebearance at their command. In the Philippines, Commerce Secretary Cornelio Balmaceda recently offered plans for an expansion of his office in an effort to provide a "guidance center" for Philippine businessmen.

In the Manila Bulletin of August 14, Balmaceda was given space to offer his five-point program. Response to each of these points was provided by the Free Enterprise Society. Because of the excellence of their rebuttal and because some kind of "cooperation" with government is so frequently looked upon as a panacea by businessmen, we are reproducing here a major portion of the Bulletin article.

Possibly American businessmen will read and see the importance of the stand being taken in the Philippines.

"First point: — Balmaceda stated that he is starting an export office in which everybody whose signature is needed — the number varying from 30 to 55 — would be concentrated in the export office which would coordinate the activities.

"Answer to first point: — Commenting on the Export Office, the Free Enterprise society says, 'By Mr. Balmaceda's description, the attempt of the government to eliminate export red tape must end up with even more red tape. Not only is no one fired, but also a new office is set up and businessmen will now have to deal, in addition, with the coordinators.'

"Second point:— Balmaceda ascertained that the statistical offices are scattered thruout various government departments. He also felt that they were inaccurate. By specific instructions from the President, he said, he would establish a businessman's guidance center where statistics would be assembled and not released until certified to be correct.

"F.E.S. answer:—The Free Enterprise society states: 'The delay businessmen experience now in getting statistics will be lengthened since the new office must spend extra time in coordination and verification. If government were not providing these alleged services, competent businessmen who collect and sell economic information would no longer have to fight government competition nor be frustrated by the government drift toward monopoly in statistics!

"Third point:— On the subject of Expert-Consultants, Balmaceda invited businessmen to send representatives of every business so that the department of commerce could avail itself of expert-consultants in each branch of business. Balmaceda urged the C. C. P. in Manila to establish offices thruout the country. He said he wanted the C.C.P. in Manila to be the federation headquarters so that by consulting it, he might know the reactions of businessmen.

"F. E. S. answer: — Reacting to this proposal, the Free Enterprise society stated: 'The very nature of government expansion is to encroach on the interests and limit the opportunities and freedoms of private businessmen. Government therefore, needs the tangible sanction they can get from anyone naive enough to picture himself as "cooperative" even cooperating with the natural adversaries of business. Actually, without "expert-consultants" to attribute the "cooperation" to, government would not engage in further encroachment, since this would look too much like raw aggression on the part of government.'

"Fourth point: Balmaceda made an appeal for support of cooperatives. He said that after 50 years of cooperatives, the poor do not benefit from them, so businessmen should be self-sacrificing.

"F. E. S. answer: — The Free Enterprise society states: 'If after 50 years, the manifestly or inherently unworkable ideas of business cooperatives have failed, why don't those people in government with a phobia against profits, admit they are unworkable?'

"Fifth point: — Going on the subject of self-sacrifice of businessmen, Balmaceda made a strong plea for it as he has often done before.

"F. E. S. answer: — The Free Enterprise society says: 'Government people are remarkably prone to ask businessmen and other citizens for self-sacrifice. It is not without justification that Ayn Rand (Atlas Shrugged), has said, "Whenever someone is asking for sacrifice, you can be sure that there is someone around to collect that sacrifice."

" 'Talk of self-sacrifice properly belongs among government officials, the higher up the better, particularly the President's cabinet. Every cabinetman should be filled with the spirit of self-sacrifice, ready to reduce his plantilla of officials, which otherwise lend him glamour in his function as a potent authority. This goes particularly for the President. He should be self-sacrificing, so as to reduce the patronage which might otherwise bear him on its crest for reelection. This is the only field where self-sacrifice would work in government.

" 'The society asserts it has no quarrel with any individual in government but merely wishes to contradict the implication by government people and their apologists that government is being of any significant help. If people depend on the government, when does independence of spirit begin? When will the people bcome self-reliant? Only actual reduction of the number of bureaucrats can reduce bureaucracy. Because of the failure of the Central Bank, for instance, to practice self-sacrifice, the officials who were once in the exchange control department were transferred to a greatly expanded export control department, instead of being dropped from the taxpayers' liability. Government attempts to reduce red tape are often regrettably ridiculous and insincere. If they really wanted to stop red tape, they would know what to do.' "

Question Box

Question No. 353: "Should a newspaper refuse to run beer, whiskey and tobacco ads because some readers think by so doing the newspaper is not striving for the purpose of making the community an even better place to live?"

ANSWER: The reason that we think that it should run these ads is because it is not the mission of the newspaper to censor what the readers have a right to read. Advertising is news.

Some people think that we should try to keep the youth in the dark and not let them know anything about the temporary enjoyment and the dangers of drinking alcoholic beverages or using tobacco. When they see them advertised in the home, in the paper, the parents have an opportunity then to explain the harm that can come from alcoholic beverages and tobacco. There is no possible chance for youth to grow up without knowing about tobacco and alcohol. It is much better for a young person to get the information about them from the counterbalancing influence of the parents and their associates.

A newspaper is like a railroad, carrying commodities. Practically no one would think that a railroad should refuse to haul tobacco products or alcoholic products. A newspaper that attempts to determine what people should read is becoming arbitrary and not leaving it up to the readers to decide what part of the newspaper they want to read.

The truth will always win in a fair presentation. We do not need to be afraid of socialism or communism or alcholic beverages or tobacco or narcotics if people who are opposed to them set the right kind of example as to the harm that comes from their use.

Trying to keep people in the dark is just the policy that all dictators try to use. The newspaper should not try to be a dictator, it should try to give people information of all kinds.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

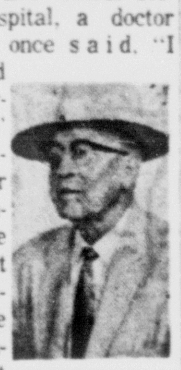
The Old Mountaineer

Thoughts by the Wayside

By FRANK McDONOUGH JR.

After a long and tedious session in the hospital, a doctor friend of mine once said, "I wish I had been an architect." That was nothing more nor less than human nature cropping out because distant fields are always greener, or at least they appear so. A plumber wished he had been a road contractor, a carpenter thought he would be better fitted to be an artist, and I knew a whole crop of lawyers who, for some unknown reason, had secret desires to be college professors. There is so much of human interest in the sports world that I still have the yearning now and then to have worked and trained as a sports editor. So if I dip into the world of sports now and then, I hope I may be forgiven. It is the human side of that world which interests me more than the purely technical. Frankly, the football sportscaster who announces that the Colts are playing a six two two one defense, or that Jim Brown has gained 1792 yards in rushing, bores me to tears. Those statistics are mechanical and technical, and while they are necessary adjuncts to following any game, they overlook the deep human elements and the deep philosophy and psychology which affect the inner spirits of the players, and the outcome of the game itself.



Taking a look at the recent World Series I am sure there were human elements involved which affected the outcome, and those same human elements are affecting the relations between nations. The Yankee ball club has been a group of perfectionists. Naturally, at times they have been subject to human error, but generally they have performed with the perfection of a Swiss watch, tuned to that perfection by the hand of a master of his craft. And yet the smallest fleck of metal or a tiny speck of dust will take that product of perfect art slightly off its intended perfect function. It will be out of tune with exact reality. And so the Dodgers came out to the field of battle to meet their giant foes. These fellows were not exactly inept, and yet all in all they lacked the finesse of the opposing champions. True, the Dodgers received the most magnificent pitching since the old days of Christy Mathewson, and the other days when the Boston fans chanted, "Spahn and Sain and pray for rain."

And yet there was another element which entered into the whole picture, silenced the bombers' bats by a fraction of a moment and slowed their arms and footsteps by an unconscious fraction of a second. Three wild, hilarious, harum-scarum young men, with incredible speed in their legs and wild abandon in their hearts, forgot that they should see no evil, hear no evil and speak no evil, and took for their motto, "Get on the bases and run 'em ragged." The crowds loved them. Their next moves were uncertainty personified. They outran their hats, they outran time, they put an unknown fear into the hearts of their opponents.

The Yankee footsteps were half a stride off beat, their arms half a second slower than necessity required, their thinking fell a bit from the pedestal of perfection. Flecks of human dust and metal got into the baseball watchcase, and the Yankees were off balance. Nobody knew what might happen next and, as the saying goes, it usually did. Equilibrium was in imbalance, equanimity was slightly off the beam, perfection was pushed into moments of imperfection whether in the field or at the bat. The Yankee armies of a hundred years ago could never foresee what Stonewall Jackson might do next, or where he might be, and they lost their balance at Manassas and Chancellorsville. The unknown moves of an opponent are more dangerous than if he were playing by rule and rote. The Dodgers simply had the Yankees half a step off stride, half a second off timing, and half a thought off normal thinking.

Our enemies are slowly but surely winning the cold war thru exactly the same tactics. The Russians are playing the Dodger game on us. With honeyed words they proclaim world peace and the game seems to be going along normal human lines. Then men are stopped at the Berlin wall of shame, men are shot without reason or trial. Then they play upon our sympathy and greed because their own people are starving. They are inured to their vodka and we are fools enough to believe that we can stay above their table and maintain our equilibrium. We cannot, and we are constantly off balance because in some ways at least we are a nation of moral perfectionists. We pride ourselves that our national word of honor is our bond, and for some reason of foolhardiness we seem inclined to attribute the same characteristics to our foes. But day by day and hour by hour they are keeping us off balance and we do not have sense to realize it. We are skidding dangerously on a super highway of decency, forgetting that here and there our enemies are pouring the oil filth of their Godlessness at strategic spots along the road.

It has been said that if they would amend the rules, Maury Wills would steal first base. Khrushchev has already broken all rules and has stolen first base just ninety miles from our shores. Gromyko has put on the mask of his candied smile and may end up stealing the entire receipts from the box office. The captain of our team takes one step 'fahwahd' and two backwards; Bobby's plaything is the federal arsenal; they have even dug little Eddie out of mothballs, given him a notebook so that he can take notes as he falls backward into the next swimming pool; and Lyndon Johnson, a good reserve pitcher up from the Texas league, is making speeches on mental health out in the sticks. We are well off stride. Our reflexes are hamstrung. Flecks of red dust and metal have gotten into the precision of our thinking. We are losing the series, and as certainly will lose the world.

EMPLOYMENT

To the Editor:

How many hours in an American work-week? It isn't 40 hours.

Count the number of people who hold more than one job, include their hours in the work week and it will average out well over 40 hours.

In the lower income family brackets about 25 per cent of the wives also work. Up to the $15,000 a year family the portion of working wives rises to 50 per cent. Add these hours worked to supplement the husband's work week.

Working wives and moonlighting did not become common until government penalized employers for working employees over 40 hours a week, kept people from working long enough to earn the money they need.

Shortening the work week has provided more jobs, for the employed and for the wives of the employed, but has done little to solve the problem of the unemployed seeking employment.

Fewer, not more, restrictions upon employment, guaranteeing the right to work to everyone and the reduction in employment taxes are the way to insure employment for everyone and economic growth for the nation.

EXTREME

To the Editor:

Are extreme rightists doing more harm than Communists? Any person right of center may or may not be considered extreme. Love of country may be held by some to be extreme and interfering with one world government and peace. Some think of the governments of Mussolini and Hitler as having been right of center and all Fascists and neo-Nazi pretenders today so far to the right that they constitute a right-lunatic-fringe. These movements and their sympathizers are as far left of true constitutional government as Khrushchev, Castro et al, and any socialist dictators of the past, and should be answered accordingly.

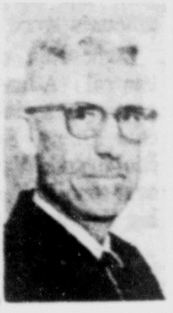
What's the Matter With The Money System?

By OSCAR COOLEY

Associate Professor of Economics
Ohio Northern University

The basic weakness in our money system is that the creation and control of money is in the hands of the federal government. This weakness was also present in the years before 1933, when we were on a gold coin standard.



History indicates that no government can be trusted with the control of money. All governments at times rob their people by deliberate inflation. The last time our government did this was in the 1940's, when it engineered a vast increase of the money supply, which had the effect of depreciating the dollar to less than half its 1940 value.

This was supposed to be necessary in order to win the war. Later, I shall argue that point. Now I will merely throw out the question: Why should it be necessary to rot the dollar in order to fight and win a war?

The great bulk of our money today is "demand deposits" in commercial banks, that is, deposits subject to check. We have progressed from the primitive system of gold coin money, as stated last week. We now have a medium of exchange, the bank check, which consists of a bank's ability and obligation to pay. In short, it is bank credit.

And this credit rests, in turn, upon the ability and obligation of borrowers — business entrepreneurs, mainly — to repay the bank what they have borrowed from it. And this is nothing more nor less than the productive ability of these businesses, which means the productive ability of all America. What could be better "backing" for our money than this?

To understand this, one must realize that when a firm "borrows money" from a commercial bank, it does not really borrow money at all but merely buys the right to draw checks on that bank up to a certain amount. That is, the loan is made in the form of a checking deposit in the bank. This is how "checkbook money" is created.

Thus, a bank lends far more money than it has in its vault. What it really lends is its promise to honor the depositor's checks when presented.

What, one may ask, limits the amount of such "checkbook money" that can be created? It is limited by the bank's reserves, which consist of quickly collectible "promissory notes" of responsible debtors (such as the Federal Reserve Bank, other banks, and the U. S. Treasury) which it holds. By law, the deposits must not be so large that the reserve, as a percentage of the deposits, will fall below a specified percent.

Thus, our whole monetary system is a labyrinth of credit which is being transferred from person to person as a medium bringing about the exchange of goods and services. Its soundness depends on the judgment and prudence of all concerned, each seeing to it that he does not assume obligations disproportionate to those that are owed him.

The fact that our money is based upon credit (or debt) does not mean it is unsound. Most of our economy, indeed, is based upon debt.

The first essential is that the total supply of our medium of exchange be increased only as rapidly as the demand for it. If the creation of that supply is allowed to depend on the amount of productive loans demanded by business and considered prudent by the lending banks, then, automatically, the supply will equal the demand. No medium of exchange can be devised that will be so sound as one based on the nation's volume of business.

Needless to say, we do not have such a system now. Far too much of our "checkbook money" is based upon government debt, not business debt. Let us see how government debt creates checkbook money.

Uncle Sam borrows just as business firms borrow, except that he gives a bond, or Treasury bill, instead of a promissory note. Bonds and bills, however, are not essentially different from notes; whatever name they go by they are "promises to pay."

When commercial banks buy the government's bonds or bills, as they often do, they pay for them in the same way they pay for a business borrower's notes, that is, by giving the U. S. Treasury a demand deposit. The Treasury has such deposits in nearly all the commercial banks in the land.

When the Treasury wishes to spend these deposits, it orders them transferred to a Federal Reserve Bank and then draws checks on the Federal Reserve Bank. Thus, the government's borrowing becomes "checkbook money" — new checkbook money which did not exist before.

In my next article, I shall try to explain why checkbook money, highly beneficial when prudently created by business loans, is unsound when created by government loans.

Richard Burton Is Also Actor, Reporter Says

By BOB THOMAS

PUERTO VILLARTA, Mexico (AP)—A fact sometimes overlooked is that Richard Burton is also an actor.

His performance as a headline-maker has somewhat overshadowed his acting talent. The American public may be more conscious of this talent late this winter when he brings his "Hamlet" to New York.

He is undertaking once more the role he played longer than any other actor at the Old Vic, winning him praise from Winston Churchill. He explained his reasons as he waited in a local cafe to be called for scenes of "The Night of the Iguana."

"Next year is 1964, the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare," he said. "While there is a great deal of celebration in England, there seems to be little in the United States. I felt something should be done about it.

"Also, I recently did a film in England, 'Beckett,' with John Gielgud. He asked me one day why I didn't do Hamlet once more before I got too old. I said I had definite ideas of how I would like to do it this time, and he asked me what they were. They happened to be some of the same ideas he had, so I agreed to do it if he would direct."

Burton, who last did "Hamlet" in 1954, hasn't appeared on the London stage for six years.

"The New York theater is more exciting," he said, "and the critics are fair, whereas in London they are merely snide."

Burton has come a long way from Pontrhydyfen, Wales, where he was born 39 years ago Nov. 10. In some respects his habits are little changed from what they might have been if he had stayed in the mining town.

He is a prodigious drinker. This is his first trip to Mexico, and he has discovered tequila.

In one important respect, his life is different from what it could have been as the 12th of 13 children of a coal miner. He is well on his way to being a rich man.

"I'll actually be making more money from 'Cleopatra' than Elizabeth will," he said. "As a resident of Switzerland, I don't have the same tax structure. She pays straight American income tax."

He can earn a half-million per film, but he will be working for a fraction of that when he plays "Hamlet" in New York. Once more—why? The answer may be that he wants to remind people that he is an actor.

Household Hints

A piece of old terry towel is good for cleaning a felt hat.

Soggy biscuits are the result of too much liquid, too little fat or baking at too low an oven temperature, food specialists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture say.

Don't throw cookie crumbs away. Serve them as a tasty topping for ice cream or for unfrosted pie.

Raking and removing all wood chip, block, roots, paper and other cellulose debris from under the house will help prevent termites.

Slipcovers can be machine-dried on a "regular setting," but remove them while still damp and replace on chair or divan to finish drying. Zippers and other fastenings should be closed during both washing and drying.

Cool the porcelain finish surfaces of your range, after baking, before you clean them. And don't use abrasive cleaners; a damp soapy cloth, rinsing and drying will do the trick.

Banana Surprise

Moulded cereal with banana surprise was one of the earliest recipes developed by United Fruit Co. home economists for its 1904 "recipe" booklet.

Turn any left - over breakfast cereal, while still hot, into cups rinsed in cold water, half filling the cups. When cold, scoop out the centers, and fill the open spaces with sliced bananas; turn from the cups onto a buttered agate pan, fruit downward, and set into a hot oven to become very hot. Remove with a broad bladed knife to cereal dishes. Serve at once with sugar and cream or milk.

Dr. William Hochman to Address Zontas Thursday

The Zonta Club will hold its regular monthly social meeting at the home of Miss Elsie Marie Smith, 431 N. Cascade Ave. at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Co-hostess will be Miss Marguerite Cowger.

Dr. William Hochman, Associate Professor of History at Colorado College, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Looking Ahead at the U.N." Dr. Hochman has a B.A., M.A. and PhD. from Columbia University and his special field is American Diplomatic History. This program is in celebration of United Nations week.

Zonta International has an observer at the United Nations in New York and Zurich, Switzerland. Also, it is thru the United Nations that Zonta International adopted the Special International project of supporting the vocational training center for refugee girls in Ramallah, Jordan.

Zonta's specific goal in this project is to provide the Center's two-year training course for as many girls as the club's voluntary contributions will make possible. UNRWA (United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees) has built the physical facilities and staff. It is the cost of tuition, food and lodging for two years, at $500 a year, that must be met from private sources.

The training center for girls at Ramallah is part of an UNRWA program launched in 1960 under which nine vocational and teacher training centers will be in operation by 1963, in Jordan, Lebanon, the Gaza Strip and the Syrian Arab Republic. Of the nine, which will eventually graduate more than 2,000 students a year, eight are for boys. The Ramallah school in Jordan is the only one for girls.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

When my daughter was old enough to sit up in her playpen, she needed something to occupy her attention.

I bought a piece of material to cover one side of the playpen and sewed two rows of pockets on it—just like a shoe bag.

One large pocket was in the middle of the bottom row with two small pockets on each side. There were four pockets across the top. I attached this toy bag on the side of the playpen with ties through the rungs.

Into these little pockets I would place all her toys, plastic measuring spoons . . . all the things that were safe for her to play with.

Then I put her in the playpen and showed her where the toys were kept. She would reach over and get one out of the pocket and chew on it and knock it around until she tired of it. Then she would reach in another pocket and get something else. This consumed a great deal of her time, and she had all the fascination of opening stockings on Christmas morning.

This stimulated locomotion since she wanted to get around the playpen, but most important it allowed me to do my necessary household chores.

After I removed her from her playpen and put her to bed for her nap I would pick up all the toys and place them back in "different" pockets! This kept the playpen neat and it was all ready for her the next time. It was exciting for her to find "which pocket had the "special" toy she wanted.

If any child's mother is too busy to make the above, a shoebag (the kind that hangs on closet doors) could be purchased and would serve the same purpose. — Marion P. Gosett

This is one of the cleverest ideas I have ever heard of. Another thing—when the child got older you could teach her to clean up her own playpen and put the toys back in the shoe bag pockets before she took her nap. This way . . . by the time she got old enough to clean her own room she would have already learned discipline and orderliness. Eh? —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I want to slice potatoes after they are boiled, I put them in my little egg slicer and press the top down!

The whole cooked potato is sliced in "even" slices with no trouble at all and saves much time. I also use this for potato salad and for extra-thin fried potatoes.

After I boil carrots, I also slice them in my egg slicer!

When I cook fresh string beans I always use my scissors to cut the ends off and to cut them in any size pieces I want. It sure saves time and my hands, and it is so easy.

I also use a scissors to slice my bacon into small pieces. —Florence O. D.

Dear Heloise:

Don't waste any leftover ice tea. It is so easy to pour that tea into your refrigerator tray and make tea cubes instead of water cubes!

When putting these tea cubes in your ice tea . . . as they melt they will not dilute the tea

This is also an excellent idea for leftover coffee! Ice coffee dilutes so quickly before you get down to the last dregs, especially if milk and sugar are added.

If I have only one cup of coffee left over I pour it in the ice cube tray. The next morning if I have another cup or half a cup of coffee left over I add it to the coffee in the tray, and in this way it keeps building up until the tray is full. Then I have plenty of coffee cubes for my ice coffee. —J. Small

Dear Heloise:

If you are short on cupboard space for linens and towels, put the sheets and pillowcases for each child's bed in his dresser. This saves sorting and looking for double or single, bottom and top sheets. Besides, they're always in the room where and when you need them.

When making powdered milk, put the crystals in first, add one-third of the water and mix well. Then add the rest of the water. You will find that it is mixed not only better and quicker, but tastes far better, too.—Lin Thompson

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Your Place Is at Home!

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are having an argument and have agreed to let you settle it. I made plans to go deer hunting from December 13th through December 22nd. My wife is expecting her second baby on December 14th, and she wants me to be home to take her to the hospital. Our first baby came two weeks late, and I have a hunch this one will, too. My wife says she has a hunch this one will be on time. If I am needed, I can get back home in 12 hours. I can't change the date of the trip because I am going with two other men and all the plans are set. Don't you think I should plan to go? —DEER HUNTER

DEAR DEER HUNTER: Tell your friends to go without you. A dear in the cradle is worth two on the fender.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine has two different colored eyes. One is brown and the other is blue. I once knew a bull dog with the same thing. Does it mean anything? Is this common in either animals or humans? How does something like this happen? —CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Having two different colored eyes occurs only occasionally in man and beast—and in birds, too. (Not fish—their eyes are colorless.) It's a freak of nature, indicating that the color chromosomes went a little wild.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and my husband is 26. We have three lovely children who mean the world to us. Yesterday while my husband was sleeping, I went into his wallet to get some snapshots of our children to show a neighbor. I came across a picture of a pretty, young girl and written on the front was, "To Wally with love from Birdie." On the back in my husband's handwriting, was a phone number, so I called her up. She said she didn't know any "Wally" and she hung up on me. When I asked my husband about it, he admitted he had been seeing her at a bar every Friday night for a few months, but that was all there was to it. He swore he loved me and said if I forgave him, he'd never see her again. What should I do? I am all broken up. —ALL BROKEN UP

DEAR BROKEN: Double your efforts to be everything a man wants in a wife. Nagging, recrimination and coolness will only give him good reason to turn his attentions elsewhere again. Tell him you forgive him and then really forgive him, and put it out of your mind.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "F. and H.": You could live on a lot less if you had a little more to live for.

Women Pine for Visible Butcher

CHICAGO (UPI) — Despite the convenience of pre-packaged meat products, women want the personal attention of a butcher when buying meat.

So says the director of the Good Housekeeping Institute.

"American industry, in spite of the wonderful job it has done in giving us good quality products, has gotten so mechanized it has lost the personal touch," said Willie Mae Rogers.

Miss Rogers told delegates to the American Meat Institute convention that a survey of readers of her publication showed that they "voted overwhelmingly for someone at the meat counter to wait on them."

She appealed for a uniform method of identifying meat cuts to simplify recipes. Terms such as "California roast, mush steak, silver tip round, veal tenders, shoulder pernil and Boston cut roast" are unknown to many butchers and to most homemakers, she said.

Miss Rogers suggested that large stores employ a home economist to help women select meat and suggest ways of preparing it.

"About half the women interviewed had trouble identifying cuts of meat and how to cook them," she said.

If you are cutting down rather than cutting out on a weight-watching program, spread the butter thin on your morning toast, help yourself to only a suspicion of salad dressing, and be content with very small portions of rich desserts.

Household Hints

A piece of old terry towel is good for cleaning a felt hat.

Soggy biscuits are the result of too much liquid, too little fat or baking at too low an oven temperature, food specialists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture say.

Don't throw cookie crumbs away. Serve them as a tasty topping for ice cream or for unfrosted pie.

Raking and removing all wood chip, block, roots, paper and other cellulose debris from under the house will help prevent termites.

Slipcovers can be machine-dried on a "regular setting," but remove them while still damp and replace on chair or divan to finish drying. Zippers and other fastenings should be closed during both washing and drying.

Cool the porcelain finish surfaces of your range, after baking, before you clean them. And don't use abrasive cleaners; a damp soapy cloth, rinsing and drying will do the trick.

Banana Surprise

Moulded cereal with banana surprise was one of the earliest recipes developed by United Fruit Co. home economists for its 1904 "recipe" booklet.

Turn any left - over breakfast cereal, while still hot, into cups rinsed in cold water, half filling the cups. When cold, scoop out the centers, and fill the open spaces with sliced bananas; turn from the cups onto a buttered agate pan, fruit downward, and set into a hot oven to become very hot. Remove with a broad bladed knife to cereal dishes. Serve at once with sugar and cream or milk.

Dr. William Hochman to Address Zontas Thursday

The Zonta Club will hold its regular monthly social meeting at the home of Miss Elsie Marie Smith, 431 N. Cascade Ave. at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Cohostess will be Miss Marguerite Cowger.

Dr. William Hochman, Associate Professor of History at Colorado College, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Looking Ahead at the U.N." Dr. Hochman has a B.A., M.A. and PhD. from Columbia University and his special field is American Diplomatic History. This program is in celebration of United Nations week.

Zonta International has an observer at the United Nations in New York and Zurich, Switzerland. Also, it is thru the United Nations that Zonta International adopted the Special International project of supporting the vocational training center for refugee girls in Ramallah, Jordan.

Zonta's specific goal in this project is to provide the Center's two-year training course for as many girls as the club's voluntary contributions will make possible. UNRWA (United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees) has built the physical facilities and staff. It is the cost of tuition, food and lodging for two years, at $500 a year, that must be met from private sources.

The training center for girls at Ramallah is part of an UNRWA program launched in 1960 under which nine vocational and teacher training centers will be in operation by 1963, in Jordan, Lebanon, the Gaza Strip and the Syrian Arab Republic. Of the nine, which will eventually graduate more than 2,000 students a year, eight are for boys. The Ramallah school in Jordan is the only one for girls.

CLEVELAND, OHIO (UPI) — One clothing manufacturer feeds a high-speed computer facts to get trends in fashion.

Feed the machine early orders from around the country, turn the data over for analysis by fashion and merchandising experts, and up come some predictions.

Corduroy outfits in pastel shades and bulk sweaters with a new U-neckline are scheduled for top popularity with the high school, college and young career female, say the machine and the analysts at Bobbie Brooks, Inc.

For dressup occasions, dresses with the high-waisted Empire look in crepe, velveteen and brushed wool are favorites. Blue and pink are expected to continue their dominance in the new season, to be joined by lilac which appears to be running a close third.

Those sweaters with the U-throat instead of the traditional V, come in fur blends, brushed monair, jacquard and printed designs. In skirts, the projection sees a strong resurgence of slim skirts, with the A-flare continuing for both classroom and office attire.

The newest hats feature fur of every kind. The cast of skins from the jungle includes tall white cloches made of mink, civet cat, antelope, leopard. For the damsel who cannot make up her mind there are three-toned mink - white, tourmaline and ranch.

West did not manage his assets properly in defending today's four spade contract and, by releasing one of his aces prematurely, he handed over control of the proceedings to the declarer.

West opened the bidding with one heart and North overcalled with two clubs. South bid two spades in an effort to improve the contract, and North proceeded directly to game in that suit.

West opened the jack of hearts and the king was played from dummy. Declarer observed that he must lose three aces and loss of a heart also stared him in the face. He must therefore establish a discard before the assault on dummy's heart holding was completed.

The diamond suit appeared to offer the best hope, for declarer lacked the quick entries to his hand required to lead profitably toward North's club honors. A small diamond was led at trick two and the king was played from the closed hand. Since West could not hope to capture any bigger prize, he took the king with the ace and continued with another heart driving out North's last stopper.

South led another diamond from dummy and finessed the ten in his hand. When it held the trick, he cashed the queen of diamonds and discarded North's eight of hearts. A heart was ruffed with the queen of spades, and declarer proceeded to drive out the ace of trumps and later conceded his third and final loser to the ace of clubs.

West was guilty of a serious tactical mistake when he accepted the king of diamonds at the second trick. It is extremely naive to assume that South would disregard dummy's club holding in favor of leading toward an unguarded king so early in the play. Therefore, he is marked with the queen of diamonds and possibly the jack as well. West has nothing to gain by releasing his ace.

Observe that, by permitting the king of diamonds to hold the second trick, West deprives declarer of access to his hand in time to obtain a discard for North's eight of hearts. If South switches his attention to the club suit, West puts up the ace and drives out the ace of hearts. Declarer must try for an immediate discard of his losing heart on the third round of clubs. West ruffs in however with the three of spades, cashes the ace of diamonds and waits for the setting trick with his high trump.

South Central's Climax Set As Leaders Meet This Week

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Life in the South Central League, always a tense affair at best, becomes packed with pressure this weekend as co-leaders Wasson and Centennial face a pair of powerful rivals who could turn the championship race into a real wing-ding.

No more decisive week has confronted any of the contending clubs to date. The title chase could either be narrowed to a two team affair with just two weeks remaining—or could become a hectic struggle with all four first division clubs contending, depending on the outcome of Friday night's action.

Wasson and Centennial, unbeaten in four starts, both tangle with capable opponents in emotional battles Friday. The Thunderbirds, tied for the lead with a 4-0 mark and perhaps underrated in some quarters, run smack into arch-rival Palmer in a Wasson Stadium contest that promises to draw 10,000—or as many as the stadium can possibly accomodate.

Centennial, the league's most impressive offensive team, will be testing that firepower against Central's effective defenses and there's no predicting the outcome of that one either. The Bulldogs have scored at least 20 points in every game, except in a 7-6 victory over Palmer.

Central, on the other hand, has been spotty, except in one department. The Wildcats have shut out three of their four league opponents to date and, in the fourth game, held Wasson scoreless for a half before yielding two touchdowns grudgingly. The main question is the Central offense, which has been inconsistent thruout the campaign and last Friday failed to even come close to scoring against East.

Other contests this week match East and Trinidad at Trinidad Friday with the Miners ranking as slight favorites in that one and Grand Junction and South in Pueblo Saturday night. Altho that latter game has little or no bearing on the title race, it should again be a tight one. Both teams have displayed capable defenses thruout most of the season.

Defense was the key in every contest save the Centennial-Trinidad fracus last weekend. Coming into that wrapup battle Saturday night, the league had seen only three touchdowns scored in three games.

Wasson, with an obviously cautious approach to their trip to the Slope, withstood first quarter fireworks by the Tigers and then settled to a steady ball control game that untied the Junction plans.

The T-Birds scored their lone touchdown on a 91 yard march in the second quarter that featured the running of fullback Mike Teague and 140 pound halfback, Jim Smith. Teague plunged over from a yard away to cap a 17 play drive and quarterback Clay Chambers booted the extra point.

Junction, stalled on two first quarter drives by the flexible Wasson defense, never had a close look at the goal line again. Wasson shut the Tigers off with under 30 yards rushing the second half, allowed the Western Slopers possession for just 14 plays, (including two punts), and returned to the Springs with a 7-0 win and the distinction of having been the first team to hold the Tigers scoreless since Junction entered the SCL in 1952. It also broke a string of 103 straight games in which the Tigers had scored.

Palmer, engaged in a furious battle in the line with the physically strong South Colts, grabbed off a 7-6 victory on the strength of Alan Snyder's 91 yard return of the second half kickoff and a run for the extra point by quarterback, Walt Hylton. The Terrors, behind 6-0 at halftime, had several scoring chances nullified by penalties.

Centennial, trailing 12-7 at halftime, unleased speedy Bob Armijo for a pair of second half touchdowns to clip Trinidad 20-12 in the league's only offensive display of the weekend. Armijo scored a first half touchdown on a 59 yard run; and then added tallies from 15 and 14 yards in second half to chop up the Miners' determined bid.

In the remaining game, Central could never get its offense moving against the rugged East defenses and the Wildcats were fortunate to settle for a 0-0 tie.

Clash Between Navy, Pitt Tops Collegiate Schedule

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy expects to meet a Panther with blood in its eye when it comes up against third-ranked and undefeated Pitt in a football game here Saturday.

"It's a big game for us and could make us or break us," said Middie quarterback Roger Staubach, who has the job of delivering Navy's major offensive punch. "We know they're going to be out for revenge."

Did that mean he thought Pitt would be remembering the controversial sleeper play, which Navy scored on after faking an injury that started a 32-9 rout of the Panthers in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. last year? Staubach threw the scoring pass to flanker Jim Stewart, who had headed for the sidelines as though injured.

"They'll be remembering a lot of things," Staubach said.

Coach Wayne Hardin, who apologized for the play after the game although he had cleared it in advance with officials, prefers to forget it. The Navy coach said Pitt needs no psychological weapon.

"They said before the season they would have the No. 1 team in the country, and I don't see how anybody can argue with them," he said.

Navy is ranked 10th nationally with a 4-1 record that includes a 32-28 upset by Southern Methodist.

Hardin had his Middies out in game uniforms Monday for the benefit of photographers, who have been barred from regular Navy practices because of the publicity wave that has engulfed quarterback Staubach. The publicity lid was clamped back on immediately afterward.

Offense Good, Defense Poor, Says Lude,

The coach said offensive play in the 48-14 defeat by Utah Saturday was encouraging. The Rams gained 246 yards rushing.

But the CSU defense was very poor, Lude added.

He put the first and second strings to work polishing assignments for Saturday's homecoming game with Texas Western. Meanwhile the third string and reserves scrimmaged with the freshman team.

Lude moved Jerry Randall from end back to guard Monday, and nudged guard Wayne Hull over to center.

New National Week

With all the tricks of hucksters these days, there's a National Sell Something Week nearly every seven days. It ranges from National Dairy Week to Best of Booze Week.

But if the local Quarterback Club was any indication, this must be "Rib the Press Week" around the country. This is nothing new, and I guess we've asked for it with completely unreliable predictions in football over the past couple of weekends.

We've confessed in the past that our secret method of determining winners of coming games is to tack the schedule on a wall, tie a blindfold around the eyes, and then stab away with a handy letter opener. Those who survive this Fourth Estate version of pin the tail on the donkey are elected as favorites for this week's upsets.

It wasn't so bad to feel the sting of "I told you so" from Colorado College and the Air Force Academy representatives at the QB bread-breaking. Missing CC's victory over Concordia and the AFA's upset by Maryland were only a couple of the wrong guesses of last weekend—and the retorts were expected.

It was actually directed toward those with inky fingers in general, but after extracting the barbs from the local coaches from the above schools it was even more painful.

In reality, Erle (Doc) Painter, class of ought-seven, was throwing his dart at the New York press in recalling a story from his days as trainer of the Yankees, a position he held down for 13 seasons after graduation from the Ivory Towers of Cascade Ave.

He was recalling when the great Lefty Gomez broke into the lineup and was playing in his first world series. Thru the troubles that often seem to plague wrong-handers, he had filled the bases with only one out.

"About then our shortstop, Frank Crosetti, walked over the mound to talk with Gomez. And the rookie asked, 'What am I gonna do now?'

"Well, Crosetti just yelled back so that everyone could hear, 'You got yourself into that jam. Now let's see you get yourself out!' That made Gomez so mad he threw nothing but fast ones — but he struck the side with no runs," Painter said.

"But the next day you know what the newspapers said?" The CC alum related. "Headlines read 'Crosetti tells rookie how to pitch in World Series.!'"

Painter had another tale on Gomez from his travels with the Yankees. This time catcher Bill Dickey was giving those funny little signs between his legs to indicate what the next pitch should be.

"But every time the catcher would straighten up after giving the sign," Painter said, "Gomez, who was a little short-sighted, would yell back, 'What was that?'

"After about the third time, the catcher walked halfway to the mound and shouted, 'A fast ball — that's what I want!' Well, at that, Gomez reared back and threw one right down the pipe. The batter was so surprised that the only thing he could say was 'What the hell's going on here' and he struck out.

Painter was making no apologies for his Yankees in the most recent World Series, altho it was plain he still has affection for his former employers.

"They were just beaten by a better team . . . a better pitching staff," Painter said. "In my 36 years of watching World Series, I've never seen a better pitched four games. Those Dodger pitchers were great, and they got the defensive plays when they needed them like when that second baseman (Dick Tracewski) stopped the ball that should have scored a couple runs in one of those games.

"And they ran the bases. Like the time their guy (Jim Gilliam) ran around the bases when Pepy (Joe Pepitone) dropped the ball. He was sure flying," Painter said of the play that won the fourth straight game for Los Angeles.

The aging CC alum, who spent many years binding the muscles of other athletes, once was quite a star in his own right, as testified in introduction by Colorado College classmate Bill Bartlett.

"He was a one-man track team when he went to CC," Bartlett said. "He could win first place in the high jump, pole vault, the dashes or just about anything else he entered. He never threw the weights, altho he once had his picture taken tossing the shot put left handed," the loyal Quarterbacker said. "But I'll bet he could if he tried."

Nicklaus Still Trails Palmer

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus won the Sahara Invitational last week for his fifth PGA tournament victory of the year but still trails Arnold Palmer in total winnings by more than $29,000.

Unofficial standings in PGA tournaments only, showed today that Palmer is far ahead in official winnings with $128,230. He won seven of the 20 tournaments in which he competed.

Nicklaus won five of 24 tournaments and Julius Boros three of the 26 in which he competed to be third in total winnings with $77,356.

Falcons at Home

Aerial Show Expected In Boston College Game

Still trying to figure out "what happened" last Saturday at College Park, Md., the Air Force Academy football team limped home and immediately began preparation for their weekend assignment against Boston College in the AFA's first home engagement in exactly a month.

Kick-off for Saturday's Air Force-BC clash is slated for 1:30 p.m. in Falcon Stadium. It will mark the first grid meeting of the two schools, with a return encounter scheduled for next season in Boston.

One of the season's top offensive shows will be in the offing for the local fans as Boston College will be led by their outstanding quarterback, Jack Concannon. Concannon, a 6-3, 200-pound All-America candidate, tied for the nation's lead in 1962 in touchdown passes with 15, was fifth in total offense with 1745 yards, was 11th in passing with 97 completions in 131 attempts for a percentage of 53.6 and 1,453 yards with only six interceptions.

This year, the brilliant Concannon had equalled last year's pace in the first four games which will mean that the Falcon pass defense will receive another stiff test this week.

In fact, quite a duel should unfold on the Falcon Stadium truf as the Falcon's brilliant Terry Isaacon locks horns with Concannon. In five games, Isaacson has rushed for 335 yards, completed 37 of 81 passes for 502 yards and threee touchdowns, and ran for five TD's. This ranks him among the nation's leaders in rushing and total offense, and his 30 points ranks him in the nation's top five point makers.

Coach Jim Miller's Eagles have lost only one of their first four games, that being a 32-21 thriller to nationally ranked Syracuse. Since that time, BC has measured Wichita, Detroit and Villanova, with an open date last Saturday.

As for the AFA's nightmare last Saturday, Coach Ben Martin could only shake his head at the sensational last half come back sparked by Maryland's quarterback, Dick Shiner Spotting the Falcons a 14-0 lead at intermission, the Terps came back to catch the Cadets at the wire and win, 21-14 on a 42-yard scoring pass on the last play of the game.

About the only comforting aspect of the shocker was the fact that the Falcons had pulled out two similar wins already this season, and finally got caught by the same last ditch method. The Falcons earlier upended Washington and Nebraska with come-from-behind efforts.

But the upset loss to the Terps was not without its heroes from the AFA point of view. Dave Sicks, the Falcons' great linebacker from Independence, Kan., was easily the most outstanding defender on the field, and halfback Dick Ritchie turned in an all-around outstanding game on offense and defense. Sophomore and Fritz Greenlee, who caught three Isaacson passes, including a 10-yard scoring pitch, also was outstanding.

Unbeaten Teams Narrowed to 35

By United Press International

The college football season took a heavy toll of hopefuls today, with only 35 survivors listed as unbeaten and untied at the halfway mark.

Texas led a meager helping of seven major powers that also included Princeton, Dartmouth, Auburn, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh and Bowling Green of Ohio.

Eight schools won six games, 14 more captured five each, 11 others sported four victories apiece and two teams were unscathed in three games.

South Central's Climax Set As Leaders Meet This Week

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Life in the South Central League, always a tense affair at best, becomes packed with pressure this weekend as co-leaders Wasson and Centennial face a pair of powerful rivals who could turn the championship race into a real wing-ding.

No more decisive week has confronted any of the contending clubs to date. The title chase could either be narrowed to a two team affair with just two weeks remaining—or could become a hectic struggle with all four first division clubs contending, depending on the outcome of Friday night's action.

Wasson and Centennial, unbeaten in four starts, both tangle with capable opponents in emotional battles Friday. The Thunderbirds, tied for the lead with a 4-0 mark and perhaps underrated in some quarters, run smack into arch-rival Palmer in a Wasson Stadium contest that promises to draw 10,000—or as many as the stadium can possibly accomodate.

Centennial, the league's most impressive offensive team, will be testing that firepower against Central's effective defenses and there's no predicting the outcome of that one either. The Bulldogs have scored at least 20 points in every game, except in a 7-6 victory over Palmer.

Central, on the other hand, has been spotty, except in one department. The Wildcats have shut out three of their four league opponents to date and, in the fourth game, held Wasson scoreless for a half before yielding two touchdowns grudgingly. The main question is the Central offense, which has been inconsistent thruout the campaign and last Friday failed to even come close to scoring against East.

Other contests this week match East and Trinidad at Trinidad Friday with the Miners ranking as slight favorites in that one and Grand Junction and South in Pueblo Saturday night. Altho that latter game has little or no bearing on the title race, it should again be a tight one. Both teams have displayed capable defenses thruout most of the season.

Defense was the key in every contest save the Centennial-Trinidad fracus last weekend. Coming into that wrapup battle Saturday night, the league had seen only three touchdowns scored in three games.

Wasson, with an obviously cautious approach to their trip to the Slope, withstood first quarter fireworks by the Tigers and then settled to a steady ball control game that untied the Junction plans.

The T-Birds scored their lone touchdown on a 91 yard march in the second quarter that featured the running of fullback Mike Teague and 140 pound halfback, Jim Smith. Teague plunged over from a yard away to cap a 17 play drive and quarterback Clay Chambers booted the extra point.

Junction, stalled on two first quarter drives by the flexible Wasson defense, never had a close look at the goal line again. Wasson shut the Tigers off with under 30 yards rushing the second half, allowed the Western Slopers possession for just 14 plays (including two punts), and returned to the Springs with a 7-0 win and the distinction of having been the first team to hold the Tigers scoreless since Junction entered the SCL in 1952. It also broke a string of 103 straight games in which the Tigers had scored.

Palmer, engaged in a furious battle in the line with the physically strong South Colts, grabbed off a 7-6 victory on the strength of Alan Snyder's 91 yard return of the second half kickoff and a run for the extra point by quarterback Walt Hylton. The Terrors, behind 6-0 at halftime, had several scoring chances nullified by penalties.

Centennial, trailing 12-7 at halftime, unleased speedy Bob Armijo for a pair of second half touchdowns to clip Trinidad 20-12 in the league's only offensive display of the weekend. Armijo scored a first half touchdown on a 59 yard run; and then added tallies from 15 and 14 yards in second half to chop up the Miners' determined bid.

In the remaining game, Central could never get its offense moving against the rugged East defenses and the Wildcats were fortunate to settle for a 0-0 tie.

With all the tricks of hucksters these days, there's a National Sell Something Week nearly every seven days. It ranges from National Dairy Week to Best of Booze Week.

But if the local Quarterback Club was any indication, this must be "Rib the Press Week" around the country. This is nothing new, and I guess we've asked for it with completely unreliable predictions in football over the past couple of weekends.

We've confessed in the past that our secret method of determining winners of coming games is to tack the schedule on a wall, tie a blindfold around the eyes, and then stab away with a handy letter opener. Those who survive this Fourth Estate version of pin the tail on the donkey are elected as favorites for this week's upsets.

It wasn't so bad to feel the sting of "I told you so" from Colorado College and the Air Force Academy representatives at the QB bread-breaking. Missing CC's victory over Concordia and the AFA's upset by Maryland were only a couple of the wrong guesses of last weekend—and the retorts were expected.

It was actually directed toward those with inky fingers in general, but after extracting the barbs from the local coaches from the above schools it was even more painful.

In reality, Erle (Doc) Painter, class of ought-seven, was throwing his dart at the New York press in recalling a story from his days as trainer of the Yankees, a position he held down for 13 seasons after graduation from the Ivory Towers of Cascade Ave.

He was recalling when the great Lefty Gomez broke into the lineup and was playing in his first world series. Thru the troubles that often seem to plague wrong-handers, he had filled the bases with only one out.

"About then our shortstop, Frank Crosetti, walked over the mound to talk with Gomez. And the rookie asked, 'What am I gonna do now?'

"Well, Crosetti just yelled back so that everyone could hear, 'You got yourself into that jam. Now let's see you get yourself out!' That made Gomez so mad he threw nothing but fast ones — but he struck the side with no runs," Painter said.

"But the next day you know what the newspapers said?" The CC alum related. "Headlines read 'Crosetti tells rookie how to pitch in World Series.!'"

Painter had another tale on Gomez from his travels with the Yankees. This time catcher Bill Dickey was giving those funny little signs between his legs to indicate what the next pitch should be.

"But every time the catcher would straighten up after giving the sign," Painter said, "Gomez, who was a little short-sighted, would yell back, 'What was that?'

"After about the third time, the catcher walked halfway to the mound and shouted, 'A fast ball — that's what I want!' Well, at that, Gomez reared back and threw one right down the pipe. The batter was so surprised that the only thing he could say was 'What the hell's going on here' and he struck out.

Painter was making no apologies for his Yankees in the most recent World Series, altho it was plain he still has affection for his former employers.

"They were just beaten by a better team . . . a better pitching staff," Painter said. "In my 36 years of watching World Series, I've never seen a better pitched four games. Those Dodger pitchers were great, and they got the defensive plays when they needed them like when that second baseman (Dick Tracewski) stopped the ball that should have scored a couple runs in one of those games.

"And they ran the bases. Like the time their guy (Jim Gilliam) ran around the bases when Pepy (Joe Pepitone) dropped the ball. He was sure flying," Painter said of the play that won the fourth straight game for Los Angeles.

The aging CC alum, who spent many years binding the muscles of other athletes, once was quite a star in his own right, as testified in introduction by Colorado College classmate Bill Bartlett.

"He was a one-man track team when he went to CC," Bartlett said. "He could win first place in the high jump, pole vault, the dashes or just about anything else he entered. He never threw the weights, altho he once had his picture taken tossing the shot put left handed," the loyal Quarterbacker said. "But I'll bet he could if he tried."

Nicklaus Still Trails Palmer

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus won the Sahara Invitational last week for his fifth PGA tournament victory of the year but still trails Arnold Palmer in total winnings by more than $29,000.

Unofficial standings in PGA tournaments only, showed today that Palmer is far ahead in official winnings with $128,230. He won seven of the 20 tournaments in which he competed.

Nicklaus won five of 24 tournaments and Julius Boros three of the 26 in which he competed to be third in total winnings with $77,356.

Falcons at Home

Aerial Show Expected In Boston College Game

Still trying to figure out "what happened" last Saturday at College Park, Md., the Air Force Academy football team limped home and immediately began preparation for their weekend assignment against Boston College in the AFA's first home engagement in exactly a month.

Kick-off for Saturday's Air Force-BC clash is slated for 1:30 p.m. in Falcon Stadium. It will mark the first grid meeting of the two schools, with a return encounter scheduled for next season in Boston.

One of the season's top offensive shows will be in the offing for the local fans as Boston College will be led by their outstanding quarterback, Jack Concannon. Concannon, a 6-3, 200-pound All-America candidate, tied for the nation's lead in 1962 in touchdown passes with 15, was fifth in total offense with 1745 yards, was 11th in passing with 97 completions in 131 attempts for a percentage of 53.6 and 1,453 yards with only six interceptions.

This year, the brilliant Concannon had equalled last year's pace in the first four games which will mean that the Falcon pass defense will receive another stiff test this week.

In fact, quite a duel should unfold on the Falcon Stadium truf as the Falcon's brilliant Terry Isaacon locks horns with Concannon. In five games, Isaacson has rushed for 335 yards, completed 37 of 81 passes for 502 yards and threee touchdowns, and ran for five TD's. This ranks him among the nation's leaders in rushing and total offense, and his 30 points ranks him in the nation's top five point makers.

Coach Jim Miller's Eagles have lost only one of their first four games, that being a 32-21 thriller to nationally ranked Syracuse. Since that time, BC has measured Wichita, Detroit and Villanova, with an open date last Saturday.

As for the AFA's nightmare last Saturday, Coach Ben Martin could only shake his head at the sensational last half come back sparked by Maryland's quarterback, Dick Shiner. Spotting the Falcons a 14-0 lead at intermission, the Terps came back to catch the Cadets at the wire and win, 21-14 on a 42-yard scoring pass on the last play of the game.

About the only comforting aspect of the shocker was the fact that the Falcons had pulled out two similar wins already this season, and finally got caught by the same last ditch method. The Falcons earlier upended Washington and Nebraska with come-from-behind efforts.

But the upset loss to the Terps was not without its heroes from the AFA point of view. Dave Sicks, the Falcons' great linebacker from Independence, Kan., was easily the most outstanding defender on the field, and halfback Dick Ritchie turned in an all-around outstanding game on offense and defense. Sophomore and Fritz Greenlee, who caught three Isaacson passes, including a 10-yard scoring pitch, also was outstanding.

Unbeaten Teams Narrowed to 35

By United Press International

The college football season took a heavy toll of hopefuls today, with only 35 survivors listed as unbeaten and untied at the halfway mark.

Texas led a meager helping of seven major powers that also included Princeton, Dartmouth, Auburn, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh and Bowling Green of Ohio.

Eight schools won six games, 14 more captured five each, 11 others sported four victories apiece and two teams were unscathed in three games.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns, who kept Arkansas from breaking up their marriage to the No. 1 spot in college football, are out to make sure that Rice won't interfere with an extended honeymoon.

The Longhorns were voted the top major college team in the country for the second straight week Monday in The Associated Press weekly poll of a panel of sports writer and broadcasters. Texas drew first-place votes on 50 of the 53 ballots.

The Longhorns completely outdistanced second - ranked Wisconsin in the voting despite a 17-13 squeaker over the Porkers from Arkansas. The Badgers, 10-7 winners over Iowa, drew the other three votes for the top spot. Texas wound up with 527 points, Wisconsin 470.

Pittsburgh was third in the voting, Illinois fourth and Mississippi fifth, followed by Alabama, Oklahoma, Auburn, Northwestern and Navy. Ohio State, fourth a week ago, dropped out of the Top Ten after a 32-3 loss to Southern California and Georgia Tech, eighth last week; went out after a 29-26 loss to Auburn.

The Longhorns will be facing a tough assignment this Saturday night in the Rice Owls, who tied Texas 14-14 last year at this same stage of the season. That knocked the Longhorns from the No. 1 position they also held at this time last year.

The other members of the elite — with the exception of idle Auburn — also may be in for stiff competititon this week on a program headlined by the meeting between Pitt's third-ranked Panthers and Navy's 10th-rated Middies.

Wisconsin faces Ohio State, Illinois takes on UCLA in a Friday night game, Mississippi meets Vanderbilt, Alabama tackles Houston, Oklahoma plays Kansas State and Northwestern goes against Michigan State.

The Top Ten teams with first place votes in parentheses; and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

Bobo Olson Wants Title Shortcut

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"At my age, I would like to take a shortcut to the (light heavyweight) title," said 35-year-old Bobo Olson Monday night after winning an easy decision from Argentina's Jose Menno in Kezar Pavilion.

Olson, who didn't have much more hair when he lost the middleweight title some eight years ago, showed the 2,818 fans that he still knows how to find the body with left hooks.

There were no knockdowns, but Olson, a former Hawaiian now fighting out of San Francisco, had Menno in trouble in the eighth round when he draped the loser over the middle strand.

Referee Frankie Carter scored the fight 7-2, judge Tony Bosnich had it 6-1 and judge Bob Mitchell scored it 7-0 under California's five-point round system in which the winner of a round gets from one to five points and the loser none with no points given fighters in even rounds.

Indians Seek Title-Clinching Win Against Academy on Wednesday

Cheyenne Mountain's scoring machine goes after its first Pikes Peak League championship since 1958 Wednesday afternoon and, appropriately, the opposition will be furnished by the team that currently holds the title.

Bill Mondt's Air Force Academy High club, defending PPL and State AA champions, pose what could be the final obstacle for the power-backed Cheyenne club. A victory by Eldon Helm's Indians in the 1:30 p.m. contest at the Cheyenne field would bring an end to the 1963 race.

Also scheduled Wednesday are four other contests involving PPL schools. Widefield and Florence will tangle in a first division squabble at Widefield at 7:30 p.m., Manitou Springs travels to Salida for a 7:30 p.m. game, Leadville is at Fountain at 7:30, and Harrison goes to Rocky Ford for a non-league battle.

The Indians enter the Academy High game off a 74-6 trouncing of Manitou Springs that raised their season output to 331 points in just six games. That's a fantastic average of 55 points per contest. Meanwhile, the opposition has managed just 19, with Widefield and Manitou the only teams to score against Cheyenne.

Academy High, well coached and poised, does not figure to fall into the same trap as the six past opponents. The Indians will be a solid favorite but it's unlikely they will be running up any enormous point totals against Mondt's well-schooled Kadets.

The Cheyenne attack is basic, built around the running of fullback Greg Cramblit and the passing of quarterback Gary Graham. The line is quick and tough and for speed the Indians can turn loose sprinter Bob Richardson.

Academy High is also a sound team. The Kadets have lost only twice, to Fairview in non-league play and to Harrison in the conference. Both were tight decisions. Offensively, the Academy team is averaging 23 points per game while limiting the opposition to an average of seven. Top runners are veteran halfback Rob Stockhouse and fullback Roger Karolick.

Widefield, an early favorite for the title but just now coming around, enters its Wednesday contest off a 58-0 trouncing of hapless Leadville. The Gladiators will rate a slight edge due to their recent showings but can expect a rugged test from the Huskies. Florence yielded to Academy High only in the final two minutes of play.

The game carries considerable significance, especially for the Gladiators who are making a belated bid for a first division finish. For Florence, a loss would mean final elimination from the 1963 title race, even if Cheyenne should fall victim to an upset.

Manitou will be attempting to arrange one of its highest finishes in recent seasons by upsetting the Spartans at Salida. Should the Mustangs win, it will give them a good shot at finishing no lower than sixth as it would drop the Spartans two games behind Manitou on the lost side. Salida, however, will enter the contest as a solid favorite.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns, who kept Arkansas from breaking up their marriage to the No. 1 spot in college football, are out to make sure that Rice won't interfere with an extended honeymoon.

The Longhorns were voted the top major college team in the country for the second straight week Monday in The Associated Press weekly poll of a panel of sports writer and broadcasters. Texas drew first-place votes on 50 of the 53 ballots.

The Longhorns completely outdistanced second - ranked Wisconsin in the voting despite a 17-13 squeaker over the Porkers from Arkansas. The Badgers, 10-7 winners over Iowa, drew the other three votes for the top spot. Texas wound up with 527 points, Wisconsin 470.

Pittsburgh was third in the voting, Illinois fourth and Mississippi fifth, followed by Alabama, Oklahoma, Auburn, Northwestern and Navy. Ohio State, fourth a week ago, dropped out of the Top Ten after a 32-3 loss to Southern California and Georgia Tech, eighth last week; went out after a 29-26 loss to Auburn.

The Longhorns will be facing a tough assignment this Saturday night in the Rice Owls, who tied Texas 14-14 last year at this same stage of the season. That knocked the Longhorns from the No. 1 position they also held at this time last year.

The other members of the elite — with the exception of idle Auburn — also may be in for stiff competititon this week on a program headlined by the meeting between Pitt's third-ranked Panthers and Navy's 10th-rated Middies.

Wisconsin faces Ohio State, Illinois takes on UCLA in a Friday night game, Mississippi meets Vanderbilt, Alabama tackles Houston, Oklahoma plays Kansas State and Northwestern goes against Michigan State.

The Top Ten teams with first place votes in parentheses, and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

Bobo Olson Wants Title Shortcut

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"At my age, I would like to take a shortcut to the (light heavyweight) title," said 35-year-old Bobo Olson Monday night after winning an easy decision from Argentina's Jose Menno in Kezar Pavilion.

Olson, who didn't have much more hair when he lost the middleweight title some eight years ago, showed the 2,818 fans that he still knows how to find the body with left hooks.

There were no knockdowns, but Olson, a former Hawaiian now fighting out of San Francisco, had Menno in trouble in the eighth round when he draped the loser over the middle strand.

Referee Frankie Carter scored the fight 7-2, judge Tony Bosnich had it 6-1 and judge Bob Mitchell scored it 7-0 under California's five-point round system in which the winner of a round gets from one to five points and the loser none with no points given fighters in even rounds.

Cheyenne Mountain's scoring machine goes after its first Pikes Peak League championship since 1958 Wednesday afternoon and, appropriately, the opposition will be furnished by the team that currently holds the title.

Bill Mondt's Air Force Academy High club, defending PPL and State AA champions, pose what could be the final obstacle for the power-backed Cheyenne club. A victory by Eldon Helm's Indians in the 1:30 p.m. contest at the Cheyenne field would bring an end to the 1963 race.

Also scheduled Wednesday are four other contests involving PPL schools. Widefield and Florence will tangle in a first division squabble at Widefield at 7:30 p.m., Manitou Springs travels to Salida for a 7:30 p.m. game, Leadville is at Fountain at 7:30, and Harrison goes to Rocky Ford for a non-league battle.

The Indians enter the Academy High game off a 74-6 trouncing of Manitou Springs that raised their season output to 331 points in just six games. That's a fantastic average of 55 points per contest. Meanwhile, the opposition has managed just 19, with Widefield and Manitou the only teams to score against Cheyenne.

Academy High, well coached and poised, does not figure to fall into the same trap as the six past opponents. The Indians will be a solid favorite but it's unlikely they will be running up any enormous point totals against Mondt's well-schooled Kadets.

The Cheyenne attack is basic, built around the running of fullback Greg Cramblit and the passing of quarterback Gary Graham. The line is quick and tough and for speed the Indians can turn loose sprinter Bob Richardson.

Academy High is also a sound team. The Kadets have lost only twice, to Fairview in non-league play and to Harrison in the conference. Both were tight decisions. Offensively, the Academy team is averaging 23 points per game while limiting the opposition to an average of seven. Top runners are veteran halfback Rob Stockhouse and fullback Roger Karolick.

Widefield, an early favorite for the title but just now coming around, enters its Wednesday contest off a 58-0 trouncing of hapless Leadville. The Gladiators will rate a slight edge due to their recent showings but can expect a rugged test from the Huskies. Florence yielded to Academy High only in the final two minutes of play.

The game carries considerable significance, especially for the Gladiators who are making a belated bid for a first division finish. For Florence, a loss would mean final elimination from the 1963 title race, even if Cheyenne should fall victim to an upset.

Manitou will be attempting to arrange one of its highest finishes in recent seasons by upsetting the Spartans at Salida. Should the Mustangs win, it will give them a good shot at finishing no lower than sixth as it would drop the Spartans two games behind Manitou on the lost side. Salida, however, will enter the contest as a solid favorite.

Bonnie Abbe Returning To Class A at RMKC

Larry Hughes' Bonnie Abbe, after one effort in the Grade B competition, comes back to the Grade A's tonight as she joins the top speedsters at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club in the featured ninth race.

Her grade B effort was a win last Friday night as she coursed the Peak Course in a time of 32.58 to finish ahead of Zawn, Aspired and Spotted Stranger.

Tonight, it is top company for Bonnie Abbe as she is joined by the Shamrock Kennel's Tommie Logan, Cen-Tex Kennel's Directly, C. W. Wilson's Ski Lady, Alderson and Lentz's Tit Tat Twirl, George Murphey's Doctor Rue and Don Abernathy's Stuffer.

Monday night saw the 5-2 daily double come in for the third time this season with a pay-off of $81.20. The daily double has seen several combinations come in for the pay-off a couple of times this season but the 5-2 is the only combination to make it three times. There has been a 1-3 combination in for four pay-offs during the current meet.

In the third race Monday night, it was Krispy Gal and Bobby Zip that brought in the 6-8 combination for the high quiniela pay-off of the night at $139.80, while Krispy Gal had an across the board pay-off of $46.80, $10.20 and $6.40.

Rolling Russ in the seventh race had an across the board pay-off of $26.40, $10.80 and $5.40 along with Aggrivated at $12.60 and $6.40 that made the 2-7 quiniela pay the second highest money for the night at $102.20.

Post time for the first race tonight is 7:30 p.m.

Pheasant Season Set in Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Hunters in states where hunting seasons have had to be deferred because of drought conditions were advised by Nebraska Game Commission Director Mel Steen Monday that Nebraska's pheasant season, longest in the nation, will open next Saturday as scheduled.

Game commission technicians were described as optimistic about the pheasant season in the state.

"We have a good nesting season," Steen reported. "There are plenty of birds and there should be a lot of happy hunters."

Tag-Team Match Highlights Pro Wrestling Card Tonight

Another lineup of new professional wrestling stars will be at the City Auditorium tonight in the season's second star-studded mat card. The first of four bouts will start at 8:30 p.m. and tickets are available at the Auditorium box office.

The only returnee from last week's exciting show will be Rocky Smith, who proved popular with the crowd altho ending his match with roughneck Johnny Long with no decision. The two had to seperated by police when the match ended up outside the ring.

All others are new to this area.

The feature bout will be a tag-team match for two out of three falls with an hour time limit. This will have Smith teaming with Danny Little Bear, a 226-pound Indian from Oklahoma. Facing them will be two villians of the ring, 220-pound Bill Fletcher of Seattle and 218-pound Jose Montero, a bearded badman from Havana, Cuba.

Also on the card is a semi-main event with Chicago's Rudy Kay going against Danny Loas of Denver in three falls with an hour limit. There will be two preliminaries with Fletcher testing Little Bear in the opener, and Smith matching holds with Montero. Both of these bouts are scheduled for one fall with a 15-minute time limit.

Kay comes to professional wrestling quite naturally in that his father was a big name in the business in the Chicago-Detroit area and he taught young Rudy all he needs to know. Loas is the son of another popular wrestler of this region and he hopes to make a name for himself in the future.

It will be experience against youth in the other prelim with Fletcher calling on the knowledge of 15 years in pro wrestling and Little Bear a relative newcomer. Fletcher has seen action in many of the nation's top arenas and has held the Pacific Coast heavyweight championship while working out of Portland, Ore.

Little Bear is one of the strongest young wrestlers around. He has a well-proportioned body and has lifted 500 pounds with a press lift. He has three years of experience.

However, the star bout is a 15-rounder in which Bahama-born Gomeo Brennan of Miami Beach fights Eire-born Mick Leahy of England for the vacant British Empire middleweight crown.

Engineers Try to Adjust After Loss of Head Kicker

ATLANTA (AP)—"We've had actual game losses which hurt us worse, but few games overall have ever left us feeling so badly," said Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech today as his team tried to adjust to the loss of end Ted Davis.

Rawson was released from Emory University Hospital Monday night.

Davis said he was resigning to save Tech "the embarrassment of kicking me off the football squad."

"I hope David Rawson will try to forgive this terrible thing that I did in anger," the 21-year-old Memphis, Tenn., senior continued. "I pray that God will help me to control my emotions in the future."

Dodd accepted Davis' resignation and said the end will play no more football at Tech. However, the Tech coach praised Davis for admitting his mistake and said Davis would remain in school.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan expressed disappointment that Davis was resigning. He said Rawson "holds no ill will toward him and he doesn't owe us an apology."

Doctors checked the 20-year-old Rawson thoroughly to determine that he had not sustained permanent damage.

Cardinals' Tim McCarver Named Year's Top Soph

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Tim McCarver, named Monday the National League's outstanding sophomore of 1963, says the honor caught him completely by surprise.

"I just feel wonderful," the 22-year-old St. Louis Cardinal catcher said. "I'm really honored—Well, I'm just at a loss for words."

McCarver, who is attending the University of Oklahoma, said he had been so busy catching up with classwork after enrolling late that "baseball had sort of left my mind. I've been hitting the books pretty hard."

He is majoring in business.

McCarver transferred to Oklahoma from Memphis State University this year. He said a Memphis girl he was dating, Ann McDaniel, is a student at Oklahoma.

McCarver received 20 votes in the balloting by 44 baseball writers. Lou Brock, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, was second with six votes, followed by Donn Clendenon, Pittsburgh first baseman, four votes, and pitchers Denny Lemaster, Milwaukee, three each.

McCarver, a 6-1, 190-pounder, started the season as the Cards' no. 3 catcher behind Gene Oliver and Carl Sawatski. Oliver was traded to Milwaukee in June, and McCarver passed Sawatski to become the No. 1 catcher.

In 127 games, McCarver batted .289, with 12 doubles, seven triples and four homers included among 117 hits. He batted in 51 runs and was the only Cardinal besides Bill White to hit a grand slam homer.

McCarver said he is looking forward to another good season.

"I think I can improve in everything — catching, throwing, hitting," he said. "I'm not satisfied. I don't think you can be successful if you're satisfied."

Chargers Go, Boston Whoa In American League Stats

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's San Diego for "go" and Boston for "whoa" in the American Football League.

The Chargers, leading the AFL's Western Division with a 5-1 record, have gained more yards rushing and passing than any other team in the league.

Boston's Patriots, tied with Houston for the Eastern Division lead, have the best defense against both passing and rushing.

San Diego owns the league's top passer, Tobin Rote and the leading rusher Paul Lowe, and has rolled up 371.6 yards per game total offense. The Chargers' ground game has accounted for 892 yards for a 148.6 average. Lowe personally has contributed 420 yards of 6.5 yards per carry.

Rote has the best passing percentage (.642), has had the fewest intercepted (6) and has covered 1,058 yards through the air. Houston, with quarterback George Blanda, has attempted more aerials (251, completed more (128) for the most yardage (1,679), and leads the AFL in overall passing.

Boston's pass defenders have allowed the opposition 1,126 yards or 160.8 yards per game. The Pats have held rushers to 521 yards this season or 74.4 per contest.

Gino Cappelletti of the Pats tops the AFL scorers with 69 points on 13 field goals, 18 extra points and two touchdowns—30 points ahead of his nearest pursuer, Blanda.

Bill Miller of Buffalo took over the pass receiving leadership from Oakland's Art Powell. Miller has snagged 43 passes for 552 yards even though Powell has set a new league mark of 645 yards on 40 catches.

Jerrel Wilson, rookie Kansas City punter, maintained his punting lead with a 47.4 yard average on 24 kicks; Tom Morrow of Oakland leads in pass interceptions with 8. Keith Lincoln of the Chargers has averaged 18 yards on 4 punt returns and Charlie Mitchell of Denver has averaged 30.9 yards on 16 kickoff returns, both tops in the league.

Colorado's Bill Harris Leading in Big 8 Rushing

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Colorado's Bill Harris, a swift and strong 207-pound halfback, is leading the Big Eight in touchdowns and in average gain per carry because he has finally become a consistent player after an up-and-down career.

Harris has averaged 8.1 yards a crack and has broken loose for six touchdowns, the latest a 78-yard dash against Iowa State. He is the No. 3 man behind Tom Vaughn of Iowa State and Gale Sayers of Kansas in rushing yardage. Vaughn has 460, Sayers 451 and Harris 371.

Harris is a senior from Hackensack ,N.J., where he ran the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds in high school. To say Harris has been inconsistent until the last four games is putting it mildly.

Playing at 230 pounds, he did not even make the first road trip as a sophomore. Then he came fast and played key roles in Colorado's drive to the 1961 Big Eight football title. With the squad badly depleted by NCAA probation, Harris had only two good games last fall. The Buffaloes won both.

Harris may have come of age in the second half against Kansas State at Manhattan Oct. 5. He had only five yards in four carries at half time in a scoreless game. Coach Eddie Crowder told him bluntly he'd better start running or he would stop playing the last half.

"That sort of shook me up," Harris said. "He's a man who means what he says." Harris scored all three touchdowns the last half, finished with 103 yards then gained 92 against Oklahoma State and 90 against Iowa State. He had 71 yards at Oregon State and 19 against Southern California.

Willie Ross of Nebraska is No. 4 in rushing at 360. Then come Rudy Johnson, Nebraska, 310; Jim Grisham, Oklahoma, 280; Monroe Phleps, Missouri, 265; and Carl Reese, Missouri, 222.

Larry Corrigan, K-State's senior quarterback, took the league passing leadership with a 174-yard day against Nebraska. He has hit 44 of 90 passes for 46; yards and three touchdowns. Steve Renko of Kansas is second with 368. Gary Lane of Missouri has 301, Dennis Claridge of Nebraska 281, Frank Cesarek of Colorado 268, Ken Bunte of Iowa State 229, Glenn Baxter 137, and Mike Miller 101, both of Oklahoma State.

Renko is the total offense leader in a five-way race with 494 to 493 for Corrigan. Lane has 480, Vaughn and Sayers 460 each.

Dick Limerick, Iowa State halfback, leads in pass receiving with 17 catches for 240 yards, in scoring with 38 points, and in field goals with four. Ralph McFillen of K-State has 20 catches for 228 yards, Sayers 11 for 155 and Bill Symons of Colorado five for 100.

Probation By NCAA Is Lifted

CHICAGO (AP) — Tennessee Tech's two-year probation by the NCAA for recruiting violations was lifted Monday but Wichita and Millersville of Pennsylvania were reprimanded for infractions.

Tennessee Tech's full rights and privileges will be restored Thursday on the recommendation of the NCAA infractions committee and the approval of the policy-making council.

A member of the Ohio Valley Conference, Tennessee Tech had been placed on probation in October of 1961.

Wichita was reprimanded by the NCAA council for violating recruiting provisions by utilizing the services of a professional talent scout in New York and providing the scout with an expense-paid trip to the university at the time the prospective athlete made his visit.

Millersville, a school with an enrollment of 2,100, was censured for permitting its athletic director and football coach to participate in the conduct and administration of a high school all-star football game last August. The game was not certified by either the appropriate state high school association or the NCAA.

Larry Hughes' Bonnie Abbe, after one effort in the Grade B competition, comes back to the Grade A's tonight as she joins the top speedsters at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club in the featured ninth race.

Her grade B effort was a win last Friday night as she coursed the Peak Course in a time of 32.58 to finish ahead of Zawn, Aspired and Spotted Stranger.

Tonight, it is top company for Bonnie Abbe as she is joined by the Shamrock Kennel's Tommie Logan, Cen-Tex Kennel's Directly, C. W. Wilson's Ski Lady, Alderson and Lentz's Tit Tat Twirl, George Murphey's Doctor Rue and Don Abernathy's Stuffer.

Monday night saw the 5-2 daily double come in for the third time this season with a pay-off of $81.20. The daily double has seen several combinations come in for the pay-off a couple of times this season but the 5-2 is the only combination to make it three times. There has been a 1-3 combination in for four pay-offs during the current meet.

In the third race Monday night, it was Krispy Gal and Bobby Zip that brought in the 6-8 combination for the high quiniela pay-off of the night at $139.80, while Krispy Gal had an across the board pay-off of $46.80, $10.20 and $6.40.

Rolling Russ in the seventh race had an across the board pay-off of $26.40, $10.80 and $5.40 along with Aggrivated at $12.60 and $6.40 that made the 2-7 quiniela pay the second highest money for the night at $102.20.

Post time for the first race tonight is 7:30 p.m.

Pheasant Season Set in Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Hunters in states where hunting seasons have had to be deferred because of drought conditions were advised by Nebraska Game Commission Director Mel Steen Monday that Nebraska's pheasant season, longest in the nation, will open next Saturday as scheduled.

Game commission technicians were described as optimistic about the pheasant season in the state.

"We have a good nesting season," Steen reported. "There are plenty of birds and there should be a lot of happy hunters."

Tag-Team Match Highlights Pro Wrestling Card Tonight

Another lineup of new professional wrestling stars will be at the City Auditorium tonight in the season's second star-studded mat card. The first of four bouts will start at 8:30 p.m. and tickets are available at the Auditorium box office.

The only returnee from last week's exciting show will be Rocky Smith, who proved popular with the crowd altho ending his match with roughneck Johnny Long with no decision. The two had to seperated by police when the match ended up outside the ring.

All others are new to this area.

The feature bout will be a tag-team match for two out of three falls with an hour time limit. This will have Smith teaming with Danny Little Bear, a 226-pound Indian from Oklahoma. Facing them will be two villians of the ring, 220-pound Bill Fletcher of Seattle and 218-pound Jose Montero, a bearded badman from Havana, Cuba.

Also on the card is a semi-main event with Chicago's Rudy Kay going against Danny Loas of Denver in three falls with an hour limit. There will be two preliminaries with Fletcher testing Little Bear in the opener, and Smith matching holds with Montero. Both of these bouts are scheduled for one fall with a 15-minute time limit.

Kay comes to professional wrestling quite naturally in that his father was a big name in the business in the Chicago-Detroit area and he taught young Rudy all he needs to know. Loas is the son of another popular wrestler of this region and he hopes to make a name for himself in the future.

It will be experience against youth in the other prelim with Fletcher calling on the knowledge of 15 years in pro wrestling and Little Bear a relative newcomer. Fletcher has seen action in many of the nation's top arenas and has held the Pacific Coast heavyweight championship while working out of Portland, Ore.

Little Bear is one of the strongest young wrestlers around. He has a well-proportioned body and has lifted 500 pounds with a press lift. He has three years of experience.

ATLANTA (AP)—"We've had actual game losses which hurt us worse, but few games overall have ever left us feeling so badly," said Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech today as his team tried to adjust to the loss of end Ted Davis.

Rawson was released from Emory University Hospital Monday night.

Davis said he was resigning to save Tech "the embarrassment of kicking me off the football squad."

"I hope David Rawson will try to forgive this terrible thing that I did in anger," the 21-year-old Memphis, Tenn., senior continued. "I pray that God will help me to control my emotions in the future."

Dodd accepted Davis' resignation and said the end will play no more football at Tech. However, the Tech coach praised Davis for admitting his mistake and said Davis would remain in school.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan expressed disappointment that Davis was resigning. He said Rawson "holds no ill will toward him and he doesn't owe us an apology."

Davis was ejected from the game following the incident and Tech was penalized 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Doctors checked the 20-year-old Rawson thoroughly to determine that he had not sustained permanent damage.

Yankees' Ralph Houk Named Manager of Year

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk, probably the major leagues' No. 1 exponent of the power of positive thinking, was selected as the American League's manager of the year today by the United Press International.

The cigar-smoking, 45-year old manager of the New York Yankees was named by a committee of 24 baseball experts representing every city in the majors.

For winning his third straight American League pennant despite injuries to sluggers Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, Houk was named by 16 of the experts. Charlie Dressen, who took over the Detroit Tigers in mid-season and led them to a fifth-place finish, received five votes and Al Lopez, manager of the second place Chicago White Sox, received three.

The Yankees were overwhelming pre-season favorites to win the AL flag almost as easily as they did. But it is doubtful whether the experts would have rated them so highly had they known both Mantle and Maris would suffer so many injuries.

It was a gnawing, day-to-day situation but Houk never lost his aplomb. Ever the optimist, he simply tinkered with his outfield, let his brilliant defensive infield remain intact and maintained a steady pitching rotation. The 1963 Yankees weren't the "window breakers" of some previous years but the combination of outstanding defense, solid pitching and "enough punch" proved too much for their rivals to handle.

What could have been a season in which the Yankees "scrambled" to a pennant, instead turned out to be a romp.

Houk succeeded Casey Stengel following the 1960 World Series which the Yankees lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Under Houk, the Yankees beat the Cincinnati Reds in a five-game series in 1961 and defeated the San Francisco Giants in a seven-game series in 1962. Ralph's 1963 campaign ended on an embarrassing note when his Yankees lost the series to the Los Angeles Dodgers in four consecutive games.

Accused Fixer Out on Bond

Wilkinson, Tony Lorck WAC Best

DENVER (AP)—Tom Wilkinson, Wyoming quarterback, and Tony Lorick, Arizona State fullback, both were named today as Back of the Week in the Western Athletic Conference for their parts in their teams' victories Saturday.

Dick Barry, Wyoming center, was chosen Lineman of the Week for his performance as the Cowboys walloped Brigham Young 41-14.

WAC Commissioner Paul W. Brechler said his office, in making the weekly selections from nominations from conference schools and game reports, were unable to separate Wilkinson and Lorick.

Wilkinson, a sophomore from Greybull, Wyo., had won Back of the Week honors twice earlier this season, and Lorick, 200-pound senior from Los Angeles, received the honor last week.

Wilkinson completed six of seven passes for 120 yards and two touchdowns against BYU and scored a touchdown himself. As the conference's leader in total offense, he has thrown 37 completed passes for 576 yards and seven touchdowns. Wilkinson has connected for at least one touchdown pass in every game this season.

Lorick had another big night as the Sun Devils blanked Texas Western 27-0. He carried the ball 21 times for 176 yards and completed one of two passes for 13 years.

Lorick, who is the WAC rushing leader by a wide margin, also was strong on defense. He intercepted an enemy pass, deflected another and made three unassisted tackles.

CLAIM 'CUPID' IS UNFAIR—Susan Benedetti (left) and Jeanine D'Angelo are two working girls with a problem. The 18-year-old secretaries complained they were turned down at Chicago's City Hall when they applied to be cadets' dates for the big Army-Air Force football dance, Nov. 2. Jeanine wrote to the White House about being "rankly discriminated against" by City Hall which she said advised "It's just for college girls." Col. Jack Reilly, mayor's aide and "chief cupid" for the affair planned for about 5,000 cadets, denied working girls were being cut out in date matching, adding they just have too many applications.

Wrestling Tradition Keeps Big Eight Tops in Country

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Big Eight Conference wrestling teams have dominated the national collegiate team and individual championships for 34 years. What is their secret?

"It started with the traditions built by Ed Gallagher at Oklahoma State and Hugo Otopalik of Iowa State," said Coach Harold Nichols of I-State at the first annual meeting of conference wrestling coaches Monday.

"Wrestling is a big sport in the small towns of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Iowa," said Myron Roderick, O-State coach. "Many of the coaches wrestled under Gallagher, Otopalik and others."

"Oklahoma had to build up its wrestling in an effort to match Oklahoma State's program," said Tommy Evans, Oklahoma coach. "If all the O-U and OSU wrestlers were at one school in Oklahoma, it probably wouldn't be as strong as either of our schools now. It's the competition."

"It's a major sport at OSU and my boys don't want to show their faces if they get beat," he said. "Everybody knows the results of the match. We could sell 15,000 tickets to any O-U-OSU match if we had room."

Roach Takes on Burden Of Leading Green Bay

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quarterback Bart Starr's injury thrusts a back-braking burden on John Roach, a 30-year-old benchwarmer, in Green Bay's bid for a third straight National Football League title.

Roach, who has completed only two of seven passes as a standin for Starr and has had three intercepted, joins King Hill and Lamar McHan as former Chicago — now St. Louis — Cardinals who suddenly have become No. 1 quarterbacks.

Hill moved into the front row at Philadelphia after Sonny Jurgensen suffered a right shoulder injury in Sunday's game with the Baltimore Colts, finally decided to join the San Francisco 49ers and passed them to their first victory of the season Sunday, an upset over the Chicago Bears. He replaced the injured John Brodie.

Starr suffered a broken right hand in the Packers' 30-7 victory over the Cardinals. He was injured in the third period when he ran with the ball and was bounced out of bounds by the Cards' Jimmy Hill.

A fist - swinging incident followed and Hill was put out of the game. The injury to Starr's hand reportedly occurred when he hit the ground before the fight. Hill claimed Starr had kicked him while both were on the ground.

With Starr out for possibly six weeks, Coach Vince Lombardi found himself with only Roach, a 6-foot-4 former Southern Methodist ace, as his lone quarterback. Roach had been drafted No. 3 by the old Cardinals in 1956. He spent the next two years in the service but saw plenty of service in both 1959 and 1960. Traded to Green Bay in 1961, he threw only 16 passes in two years before this season.

Although Starr has been erratic this year and has been intercepted 10 times, he has thrown eight touchdown passes and completed 50.7 per cent of his tosses. It was Starr, generally conceded to be an underrated quarterback, who led the Packers to the league championship in 1961 and 1962, beating the New York Giants in the playoffs.

Lombardi prefers to concentrate on one quarterback, giving the signal-caller control of the offense. In such a situation, the No. 2 man, Roach, had little chance to play.

Green Bay drafted a quarterback, Dennis Claridge of Nebraska, last December as a "future." Claridge still had a year to go at Nebraska.

The Packers had a rookie quarterback in camp last summer. Terry Zang, a 6-foot, 185-pounder from Drake who was signed as a free agent, was cut in late August.

Looking over the field of available quarterbacks, Lombardi might want to consider Ralph Guglielmi, the former Notre Dame star who was released by the Giants after he refused to report to San Francisco.

Starr's injury probably will assure a tight race down to the wire in the Western Conference of the NFL where the Packers and Chicago Bears are tied for the lead with 5-1 records. After losing the opener to the Bears, Green Bay came back and won five in a row.

No Surprise For Halas In Defeat

CHICAGO (UPI) — George Halas was neither happy nor surprised today that his Chicago Bears no longer were the unbeaten leaders of the National Football League's Western Division race.

"I never thought we were going to go unbeaten the whole season," he said, "and you never know where you're going to lose. But you know that you're going to, and so is everybody else."

The Bears deserved to be beaten by San Francisco, he said, because "they (Forty Niners) were arosued and we were flat."

"It was a combination of circumstances which invariably will produce an unexpected result. Then the press ridiculed them and helped to arouse them. It was not a case of overconfidence on our part, because we respect everybody we play.

"But unconsciously players can experience a letdown, and once your relaxed, it's hard to come back."

Halas saw some gleam for future hope, even in defeat, since he said he would need do nothing this week to prepare the Bears mentally for Sunday's outing with Philadelphia, one of the two Eastern Division teams on the schedule.

"Naturally our players are depressed after that loss," he said, "but they believe in themselves firmly and have great pride in accomplishment. I think the loss will take care of our attitude for next week."

Yankees' Ralph Houk Named Manager of Year

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk, probably the major leagues' No. 1 exponent of the power of positive thinking, was selected as the American League's manager of the year today by the United Press International.

The cigar-smoking, 45-year old manager of the New York Yankees was named by a committee of 24 baseball experts representing every city in the majors.

For winning his third straight American League pennant despite injuries to sluggers Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, Houk was named by 16 of the experts. Charlie Dressen, who took over the Detroit Tigers in mid-season and led them to a fifth-place finish, received five votes and Al Lopez, manager of the second place Chicago White Sox, received three.

The Yankees were overwhelming pre-season favorites to win the AL flag almost as easily as they did. But it is doubtful whether the experts would have rated them so highly had they known both Mantle and Maris would suffer so many injuries.

It was a gnawing, day-to-day situation but Houk never lost his aplomb. Ever the optimist, he simply tinkered with his outfield, let his brilliant defensive infield remain intact and maintained a steady pitching rotation. The 1963 Yankees weren't the "window breakers" of some previous years but the combination of outstanding defense, solid pitching and "enough punch" proved too much for their rivals to handle.

What could have been a season in which the Yankees "scrambled" to a pennant, instead turned out to be a romp.

Houk succeeded Casey Stengel following the 1960 World Series which the Yankees lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Under Houk, the Yankees beat the Cincinnati Reds in a five-game series in 1961 and defeated the San Francisco Giants in a seven-game series in 1962. Ralph's 1963 campaign ended on an embarrassing note when his Yankees lost the series to the Los Angeles Dodgers in four consecutive games.

Wilkinson, Tony Lorck WAC Best

DENVER (AP)—Tom Wilkinson, Wyoming quarterback, and Tony Lorick, Arizona State fullback, both were named today as Back of the Week in the Western Athletic Conference for their parts in their teams' victories Saturday.

Dick Barry, Wyoming center, was chosen Lineman of the Week for his performance as the Cowboys walloped Brigham Young 41-14.

WAC Commissioner Paul W. Brechler said his office, in making the weekly selections from nominations from conference schools and game reports, were unable to separate Wilkinson and Lorick.

Wilkinson, a sophomore from Greybull, Wyo., had won Back of the Week honors twice earlier this season, and Lorick, 200-pound senior from Los Angeles, received the honor last week.

Wilkinson completed six of seven passes for 120 yards and two touchdowns against BYU and scored a touchdown himself. As the conference's leader in total offense, he has thrown 37 completed passes for 576 yards and seven touchdowns. Wilkinson has connected for at least one touchdown pass in every game this season.

Lorick had another big night as the Sun Devils blanked Texas Western 27-0. He carried the ball 21 times for 176 yards and completed one of two passes for 13 years.

Lorick, who is the WAC rushing leader by a wide margin, also was strong on defense. He intercepted an enemy pass, deflected another and made three unassisted tackles.

Accused Fixer Out on Bond

CLAIM 'CUPID' IS UNFAIR—Susan Benedetti (left) and Jeanine D'Angelo are two working girls with a problem. The 18-year-old secretaries complained they were turned down at Chicago's City Hall when they applied to be cadets' dates for the big Army-Air Force football dance, Nov. 2. Jeanine wrote to the White House about being "rankly discriminated against" by City Hall which she said advised "It's just for college girls." Col. Jack Reilly, mayor's aide and "chief cupid" for the affair planned for about 5,000 cadets, denied working girls were being cut out in date matching, adding they just have too many applications.

Wrestling Tradition Keeps Big Eight Tops in Country

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Big Eight Conference wrestling teams have dominated the national collegiate team and individual championships for 34 years. What is their secret?

"It started with the traditions built by Ed Gallagher at Oklahoma State and Hugo Otopalik of Iowa State," said Coach Harold Nichols of I-State at the first annual meeting of conference wrestling coaches Monday.

"Wrestling is a big sport in the small towns of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Iowa," said Myron Roderick, O-State coach. "Many of the coaches wrestled under Gallagher, Otopalik and others."

"Oklahoma had to build up its wrestling in an effort to match Oklahoma State's program," said Tommy Evans, Oklahoma coach. "If all the O-U and OSU wrestlers were at one school in Oklahoma, it probably wouldn't be as strong as either of our schools now. It's the competition."

"It's a major sport at OSU and my boys don't want to show their faces if they get beat," he said. "Everybody knows the results of the match. We could sell 15,000 tickets to any O-U-OSU match if we had room."

Roach Takes on Burden Of Leading Green Bay

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quarterback Bart Starr's injury thrusts a back-braking burden on John Roach, a 30-year-old benchwarmer, in Green Bay's bid for a third straight National Football League title.

Roach, who has completed only two of seven passes as a standin for Starr and has had three intercepted, joins King Hill and Lamar McHan as former Chicago — now St. Louis — Cardinals who suddenly have become No. 1 quarterbacks.

Hill moved into the front row at Philadelphia after Sonny Jurgensen suffered a right shoulder injury in Sunday's game with the Baltimore Colts, finally decided to join the San Francisco 49ers and passed them to their first victory of the season Sunday, an upset over the Chicago Bears. He replaced the injured John Brodie.

Starr suffered a broken right hand in the Packers' 30-7 victory over the Cardinals. He was injured in the third period when he ran with the ball and was bounced out of bounds by the Cards' Jimmy Hill.

A fist - swinging incident followed and Hill was put out of the game. The injury to Starr's hand reportedly occurred when he hit the ground before the fight. Hill claimed Starr had kicked him while both were on the ground.

With Starr out for possibly six weeks, Coach Vince Lombardi found himself with only Roach, a 6-foot-4 former Southern Methodist ace, as his lone quarterback. Roach had been drafted No. 3 by the old Cardinals in 1956. He spent the next two years in the service but saw plenty of service in both 1959 and 1960. Traded to Green Bay in 1961, he threw only 16 passes in two years before this season.

Although Starr has been erratic this year and has been intercepted 10 times, he has thrown eight touchdown passes and completed 50.7 per cent of his tosses. It was Starr, generally conceded to be an underrated quarterback, who led the Packers to the league championship in 1961 and 1962, beating the New York Giants in the playoffs.

Lombardi prefers to concentrate on one quarterback, giving the signal-caller control of the offense. In such a situation, the No. 2 man, Roach, had little chance to play.

Green Bay drafted a quarterback, Dennis Claridge of Nebraska, last December as a "future." Claridge still had a year to go at Nebraska.

The Packers had a rookie quarterback in camp last summer. Terry Zang, a 6-foot, 185-pounder from Drake who was signed as a free agent, was cut in late August.

Looking over the field of available quarterbacks, Lombardi might want to consider Ralph Guglielmi, the former Notre Dame star who was released by the Giants after he refused to report to San Francisco.

Starr's injury probably will assure a tight race down to the wire in the Western Conference of the NFL where the Packers and Chicago Bears are tied for the lead with 5-1 records. After losing the opener to the Bears, Green Bay came back and won five in a row.

No Surprise For Halas In Defeat

CHICAGO (UPI) — George Halas was neither happy nor surprised today that his Chicago Bears no longer were the unbeaten leaders of the National Football League's Western Division race.

"I never thought we were going to go unbeaten the whole season," he said, "and you never know where you're going to lose. But you know that you're going to, and so is everybody else."

The Bears deserved to be beaten by San Francisco, he said, because "they (Forty Niners) were arosued and we were flat."

"It was a combination of circumstances which invariably will produce an unexpected result. Then the press ridiculed them and helped to arouse them. It was not a case of overconfidence on our part, because we respect everybody we play.

"But unconsciously players can experience a letdown, and once your relaxed, it's hard to come back."

Halas saw some gleam for future hope, even in defeat, since he said he would need do nothing this week to prepare the Bears mentally for Sunday's outing with Philadelphia, one of the two Eastern Division teams on the schedule.

"Naturally our players are depressed after that loss," he said, "but they believe in themselves firmly and have great pride in accomplishment. I think the loss will take care of our attitude for next week."

How long would $25,000 last?

It seems like a lot of money—more probably than you have ever had in cash at one time. But from the viewpoint of a widow with three young children, the question is not how much but how long. How long would it provide food, clothing, shelter and the other basic necessities of life? Would it bridge those important years when the children need their mother's full-time love and care?

Viewed from this standpoint, the $25,000 begins to shrink. Earning 4% and paid at the rate of $300 a month, it would last only 8 years; at the rate of $400 a month, just under 6 years.

This approach to financial security provides a practical measuring rod for life insurance. If you'd like to check how much income your life insurance would produce and for how long, just ask the Man from Manufacturers. He has a measuring device called a Security Graph that will help you view the life insurance you now own in a new light—no obligation of course.

Self-Restraint Seen In Trade Restriction

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy assured the world today that the United States "will continue to follow a national policy of self-restraint in the use of restrictions (on trade) and of confidence in our trading partners to do the same."

He gave that assurance in a letter of transmittal preceding the seventh annual report to Congress on the trade agreements program.

However, the President continued, "The United States will continue to press for the removal of all restrictions that hinder our exports . . . this is the policy laid down by the Trade Expansion Act. Our adherence to it is essential to the maintenance of the upward course of free world trade described in this report."

The 61-page report itself was a dry review of world trade events during the year, centering on negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs Trade and various other meetings during the year.

Church Is Home Of the Weak, Cardinal Says

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago told the Vatican Ecumenical Council today it should proclaim the Roman Catholic Church "the home of the weak and the refuge of those who experience difficulties."

The Chicago archbishop spoke to more than 2,000 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica as they continued debate on the place of the laity in the structure of the Church.

A council press spokesman, paraphrasing Cardinal Meyer's remarks, said he approved in broad terms a chapter on the laity in the schema de ecclesia, a theological study of the Church. But the spokesman said Cardinal Meyer expressed a feeling that the chapter was inadequate in discussing man as a sinner.

"We are all sinners," the cardinal was paraphrased as saying. "Despite baptism we still carry the consequences of the original sin."

The chapter should stress there is need to lead a true Christian life, taking into account the contradictions in everyday life in which "man must fight between heavenly and earthly impulses," the cardinal said.

"If the schema is really aimed at touching the heart of man it would contain a paragraph proclaiming that the Church is the home of the weak and the refuge of those who experience difficulties."

Besides discussing the laity, the council fathers approved two amendments to a chapter of the divine office in a schema of liturgy. The divine office or breviary comprises prayers recited daily by priests.

One amendment inserts a statement that Christ is carrying on his mission in the world, not only in the Eucharist but also on the recitation of prayers. The second stresses that that there is full identity between the official prayers of the Church and the prayers taught by Jesus Christ.

The first amendment was approved by a vote of 2,151 to 8, with four invalid ballots. The other won 2,009 to 12, with one invalid ballot. Eleven other amendments remain to be voted on during the week.

The breviary now takes about 90 minutes to read each day. Soon it may be shortened and changed from Latin to vernacular languages.

Division Poised For Historic Atlantic Hop

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — A "let's get going" mood gripped this sprawling tank base today as the 13,500 men of the crack 2nd Armored Division poised for the start of the historic "Exercise Big Lift" to West Germany.

The lead jet C135 bearing Maj. Gen. Edwin H. Burba, the "Hell on Wheels" division commander, and his headquarters was due to take off at one minute past midnight Monday.

From then on, for three days, jet, turbo-prop and propeller-driven transports will ferry a stream of battle-dressed U.S. soldiers across the Atlantic 5,600 miles from deep in the heart of Texas to the heart of West Germany.

Other planes of the Military Air Transport Service (mats) will be lifting artillery and truck outfits from Ft. Sill, Okla., Ft. Eustis, Va., and Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The Air Force will send a composite strike force of 116 jet fighters, reconnaissance planes and transports across the Atlantic from Loring Air Force Base in Maine and Westover Air Force Base, Mass. to forward airfields in France and Germany.

This will be the biggest, and in many ways the most significant, airlift operation in history.

All told, 16,000 Army and Air Force men and more than 350 planes will span the Atlantic in a demonstration of this country's growing ability to quickly reinforce the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The exercise is important diplomatically as well as militarily.

The Kennedy administration seems to have been setting the stage for a possible withdrawal of sizable forces from the 250,000-man Army garrison and the strong tactical air power the United States has had arrayed in Western Europe for years.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric pointed in that direction Saturday night in a Chicago speech in which he spoke of "Big Lift" and said: "There lies ahead of the U.S. military establishment a series of evolutionary changes in the composition and disposition of its military units stationed overseas."

When the 2nd Armored Division reaches Germany, landing at three bases in the Frankfort area, its units will move to depots and draw more than 27,000 tons of tanks, artillery, trucks and armored troop carriers from stockpiles.

The marrying of lightly armed men shipped from the United States to heavy equipment stockpiles in Europe is one of the test objectives of "Big Lift."

After drawing this heavy gear, the division will head for a week of maneuvers with other U.S. forces manning defenses along the Iron Curtain.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance are expected in Germany next week for a first-hand look at the way the division and the composite air strike force perform.

After the war games along one of the main invasion approaches from East Germany, the 2nd Armored Division will turn in its heavy equipment and return home to this 207,000-acre post.

Additional U.S. Artillery Is Going to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Additional modern artillery, including nuclear missiles and rockets, is going to Europe and the Pacific to further build up battlefield strength of the ground forces, the Army announced today.

It said additional Sergeant missiles—nuclear weapons with a range of about 75 miles—are being stationed in Europe.

The Army also said it is deploying an improved version of the Honest John rocket, with a range of 15 to 20 miles, and "larger numbers of nuclear warheads" for the eight-inch Howitzer artillery.

A new 175 mm non-nuclear self-propelled gun also is being sent to forces in Europe and the Pacific.

"This program, which the U.S. has discussed with its Allies, will produce an over-all increase in the quality and quantity of artillery fire power," the statement said.

It contained no totals on the number of weapons involved.

The announcement made no mention of nor gave any indication that the United States is beginning to consider the eventual reduction of American forces stationed in Europe and elsewhere overseas.

A buildup in fire power, such as that announced today, could be a preliminary step toward reduction of manpower without corresponding reduction in hitting strength of ground forces.

BREW IN GRAVEYARD

ACTON, England (UPI) — A brewing company said today it had turned down the Rev. Richard Parsons' offer to open a beer garden in his Anglican church graveyard here.

"We were flabbergasted," a brewery spokesman said. "But we turned it down because it might tarnish our image."

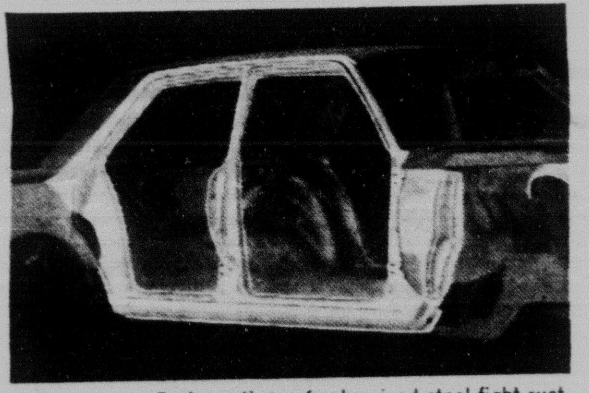
EXTRA VALUE! Up-to-the-roof Deep-Dip rustproofing

EXTRA VALUE! Luxurious deep-coil seat springs

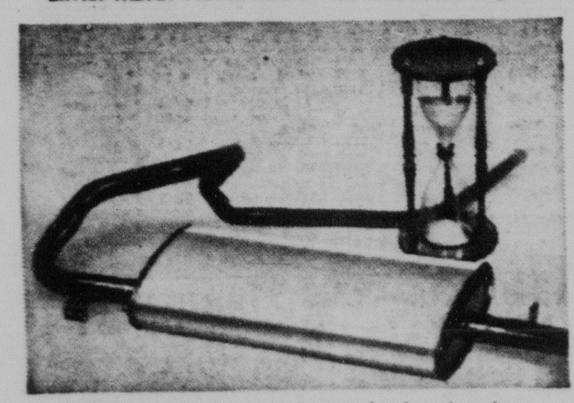
EXTRA VALUE! Curved-glass side windows

EXTRA VALUE! Travel Rack on most Rambler wagons



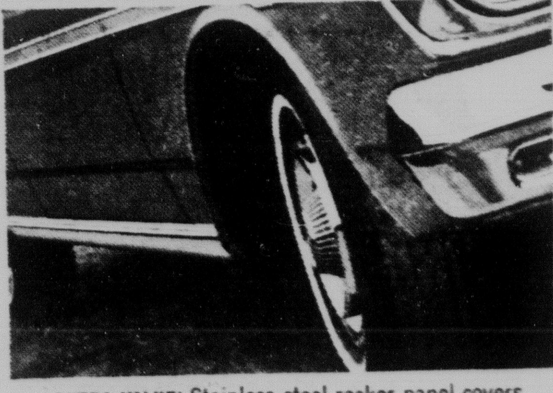
EXTRA VALUE! Body sections of galvanized steel fight rust

EXTRA VALUE! Double-Safety Brake System



EXTRA VALUE! Ceramic-Armored exhaust system

EXTRA VALUE! Cushioned Acoustical Ceiling cuts road noise



EXTRA VALUE! Stainless-steel rocker panel covers

-but it wouldn't be a Rambler

WE COULD save a lot of money by leaving out extra values that benefit owners.

We could simply spray on rust-proofing as many others do.

But then, Rambler owners might have rust problems as serious as those of other car owners. That's why, after spraying on the rust-proofing paint-bond solution, we dip each Rambler body right up to the roof in a thick chromate primer-paint bath that gets into places spraying can't reach.

We could eliminate rust fighting galvanized steel in vital body parts.

We could save still more by using the flat, formed-wire seat springs most other cars use. But for your comfort, 1964 Ramblers have deep-coil springs in all seat cushions.

We could economize with flat glass in side windows. Instead, we use curved-glass as featured in luxury cars. They not only look smarter; they permit door openings you don't have to duck through.

We could charge extra for Roof-Top Travel Racks on all wagons. Others do, but roof racks are standard on 5 of Rambler's 6 wagons.

For your safety we put Double-Safety Brakes on all Ramblers. Two separate systems, they stop when ordinary brakes would fail.

An almost endless list of such extra values are built into Ramblers. Among these: exclusive Ceramic-Armored muffler, exhaust and tail pipes for long life; exclusive Cushioned Acoustical Ceiling of molded fiber glass in Classic, Ambassador cuts road noise 30%; handsome stainless-steel covers protect rocker panels on 21 Rambler models.

Such extra values have switched over 2 million owners to Rambler. Rambler is more than a different size of car—it's a better kind . . . an ideal balance of all the considerations that go into designing an automobile.

Rambler removes the wasteful excesses—like bulky hard-to-park overhang and over-thirsty engines—and replaces them with handling ease and maneuverability plus sparkling performance with famed Rambler economy.

Rambler retains things motorists want, like stretch-out room for six passengers—and attractive styling in every model.

Because when you talk, we listen . . . then find ways to fulfill needs car owners tell us about, needs other car makers leave unsatisfied.

That's how Rambler came into being in the first place . . . how it caused such a trend that already one-third of all cars sold in this country are compacts . . . with Rambler the top-selling make of them all.

We think Rambler's leadership is proof of an obviously better value. We'd like you to see for yourself. Let your dealer show you the three kinds of cars below—each different from the other, all beautifully new for '64, all filled with Rambler's extra values.

Compare how much more you get in a Rambler, then consider this:

Rambler offers the lowest-priced cars built in America

Lowest-priced 2-door sedan, American 220
Lowest-priced 4-door sedan, American 220
Lowest-priced 4-door wagon, American 220
Lowest-priced convertible, American 440
Lowest-priced 2-door hardtop, American 440

Rambler leads because Rambler listens

The Army also said it is deploying an improved version of the Honest John rocket, with a range of 15 to 20 miles, and "larger numbers of nuclear warheads" for the eight-inch Howitzer artillery.

A new 175 mm non-nuclear self-propelled gun also is being sent to forces in Europe and the Pacific.

"This program, which the U.S. has discussed with its Allies, will produce an over-all increase in the quality and quantity of artillery fire power," the statement said.

It contained no totals on the number of weapons involved.

The announcement made no mention of nor gave any indication that the United States is beginning to consider the eventual reduction of American forces stationed in Europe and elsewhere overseas.

A buildup in fire power, such as that announced today, could be a preliminary step toward reduction of manpower without corresponding reduction in hitting strength of ground forces.

BREW IN GRAVEYARD

ACTON, England (UPI) — A brewing company said today it had turned down the Rev. Richard Parsons' offer to open a beer garden in his Anglican church graveyard here.

"We were flabbergasted," a brewery spokesman said. "But we turned it down because it might tarnish our image."

Church Is Home Of the Weak, Cardinal Says

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago told the Vatican Ecumenical Council today it should proclaim the Roman Catholic Church "the home of the weak and the refuge of those who experience difficulties."

The Chicago archbishop spoke to more than 2,000 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica as they continued debate on the place of the laity in the structure of the Church.

A council press spokesman, paraphrasing Cardinal Meyer's remarks, said he approved in broad terms a chapter on the laity in the schema de ecclesia, a theological study of the Church. But the spokesman said Cardinal Meyer expressed a feeling that the chapter was inadequate in discussing man as a sinner.

"We are all sinners," the cardinal was paraphrased as saying. "Despite baptism we still carry the consequences of the original sin."

The chapter should stress there is need to lead a true Christian life, taking into account the contradictions in everyday life in which "man must fight between heavenly and earthly impulses," the cardinal said.

"If the schema is really aimed at touching the heart of man it would contain a paragraph proclaiming that the Church is the home of the weak and the refuge of those who experience difficulties."

Besides discussing the laity, the council fathers approved two amendments to a chapter of the divine office in a schema of liturgy. The divine office or breviary comprises prayers recited daily by priests.

One amendment inserts a statement that Christ is carrying on his mission in the world, not only in the Eucharist but also on the recitation of prayers. The second stresses that that there is full identity between the official prayers of the Church and the prayers taught by Jesus Christ.

The first amendment was approved by a vote of 2,151 to 8, with four invalid ballots. The other won 2,009 to 12, with one invalid ballot. Eleven other amendments remain to be voted on during the week.

The breviary now takes about 90 minutes to read each day. Soon it may be shortened and changed from Latin to vernacular languages.

EXTRA VALUE! Body sections of galvanized steel fight rust

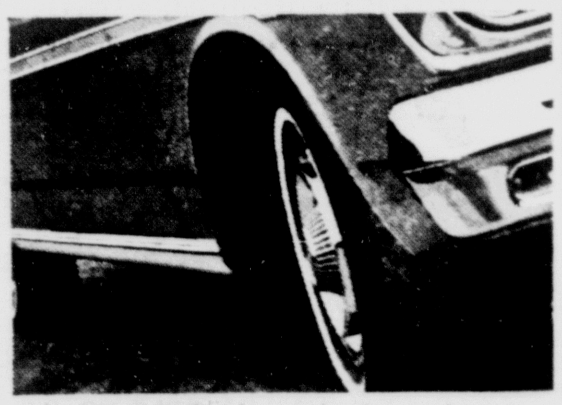
EXTRA VALUE! Ceramic-Armored exhaust system

EXTRA VALUE! Cushioned Acoustical Ceiling cuts road noise



EXTRA VALUE! Stainless-steel rocker panel covers

-but it wouldn't be a Rambler

WE COULD save a lot of money by leaving out extra values that benefit owners.

We could simply spray on rust-proofing as many others do.

But then, Rambler owners might have rust problems as serious as those of other car owners. That's why, after spraying on the rust-proofing paint-bond solution, we dip each Rambler body right up to the roof in a thick chromate primer-paint bath that gets into places spraying can't reach.

We could eliminate rust fighting galvanized steel in vital body parts.

We could save still more by using the flat, formed-wire seat springs most other cars use. But for your comfort, 1964 Ramblers have deep-coil springs in all seat cushions.

We could economize with flat glass in side windows. Instead, we use curved-glass as featured in luxury cars. They not only look smarter; they permit door openings you don't have to duck through.

We could charge extra for Roof-Top Travel Racks on all wagons. Others do, but roof racks are standard on 5 of Rambler's 6 wagons.

For your safety we put Double-Safety Brakes on all Ramblers. Two separate systems, they stop when ordinary brakes would fail.

An almost endless list of such extra values are built into Ramblers. Among these: exclusive Ceramic-Armored muffler, exhaust and tail pipes for long life; exclusive Cushioned Acoustical Ceiling of molded fiber glass in Classic, Ambassador cuts road noise 30%; handsome stainless-steel covers protect rocker panels on 21 Rambler models.

Such extra values have switched over 2 million owners to Rambler. Rambler is more than a different size of car—it's a better kind . . . an ideal balance of all the considerations that go into designing an automobile.

Rambler removes the wasteful excesses—like bulky hard-to-park overhang and over-thirsty engines—and replaces them with handling ease and maneuverability plus sparkling performance with famed Rambler economy.

Rambler retains things motorists want, like stretch-out room for six passengers—and attractive styling in every model.

Because when you talk, we listen . . . then find ways to fulfill needs car owners tell us about, needs other car makers leave unsatisfied.

That's how Rambler came into being in the first place . . . how it caused such a trend that already one-third of all cars sold in this country are compacts . . . with Rambler the top-selling make of them all.

We think Rambler's leadership is proof of an obviously better value. We'd like you to see for yourself. Let your dealer show you the three kinds of cars below—each different from the other, all beautifully new for '64, all filled with Rambler's extra values.

Compare how much more you get in a Rambler, then consider this:

Rambler offers the lowest-priced cars built in America

Lowest-priced 2-door sedan, American 220
Lowest-priced 4-door sedan, American 220
Lowest-priced 4-door wagon, American 220

By MARGUERITE MITCHELL
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

India's Nyantara Sahgal said here Monday that her country was like a "man trying to roller skate up a smooth slope with a time bomb in his hand."

Mme. Sahgal, daughter of Mme. Pandit and niece of Prime Minister Nehru, spoke here at Town Hall on the topic "India and America, my View of Two Worlds."

Comparing the two countries, the Wellesley graduate said India now stands economically where the United States stood 100 years ago.

"Our population is increasing by eight million a year," the best-selling authoress said, "and under-development goes hand-in-hand with over population."

Mme. Sahgal said no other country has the problems her country is now facing, but maintained that India is trying to eliminate these without infringing on the rights of its people.

In explaining how India is combining economic planning with democracy, Mme. Sahgal said "no policy can succeed without the consent of the Indian people."

She pointed out too that the government's policies are dictated by the country's needs.

"But," she added, "we do not try to make a man into a machine. We believe as you, that it is the man that counts."

The hosts were some of the most influential businessmen in America. One man pointed out to Nehru that $20 billion was represented in the room. Her uncle, Mme. Sahgal said, wasn't properly impressed.

Money in India, she explained, is relegated to an unimportant position, reminding the audience that men like Gandhi had no worldly goods but became great and beloved leaders.

Gandhi, she said, believed in love, charity, doing your duty to family, community and country. And Indians considered it a great privilege to be among his followers.

This was why, she said, when the transfer of power from Great Britain took place in 1947, it was done in trust and cooperation and without bitterness.

This was also when the real task began, however, the speaker said, for India was a land of ancient cultures but with practically no industry, and had to be pulled out of stagnation.

This the country is doing by combining democracy with economic planning.

Mme. Sahgal left her listeners with a promise: when India has something as spectacular to show for their efforts as America, "like your country, it too will have been achieved with the consent and cooperation of the people."

"For we are a divergent people like you and we can only live happily in a democracy."

Mme. Sahgal was the first speaker in Town Hall's 1963 lecture series which is under the sponsorship of the Junior League Inc. of Colorado Springs.

Second in the series will be a talk Nov. 18 by Nancy Spain, Great Britain's best-selling author, critic and television personality.

Vandals Shoot Two Holes in Fuel Tank

Two holes were shot in a fuel tank at the Skelly Oil Co. Bulk Plant in Calhan Sunday afternoon or Monday morning, resulting in the loss of 1600 gallons of diesel fuel worth $256, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Newman said the holes were made by bullets from a high powered rifle. Both holes were near the bottom of the tank. All of the fuel drained out of the tank into a ditch, Newman said.

Carson Active In Safety Driving Crusade

Ft. Carson's provost marshal section is cooperating with state authorities thruout the nation in a crusade to decrease automobile accidents thru limiting driving privileges.

Under a reciprocal agreement between the Defense Department, the 50 states and various foreign countries, information will be exchanged concerning driving records of all persons who drive privately-owned vehicles on military reservations.

Developed by the President's Committee for Safety, the Action Program, as it is called, will evaluate driving performances of persons employed by the Department of Defense.

Statistics that show more highway traffic fatalities than the total deaths in all the wars of the United States prove that most accidents result from traffic violations.

The Action Program is aimed at reducing the number of highway accidents by cutting down traffic offenses.

All military personnel, their dependents, Defense Department civilians, their dependents and other civilians who drive on military reservations are affected by AR 190-5, a new regulation on careless driving.

Habitual violators amassing too many traffic offense points in a 24-month period, will lose their driving privileges. Points will be assessed both for on-post violations and those made in every state and some foreign countries. Total number of points overall will determine when the license is to be revoked.

Ft. Carson acts as clearing house for violations in Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and Nebraska. In recent months Lt. Col. Marshall J. Smith, Carson and 5th Division provost marshal, and Lt. Col. George G. Cook, his deputy, briefed law enforcement officers in the four states on new military rules.

'CARIH' CHRISTMAS SHOP TO OPEN —Jimmy Ive, left, Christy Belcher and Tommy Ebbe, are shown playing on exercise bars in an area park—something they couldn't have done two years ago. The hospital is free and admits the sickest intractable asthmatic children from 6 to 15 regardless of race creed or color for treatment and rehabilitation. Area residents can help support the valuable research and care work done at the hospital by supporting the "Christmas Shop", a one day sale to be conducted Nov. 20 at Grace Episcopal Church. View of Two Worlds Told By Speaker From India

By MARGUERITE MITCHELL
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

India's Nyantara Sahgal said here Monday that her country was like a "man trying to roller skate up a smooth slope with a time bomb in his hand."

Mme. Sahgal, daughter of Mme. Pandit and niece of Prime Minister Nehru, spoke here at Town Hall on the topic "India and America, my View of Two Worlds."

Comparing the two countries, the Wellesley graduate said India now stands economically where the United States stood 100 years ago.

"Our population is increasing by eight million a year," the best-selling authoress said, "and under-development goes hand-in-hand with over population."

Mme. Sahgal said no other country has the problems her country is now facing, but maintained that India is trying to eliminate these without infringing on the rights of its people.

In explaining how India is combining economic planning with democracy, Mme. Sahgal said "no policy can succeed without the consent of the Indian people."

She pointed out too that the government's policies are dictated by the country's needs.

"But," she added, "we do not try to make a man into a machine. We believe as you, that it is the man that counts."

The hosts were some of the most influential businessmen in America. One man pointed out to Nehru that $20 billion was represented in the room. Her uncle, Mme. Sahgal said, wasn't properly impressed.

Money in India, she explained, is relegated to an unimportant position, reminding the audience that men like Gandhi had no worldly goods but became great and beloved leaders.

Gandhi, she said, believed in love, charity, doing your duty to family, community and country. And Indians considered it a great privilege to be among his followers.

This was why, she said, when the transfer of power from Great Britain took place in 1947, it was done in trust and cooperation and without bitterness.

This was also when the real task began, however, the speaker said, for India was a land of ancient cultures but with practically no industry, and had to be pulled out of stagnation.

This the country is doing by combining democracy with economic planning.

Mme. Sahgal left her listeners with a promise: when India has something as spectacular to show for their efforts as America, "like your country, it too will have been achieved with the consent and cooperation of the people."

"For we are a divergent people like you and we can only live happily in a democracy."

Mme. Sahgal was the first speaker in Town Hall's 1963 lecture series which is under the sponsorship of the Junior League Inc. of Colorado Springs.

Second in the series will be a talk Nov. 18 by Nancy Spain, Great Britain's best-selling author, critic and television personality.

Vandals Shoot Two Holes in Fuel Tank

Two holes were shot in a fuel tank at the Skelly Oil Co. Bulk Plant in Calhan Sunday afternoon or Monday morning, resulting in the loss of 1600 gallons of diesel fuel worth $256, the sheriff's office reported.

Carson Active In Safety Driving Crusade

Ft. Carson's provost marshal section is cooperating with state authorities thruout the nation in a crusade to decrease automobile accidents thru limiting driving privileges.

Under a reciprocal agreement between the Defense Department, the 50 states and various foreign countries, information will be exchanged concerning driving records of all persons who drive privately-owned vehicles on military reservations.

Developed by the President's Committee for Safety, the Action Program, as it is called, will evaluate driving performances of persons employed by the Department of Defense.

Statistics that show more highway traffic fatalities than the total deaths in all the wars of the United States prove that most accidents result from traffic violations.

The Action Program is aimed at reducing the number of highway accidents by cutting down traffic offenses.

All military personnel, their dependents, Defense Department civilians, their dependents and other civilians who drive on military reservations are affected by AR 190-5, a new regulation on careless driving.

Habitual violators amassing too many traffic offense points in a 24-month period, will lose their driving privileges. Points will be assessed both for on-post violations and those made in every state and some foreign countries. Total number of points overall will determine when the license is to be revoked.

Ft. Carson acts as clearing house for violations in Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and Nebraska. In recent months Lt. Col. Marshall J. Smith, Carson and 5th Division provost marshal, and Lt. Col. George G. Cook, his deputy, briefed law enforcement officers in the four states on new military rules.

'CARIH' CHRISTMAS SHOP TO OPEN —Jimmy Ive, left, Christy Belcher and Tommy Ebbe, are shown playing on exercise bars in an area park—something they couldn't have done two years ago. The hospital is free and admits the sickest intractable asthmatic children from 6 to 15 regardless of race creed or color for treatment and rehabilitation. Area residents can help support the valuable research and care work done at the hospital by supporting the "Christmas Shop", a one day sale to be conducted Nov. 20 at Grace Episcopal Church. NEW YORK (UPI)—Standard & Poor's says that "the outlook for a near-term recovery in sales of shoe manufacturers is considered relatively favorable. The industry was hampered by a number of problems in the forepart of 1963 but indications point to a recovery in shoe output in the final quarter of this year, probably above the year-earlier production of some 150 million pairs."

Investment adviser James Dines says to "remain on full alert, being especially on guard against a decline to 736 in the Dow Jones industrials which will probably trigger a sell signal."

WAITER WAS CROWNED

LONDON (UPI) — Waiters at the Pigalle, a London night club, threatened to strike today because singer Jill Day crowned a waiter with a silver platter full of peas.

Steels Sharp Losers in Market Trade

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were sharp losers as a selling squall struck the stock market today. Many issues recovered above their lows early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

News of federal grand jury subpoenas to major steel companies led to fears that the government might try to roll back steel prices as they did in the spring of 1962, brokers said.

First-hour volume swelled to 1.92 million shares which the New York Stock Exchange said was the biggest since Oct. 19, 1937, when 2.2 million shares were traded in the first hour.

Steels took losses running from 1 to 3 points but pared their worst declines as the session wore on.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.6 to 279.7 with industrials off 2.7, rails off .4 and utilities off .7.

As the undercurrent of recovery widened, Addressograph, Garrett and American Crystal Sugar were up a point or better.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures posted moderate general gains today on the Board of Trade then leveled off somewhat in slow dealings most of the time.

In the early afternoon, soybeans were ahead well over a cent a bushel in what dealers said appeared to be largely a mixed speculative trade.

Reports that corn yields in some scattered Illinois areas were running below expectations imparted some firmness to those prices. Short covering steadied wheat.

Carlot receipts were estimated at: wheat 6 cars, corn 117, oats none, rye 1, barley 8, soybeans 17.

Two Mining Men Face Charges Of Bribery

The complaint, filed for the Justice Department by U.S. Atty. Lawrence Henry, alleges that the two "promoted and maintained an improper relationship" with government negotiators.

Their firm later realized "exorbitant and unconscionable profits" from a government contract calling for the production of 900,000 tons of sub-grade chromite at $34.67 a ton, the petition claims.

The complaint names Estey A. Julian and Frank Eichelberger as managing agents of the former American Chrome Co. of Evanston, Wyo.

The questioned operations occurred in 1951 and 1952, and the petition requests an audit of the company's books for those years.

American Chrome merged last March with Goldfield Corp., which has offices listed in Denver but gives a New York City postal address. The Goldfield firm is not on file in state records as a Colorado corporation.

Henry said he does not know where Julian and Eichelberger are.

The complaint names the federal negotiators as George B. Holderer, chief of the Ferroalloys division of the Defense Materials and Procurement Agency, John L. Lukens, an accountant with the General Services Administration, and Henry Cornell of the contract negotiations division of the defense agency.

Their whereabouts is also unknown to Henry.

The petition accused the mining officials of having been "in constant communication outside normal and proper channels" with the government men.

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swifter jet fighters are poised in Florida. Navy planes watch for large-hatch ships. High-flying U2s cover the island at least once a week.

It is a year to the day since the Cuban missile crisis pulsated to a peak, and the United States has spent the time beefing up its military forces — particularly in Florida and the Caribbean.

The buildup is also global.

In the fall of 1962 the Air Force had about 180 liquid-fuel intercontinental ballistic missiles in place. Now about 460 are combat ready.

The Soviet Union and Cuba face a much stronger and more alert United States than they did on the night of Oct. 22, 1962, when President Kennedy declared to the nation: "I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventuality."

Through the summer of 1962 the United States was aware of a military buildup in Communist Cuba, but its proportions and offensive nature came as a surprise.

Today, Soviet military forces on the island number something over 7,000—about one-third last fall's top strength—and "those remaining are largely engaged in training and advising Cuban units," according to the Pentagon.

Still in Cuba is a formidable array of up-to-date Soviet-supplied tanks, artillery, battlefield rockets, MIG fighters, missile-equipped patrol boats and antiaircraft missiles.

The latest intelligence information indicates there has been no Soviet effort to reintroduce offensive missiles or bombers. The Pentagon says the old missile bases "are still in a state of disrepair." There is no reason to believe, it is indicated, that strategic missiles are stored in caves.

Everything that moves in or around Cuba is under constant reconnaissance. The island is regularly photographed by U2s. The Navy maintains an air and surface patrol around the passages leading toward Cuba's ports. The Guantanamo naval base has been strengthened.

The Army has a Nike Hercules antiaircraft missile battalion and two Hawk air defense missile battalions in the Miami-Homestead Air Force Base area and Key West regions.

A detachment of four F102 jet interceptors at Homestead has been increased to a squadron of 24 faster F104 jets.

More powerful radar is being installed at McCoy Air Force Base in Florida and a squadron of radar picket planes has been added.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

NO BAIL: After leafing through the law books, the Justice Department finds that Vito Genovese, named by informer Joseph Valachi as the boss of the crime syndicate Cosa Nostra, is not eligible for release from prison while his narcotics conviction is reviewed.

A department spokesman gave this opinion after study of the Supreme Court's order Monday that the U.S. Court of Appeals consider the case of Genovese, whom Valachi contended was still ruling the rackets from prison.

The Justice Department said that until the lower courts act, the 1959 narcotics racketeering conviction remains in effect and that Genovese must continue serving his 15-year sentence at Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison.

NO FUSS: Secretary of State Dean Rusk had a face-to-face meeting Monday with the Senate Internal Security subcommittee over the Senate's right to obtain information from State Department aides.

A clash had been expected over the department's plan to fire Otto F. Otepka, but it failed to materialize.

The department accused Otepka, its chief evaluator of personnel security risk, of violating regulations by slipping copies of some secret documents to the subcommittee.

"There was no row," said Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the acting chairman after the two-hour closed meeting.

One result, Dodd said, was that Rusk agreed members of his staff "will be permitted to appear and testify" before the subcommittee at mutually convenient times.

There was no indication, Dodd said, that Rusk would drop charges against Otepka, who is appealing his dismissal.

AID FOR INDIA: The United States is considering giving India material to equip two more mountain divisions but has made no final decision, the State Department reports.

Indian officials indicated over the weekend that Washington has agreed to provide the equipment so that India could increase the number of mountain divisions from six to eight.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Monday the matter had been discussed but no commitment has been made.

UP AGAIN: A $600-billion a year economy appears to be a sure thing by early next year.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers has disclosed a surprising gain of $8.9 billion in the production pace last quarter, boosting national output to a record rate of $588.5 billion a year.

According to the council's "economic indicators" published Monday the summer rise was easily the largest in any quarter since the fall of 1961 when the recovery from the business recession showed its first bloom. A council member, Gardner Ackley, cautioned, that a 1964 recession was still a possibility.

"Unemployment and plant utilization in the quarter in which this new record was set were little better than in the first quarter of 1962. We are barely holding our own."

Two Mining Men Face Charges Of Bribery

The complaint, filed for the Justice Department by U.S. Atty. Lawrence Henry, alleges that the two "promoted and maintained an improper relationship" with government negotiators.

Their firm later realized "exorbitant and unconscionable profits" from a government contract calling for the production of 900,000 tons of sub-grade chromite at $34.67 a ton, the petition claims.

The complaint names Estey A. Julian and Frank Eichelberger as managing agents of the former American Chrome Co. of Evanston, Wyo.

The questioned operations occurred in 1951 and 1952, and the petition requests an audit of the company's books for those years.

American Chrome merged last March with Goldfield Corp., which has offices listed in Denver but gives a New York City postal address. The Goldfield firm is not on file in state records as a Colorado corporation.

Henry said he does not know where Julian and Eichelberger are.

The complaint names the federal negotiators as George B. Holderer, chief of the Ferroalloys division of the Defense Materials and Procurement Agency, John L. Lukens, an accountant with the General Services Administration, and Henry Cornell of the contract negotiations division of the defense agency.

Their whereabouts is also unknown to Henry.

The petition accused the mining officials of having been "in constant communication outside normal and proper channels" with the government men.

LONDON (AP)—The Ministry of Aviation announced Monday it will buy an initial 30 TSR2 supersonic bombers from the British Aircraft Corp. for use by the Royal Air Force.

The TSR2 is a hedge-hopping bomber designed to carry a variety of nuclear weapons, including free fall bombs and four types of missiles.

U.S. Forces Still Poised Against Cuba Trouble

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swifter jet fighters are poised in Florida. Navy planes watch for large-hatch ships. High-flying U2s cover the island at least once a week.

It is a year to the day since the Cuban missile crisis pulsated to a peak, and the United States has spent the time beefing up its military forces — particularly in Florida and the Caribbean.

The buildup is also global.

In the fall of 1962 the Air Force had about 180 liquid-fuel intercontinental ballistic missiles in place. Now about 460 are combat ready.

The Soviet Union and Cuba face a much stronger and more alert United States than they did on the night of Oct. 22, 1962, when President Kennedy declared to the nation: "I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventuality."

Through the summer of 1962 the United States was aware of a military buildup in Communist Cuba, but its proportions and offensive nature came as a surprise.

Today, Soviet military forces on the island number something over 7,000—about one-third last fall's top strength—and "those remaining are largely engaged in training and advising Cuban units," according to the Pentagon.

Still in Cuba is a formidable array of up-to-date Soviet-supplied tanks, artillery, battlefield rockets, MIG fighters, missile-equipped patrol boats and anti-aircraft missiles.

The latest intelligence information indicates there has been no Soviet effort to reintroduce offensive missiles or bombers. The Pentagon says the old missile bases "are still in a state of disrepair." There is no reason to believe, it is indicated, that strategic missiles are stored in caves.

Everything that moves in or around Cuba is under constant reconnaissance. The island is regularly photographed by U2s. The Navy maintains an air and surface patrol around the passages leading toward Cuba's ports. The Guantanamo naval base has been strengthened.

The Army has a Nike Hercules antiaircraft missile battalion and two Hawk air defense missile battalions in the Miami-Homestead Air Force Base area and Key West regions.

A detachment of four F102 jet interceptors at Homestead has been increased to a squadron of 24 faster F104 jets.

More powerful radar is being installed at McCoy Air Force Base in Florida and a squadron of radar picket planes has been added.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

NO BAIL: After leafing through the law books, the Justice Department finds that Vito Genovese, named by informer Joseph Valachi as the boss of the crime syndicate Cosa Nostra, is not eligible for release from prison while his narcotics conviction is reviewed.

A department spokesman gave this opinion after study of the Supreme Court's order Monday that the U.S. Court of Appeals consider the case of Genovese, whom Valachi contended was still ruling the rackets from prison.

The Justice Department said that until the lower courts act, the 1959 narcotics racketeering conviction remains in effect and that Genovese must continue serving his 15-year sentence at Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison.

NO FUSS: Secretary of State Dean Rusk had a face-to-face meeting Monday with the Senate Internal Security subcommittee over the Senate's right to obtain information from State Department aides.

A clash had been expected over the department's plan to fire Otto F. Otepka, but it failed to materialize.

The department accused Otepka, its chief evaluator of personnel security risk, of violating regulations by slipping copies of some secret documents to the subcommittee.

"There was no row," said Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the acting chairman after the two-hour closed meeting.

One result, Dodd said, was that Rusk agreed members of his staff "will be permitted to appear and testify" before the subcommittee at mutually convenient times.

There was no indication, Dodd said, that Rusk would drop charges against Otepka, who is appealing his dismissal.

AID FOR INDIA: The United States is considering giving India material to equip two more mountain divisions but has made no final decision, the State Department reports.

Indian officials indicated over the weekend that Washington has agreed to provide the equipment so that India could increase the number of mountain divisions from six to eight.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Monday the matter had been discussed but no commitment has been made.

UP AGAIN: A $600-billion a year economy appears to be a sure thing by early next year.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers has disclosed a surprising gain of $8.9 billion in the production pace last quarter, boosting national output to a record rate of $588.5 billion a year.

According to the council's "economic indicators" published Monday the summer rise was easily the largest in any quarter since the fall of 1961 when the recovery from the business recession showed its first bloom. A council member, Gardner Ackley, cautioned, that a 1964 recession was still a possibility.

"Unemployment and plant utilization in the quarter in which this new record was set were little better than in the first quarter of 1962. We are barely holding our own."

Belated congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Romitti, who celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary this month and to old time-residents, the Henry Kendricks, whose 49th anniversary was also in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Briggs of Denver and the Arthur Bradleys had dinner together recently at the Roman Villa.

Speaking of dining out, residents noticed at the opening of the Pepper Corn were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ted Finefrock, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bradley and the Kenneth McCalls.

The Robert Schroeders and Sandy and Bobby are leaving soon to make their home in Greeley, to which city Schroeder has been transfered. Their friends and the community are sorry to lose this popular and civic minded couple. Mrs. Schroeder has been secretary and treasurer of the Yule Log Association for a number of years and Robert Schroeder is a Town Councilman.

William McGreevy and Oscar Deaner arrived home last week from a two months' trip east. Following a medical examination which Mr. Deaner underwent at Mayo Clinic, they visited Niagara Falls and a number of relatives in Pennsylvania. En route home they spent their last weekend as houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Beard and son Dick in Wichita, Kan. The Beards are summer residents of Glen Park.

The Harold Harmon family, newcomers, have moved into the house vacated by Mrs. Jacqueline Wright.

Be sure to mark down the date Monday, Oct. 28. This is the night for the Minstral Show to be put on by the Drama Club and the Folk Dancing Club of Palmer Lake Elementary School. The proceeds will go toward building a portable stage for the Palmer Lake School. Don't forget that date, Oct 28, and come and see these talented young people.

Twenty-six members and guests attended the recent Palmer Lake Historical Society meeting. A gift of $100, donated by Walker & Co., Inc. Realtors and the Walker Insurance Agency, Inc., of Colorado Springs was announced by the treasurer, Gilbert Campbell. The next meeting will be held Nov. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Sullivan are the parents of a daughter born Oct. 6, at the Academy Hospital.

Col. Howard Cloud, who has been at the Academy hospital, was released Saturday. He will have to return later for further eye treatment.

Mrs. Fred Steaben, Mrs. Daniel Peddicord, Mrs. Edward Roesken, Mrs. R.M. Hearing Ordered In Bail Dispute

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Supreme Court over-ruled today a Golden District Court ruling denying bail for accused killer Sam Shanks.

The high court ordered that another hearing be held to decide whether Shanks should be admitted to bond.

The decision was handed down by Justice O. Otto Moore.

The court charged that Dist. Judge Christian D. Stoner "did nothing more than 'rubber stamp' the objections of the district attorney to the request for bail."

SHERLOCK HOLMES IS MAKING A COMEBACK

HOLLYWOOD — The indestructable Sherlock Holmes is coming into his own again. Billy Wilder will do the old boy up in a picture with Peter O'Toole, and Josh Logan returns to New York Friday to start rehearsals of a musical version of Holmes called "Baker Street" with Fritz Weaver as the master detective. They'll try it out five weeks in Toronto, six at the Fisher theater in Detroit. I told Josh's wife, Nedda, to be sure and check the powder room of that theater. They have a crystal chandelier above evrry wash bowl. The Logans will miss Missy Martin's Broadway opening, and so will I, but Josh couldn't wind up all his chores on "Ensign Pulver" in time to make it.

June Allyson doesn't fool around when she wants to get married. June and Glenn Maxwell tied the knot three times in three different places. They were wed in Fort Lauderdale, Miami Beach, and aboard the Paul Pollocks' (he owns the Thunderbird Hotel in Miami) yacht. The groom had forgotten his divorce papers and they couldn't have a religious ceremony but they had everything else. June gave up her widow's allowance of $6,000 a month tax free, and it may be years before Dick Powell's will is probated because of the entanglement over Four Star stock. So the barber went right back to his barber shop in Newport Beach to support the little bride.

Inger Stevens promised to give me one of her diet luncheons — oysters on the half shell with champagne — but this girl doesn't have time to uncork a bottle. She's rushing Farmer's Daughter to start "The New Interns" in November. Soon as the picture's finished, it's right back to TV. Says Inger, "I'm happy to do the picture because everybody thinks I speak only with a Swedish accent."

Last week my kookie friend Writer-Producer Deke Hayward began shooting "Laughs for Sale" with Hal March and Cara Williams. It will go on the air tonight, replacing 100 Grand which got the ax after three outings.

Yul Brynner and Burt Lancaster have always liked each other but never worked together. When Lancaster was asked who he'd like to shoot the magazine layouts on "The Train" which he's doing in Paris, he said, "The best photographer of them all — Yul Brynner." Yul has agreed to do it in December.

Otto Preminger's gone bighearted. After Tom Tryon appears at "The Cardinal" premiere in Paris, Otto will pick up the tab for a two weeks' European vacation and maybe some skiing.

All you lady Dodger fans will hate me. Wednesday lunched with Bob Hope and his three guests, Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax, and Tommy Davis.

Lilian Gish flips back and fourth between New York and Hollywood like a bird that's lost its sense of direction. In the past year, she's done two plays in New York, three TV shows here, and spent two months in Switzerland finishing her book. Now she's back with us doing a TV with Walter Pidgeon at Desilu. It's called "Ghu", whatever that means. She didn't know either.

A business man from Boise, Idaho, called for Frank Sinatra's telephone number. Said he had a business proposition. "Not even the President can get Sinatra on the phone," I explained, but I gave him the number of Frank's secretary and told him to take it from there.

Gov. Love Plans To Aid GOP State Campaign

By GORDON G. GAUSS

DENVER (AP) — Colorado's Republican Gov. John A. Love said here he plans to abandon his governor's forums in favor of politics next year and added that he will be available for GOP speaking engagements throughout the Rocky Mountain region.

Love also said "without a doubt, at the moment" Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Love said he has definitely decided to conduct a governor's forum at Sterling Nov. 5 and tenttatively has decided to hold another at Loveland Nov. 25-26.

This, he commented, leaves only two sections of the state in which no forum has been held. One of the sections is a group of eastern Colorado counties and the other is the Denver metropolitan area.

The one-day Sterling meeting is for northeast Colorado counties, Love explained, adding that he hopes Boulder, Weld and Larimer counties can participate in the two-day Loveland meeting.

The evening before the Sterling meeting, Love will speak at a Republican dinner at Julesburg.

Announcing that he plans no forums next year, Love commented, "next year is an election year and the purpose of any forums may get confused."

It is his present intention, he said, to revive the forums in 1965.

Love said he intends to participate actively in the 1964 political campaign even though his own term extends until 1967.

Love added he plans to make himself available for speaking engagements for the Republican party on both the national and state levels. His activities on behalf of the national ticket, he commented, will be primarily in the Rocky Mountain region.

He said he would be glad to speak in nearby states where there are senatorial races if the party feels he can help out. Responding to news conference questions he agreed that such states might include Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah.

The governor refrained from endorsing any presidential canendorsing any presidential candidate although he called Goldwater the front runner for the GOP nomination.

Protest of Tax Not Heard By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to rule on the question whether householders have a right to protest city taxes by stringing clotheslines filled with tattered clothing in the front and side yards of their property.

Dr. and Mrs. Webster Stover used that method of making a "peaceful protest" at their one-family house in a residential section of Rye, N.Y. A city ordinance bans signs, bulletins, billboards and such means of publicizing their grievance.

After being denied various requests for tax relief, the Stovers in 1956 hung out the first line, filled with old clothes and rags. Each year for the next five years, upon further denials of tax relief, they added another clothesline.

In 1961 the city passed an ordinance banning clotheslines on front and side yards, but Stover did not remove his lines. He paid one $25 fine and on a second conviction was sentenced to $100 fine or 30 days in jail. Stover was confined 11 days before being released on $500 bail pending appeals.

Hydrogen Laboratory Visited by Tito

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia toured Monday the $35-million plasma physics laboratory of Princeton University where researchers are attempting to develope a controlled version of the hydrogen bomb.

Tito arrived by motorcade from New York and was greeted by the university president, Dr. Robert F. Goheen; and the former U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, George F. Kennan.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON, — What this country could be in for next year is an exciting, gutter-level campaign, fought out on the basis of such vital national issues as whether President and Mrs. Kennedy have the refined social behavior that a First Family should.

This First Family issue is real serious stuff. No kidding! GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, a shrewd and tough politician, is sure of it. He reports that in his pulse-feeling travels thru the 50 states, he found citizens everywhere, both Democratic and Republicans, upset about the present White House goings-on.

As he gravely told an Eisenhower birthday dinner audience here last week: Everybody everywhere talked "wistfully" about the good old Republican days when Ike and Mamie were in the White House and displayed a sense of propriety, and fitness, and decorum and dignity."

In a nostalgic vein, Miller said those were wonderful, prideful days for the nation, with Ike and Mamie behaving as a proper First Family should. There was no "Sinatra-type infesting" the White House, no twisting in the historic East Ballroom, no "all-night parties in foreign lands."

The Kennedy-tenanted White House was officially silent about these slurs, except to set the record straight on the number of times Frank Sinatra "infested" the executive mansion.

Frank has been an invited guest only twice, once after the 1961 Inaugral Ball, later the same year at a small informal luncheon for the cast of the movie "Advise and Consent."

The other slurs, including those aimed at First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy, were simply labeled "gutter politics" by a spokesman, not worth "dignifying with an answer."

Still, someone may speak up in defense of the Kennedy's, even if they have shown they are extremely capable of taking care of their enemies, partisan or personal. Especially as the Republican National Committee said flatly that Chairman Miller was talking about Jackie when he criticized "all-night parties in foreign lands."

He meant, the committee said, a party which Mrs. Kennedy attended as a guest in Greek waters on the yacht Christina owned by shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

UNKINDLY, UNTIMELY AND UNDESERVEDLY

On this specific count Miller, in our book, has even overstepped the bounds of gutter politics. The country knows, if Miller doesn't, that the First Lady needed a change of scene after enduring the tragic emotional upset of the death of her prematurely born third child in August.

She has been a most proper First Lady wherever she has gone, whether to Greece, India or Pakistan. For that matter, she deserves a big hand for what she has done in the White House itself. With the "sense of propriety" which Miller claimed was lacking, she refurnished it in keeping with American historical tradition for which she will always deserve a nation's thanks.

And when it comes to this business of "decorum and dignity," the present First Family wins out over Miller in an equally significant way. The musicales and receptions in the historic East Room have set a new tone. They may be criticized as a little excessively arty, but who but Miller would dare slur the ballet performances or Pablo Casals' presence.

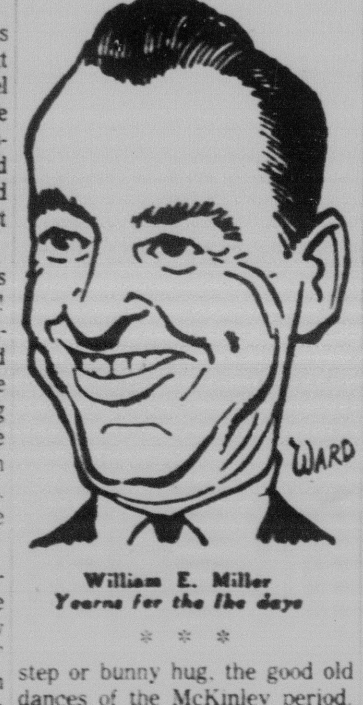
IKE AND MAMIE DUG FRED WARING

Ike and Mamie's taste for music was pretty much plebian. When in the White House, they went for Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians and similar normal and popular music. FDR and Harry Truman had similar lowbrow tendencies, Roosevelt liking best to have Eddie Peabody strum a banjo in the East Room and sing "Yellow Rose of Texas."

What's so shocking, then, about a little highbrow stuff for a change? If a First Family inclines that way, it is a personal and private matter and certainly adds more dignity to what goes on in the East Room than Ike's crooners or FDR's banjo virtuoso.

Chairman Miller's chief obsession about the way the Kennedys have used the East Room is because of the "twisting" that goes on there occasionally but rarely.

What does he want? The Virginia reel? The waltz, presumably, because that is certainly dignified. Miller's knowledge of the twist must come from hearsay. It has no more abandonment in it than the foxtrot, one-step or bunny hug, the good old dances of the McKinley period.



William E. Miller
Yearns for the Ike days

* * *

Perhaps Miller thinks the Republicans should be against the twist because it is a new dance. Or maybe because it is a young folks' whirl, and until 1961 the White House has normally had as tenants a husband and wife First Family team either in or beyond sedate middle age.

IT ISN'T AN OLD FOLKS HOME NOW

This is probably the crux of Miller's case. The Kennedy's are young and act young. That is what annoys him. When Ike and Mamie went into the White House in 1953, they were 62 and 56 respectively. When Jack and Jackie took over in 1963, the President was 43, the First Lady 31.

If at their ages the two Kennedys had tried to copy the social behavior of the Eisenhowers, it would have been a phony performance.

It must be admitted that Miller had an honest right to bring up the Sinatra matter, even if the President crossed him off his buddy list at an early stage.

On the other hand, while Kennedy had his Sinatra, Ike had his Sherman Adams. Miller still needs to explain just how Adams contributed with his Goldfine rugs and vicuna coats to the "decorum and dignity" of the Eisenhower White House.

Capital Calm About Latest Russian Blast

The blast was delivered by Tass, the Soviet news agency, which said the project, aimed at establishing a mixed-crew, Polaris missile-equipped surface fleet in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is in "complete contradiction to the spirit" of the limited nuclear test ban agreement.

The United States and other recipients of the protest replied in June.

"It is preposterous," the American answer said, "to maintain that the Soviet Union should itself be preivileged to deploy nuclear weapons in positions which threaten the cities of Western Europe and to hold that reciprocal measures cannot properly be taken by NATO."

State Department officials declined to comment on the record immediately on the Tass statement .

Red Step Is Proposed By Poland and Ceylon

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The premiers of Poland and Ceylon called today for recognition of the existence of both West Germany and Communist East Germany and their renunciation of all nuclear weapons.

A communique issued by Ceylonese Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike and Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz also called for "restoration" of Communist China's "legitimate rights" in the United Nations.

Lebanon Patrols To Shoot Syrians

The government said the four soldiers were ambushed by Syrian troops inside Lebanon Saturday. There was no comment from the Syrian government.

Cuba Quarantine 'More Proper,' Dennison Claims

By JACK KESTNER

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — One year ago tonight, a large serious-faced man sat in his cabin at Atlantic Fleet headquarters here and listened to the words of his commander in chief emerge from a television set.

"—To halt this offensive buildup, a strict quaratnine on all offensive military equipment under shipment to Cuba is being initiated," said President Kennedy.

The words weren't new to Adm. Robert L. Dennison. He had read them two days earlier at an emergency session with the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

As NATO Atlantic Fleet and U.S. Atlantic Fleet commander, it would be Dennison's responsibility to effect that quarantine —or, if the buildup continued, to take the "further action" referred to by the President.

To accomplish such an alternative, a massive array of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines that at its peak numbered half a million men was being assembled. All were under his direction.

From his office in Washington where today he is an executive for Copley News Service, retired Adm. Dennison reminisced by telephone on that day and the days that followed.

—Advocates of the view "we should have wiped out Castro and communism when we had the excuse" are wrong and are taking a very narrow view of a very broad picture. Getting into Cuba would have been much less a problem than getting out.

—Khrushchev hesitated in ordering his missiles withdrawn simply because he couldn't believe his own intelligence reports—that the United States apparently was willing to risk a war that could grow into a nuclear holocaust.

—Cuba today cannot be considered a Soviet offensive base, although it is being used as a Communist stepping stone into the Western Hemisphere.

—Trade and other restrictions placed on Cuba have imposed an enormous drain on the Soviet economy.

—The limited test-ban treaty might well be one result of our actions taken in Cuba a year ago.

—The Cuban operation as a whole was "a significant milestone in international affairs" and was "very successful."

Dennison believes a quarantine rather than invasion was a proper course for reasons other than it might have backed Khrushchev into a corner from which he could not have emerged without losing face — "The President very astutely gave him a way out."

"In the first place, it would have been impossible to go in there without killing great masses of civilians," Dennison says. "We have many, many friends there.

"In the second place, getting in would have been much less a problem than getting out. How long did it take us to get out of Haiti and Nicaragua once we took over?

"If we had taken over (in Cuba) there was no one party that we could have turned to in the hope that it would represent the country. Instead (as the exiles have shown) there are at least half a dozen parties at odds with one another."

But what would have happened if the missiles hadn't come out?

"We would have had to blast them out," Dennison said.

For one tense day, he said, it looked like this alternative might be forced upon the United States.

"They were completed the day that Khrushchev announced the withdrawal," Dennison recalls. "If he hadn't announced it then, Washington would have been faced with a tough decision—would we go in and blast them out at once, would we wait 24 hours, 48 hours, or what?

"But the main one was a feeling of complete confidence" he said. "I knew I had competent forces under excellent leaders. Not only were our plans feasible and appropriate, we had the means of executing them."

Yul Brynner and Burt Lancaster have always liked each other but never worked together. When Lancaster was asked who he'd like to shoot the magazine layouts on "The Train" which he's doing in Paris, he said, "The best photographer of them all — Yul Brynner." Yul has agreed to do it in December.

Otto Preminger's gone bighearted. After Tom Tryon appears at "The Cardinal" premiere in Paris, Otto will pick up the tab for a two weeks' European vacation and maybe some skiing.

Lilian Gish flips back and fourth between New York and Hollywood like a bird that's lost its sense of direction. In the past year, she's done two plays in New York, three TV shows here, and spent two months in Switzerland finishing her book. Now she's back with us doing a TV with Walter Pidgeon at Desilu. It's called "Ghu", whatever that means. She didn't know either.

Gov. Love Plans To Aid GOP State Campaign

By GORDON G. GAUSS

DENVER (AP) — Colorado's Republican Gov. John A. Love said here he plans to abandon his governor's forums in favor of politics next year and added that he will be available for GOP speaking engagements throughout the Rocky Mountain region.

Love also said "without a doubt, at the moment" Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Love said he has definitely decided to conduct a governor's forum at Sterling Nov. 5 and tenttatively has decided to hold another at Loveland Nov. 25-26.

This, he commented, leaves only two sections of the state in which no forum has been held. One of the sections is a group of eastern Colorado counties and the other is the Denver metropolitan area.

The one-day Sterling meeting is for northeast Colorado counties, Love explained, adding that he hopes Boulder, Weld and Larimer counties can participate in the two-day Loveland meeting.

The evening before the Sterling meeting, Love will speak at a Republican dinner at Julesburg.

Announcing that he plans no forums next year, Love commented, "next year is an election year and the purpose of any forums may get confused."

It is his present intention, he said, to revive the forums in 1965.

Love said he intends to participate actively in the 1964 political campaign even though his own term extends until 1967.

Love added he plans to make himself available for speaking engagements for the Republican party on both the national and state levels. His activities on behalf of the national ticket, he commented, will be primarily in the Rocky Mountain region.

He said he would be glad to speak in nearby states where there are senatorial races if the party feels he can help out. Responding to news conference questions he agreed that such states might include Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah.

The governor refrained from endorsing any presidential candorsing any presidential candidate although he called Goldwater the front runner for the GOP nomination.

Protest of Tax Not Heard By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to rule on the question whether householders have a right to protest city taxes by stringing clotheslines filled with tattered clothing in the front and side yards of their property.

Dr. and Mrs. Webster Stover used that method of making a "peaceful protest" at their one-family house in a residential section of Rye, N.Y. A city ordinance bans signs, bulletins, billboards and such means of publicizing their grievance.

After being denied various requests for tax relief, the Stovers in 1956 hung out the first line, filled with old clothes and rags. Each year for the next five years, upon further denials of tax relief, they added another clothesline.

In 1961 the city passed an ordinance banning clotheslines on front and side yards, but Stover did not remove his lines. He paid one $25 fine and on a second conviction was sentenced to $100 fine or 30 days in jail. Stover was confined 11 days before being released on $500 bail pending appeals.

Hydrogen Laboratory Visited by Tito

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia toured Monday the $35-million plasma physics laboratory of Princeton University where researchers are attempting to develope a controlled version of the hydrogen bomb.

Tito arrived by motorcade from New York and was greeted by the university president, Dr. Robert F. Goheen; and the former U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, George F. Kennan.

William E. Miller
Yearns for the Ike days

WASHINGTON, — What this country could be in for next year is an exciting, gutter-level campaign, fought out on the basis of such vital national issues as whether President and Mrs. Kennedy have the refined social behavior that a First Family should.

This First Family issue is real serious stuff. No kidding! GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, a shrewd and tough politician, is sure of it. He reports that in his pulse-feeling travels thru the 50 states, he found citizens everywhere, both Democratic and Republicans, upset about the present White House goings-on.

As he gravely told an Eisenhower birthday dinner audience here last week: Everybody everywhere talked "wistfully" about the good old Republican days when Ike and Mamie were in the White House and displayed a sense of propriety, and fitness, and decorum and dignity."

In a nostalgic vein, Miller said those were wonderful, prideful days for the nation, with Ike and Mamie behaving as a proper First Family should. There was no "Sinatra-type infesting" the White House, no twisting in the historic East Ballroom, no "all-night parties in foreign lands."

The Kennedy-tenanted White House was officially silent about these slurs, except to set the record straight on the number of times Frank Sinatra "infested" the executive mansion.

Frank has been an invited guest only twice, once after the 1961 Inaugral Ball, later the same year at a small informal luncheon for the cast of the movie "Advise and Consent."

The other slurs, including those aimed at First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy, were simply labeled "gutter politics" by a spokesman, not worth "dignifying with an answer."

Still, someone may speak up in defense of the Kennedy's, even if they have shown they are extremely capable of taking care of their enemies, partisan or personal. Especially as the Republican National Committee said flatly that Chairman Miller was talking about Jackie when he criticized "all-night parties in foreign lands."

He meant, the committee said, a party which Mrs. Kennedy attended as a guest in Greek waters on the yacht Christina owned by shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

UNKINDLY, UNTIMELY AND UNDESERVEDLY

On this specific count Miller, in our book, has even overstepped the bounds of gutter politics. The country knows, if Miller doesn't, that the First Lady needed a change of scene after enduring the tragic emotional upset of the death of her prematurely born third child in August.

She has been a most proper First Lady wherever she has gone, whether to Greece, India or Pakistan. For that matter, she deserves a big hand for what she has done in the White House itself. With the "sense of propriety" which Miller claimed was lacking, she refurnished it in keeping with American historical tradition for which she will always deserve a nation's thanks.

And when it comes to this business of "decorum and dignity," the present First Family wins out over Miller in an equally significant way. The musicales and receptions in the historic East Room have set a new tone. They may be criticized as a little excessively arty, but who but Miller would dare slur the ballet performances or Pablo Casals' presence.

IKE AND MAMIE DUG FRED WARING

Ike and Mamie's taste for music was pretty much plebian. When in the White House, they went for Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians and similar normal and popular music. FDR and Harry Truman had similar lowbrow tendencies, Roosevelt liking best to have Eddie Peabody strum a banjo in the East Room and sing "Yellow Rose of Texas."

What's so shocking, then, about a little highbrow stuff for a change? If a First Family inclines that way, it is a personal and private matter and certainly adds more dignity to what goes on in the East Room than Ike's crooners or FDR's banjo virtuoso.

Chairman Miller's chief obsession about the way the Kennedys have used the East Room is because of the "twisting" that goes on there occasionally but rarely.

What does he want? The Virginia reel? The waltz, presumably, because that is certainly dignified. Miller's knowledge of the twist must come from hearsay. It has no more abandonment in it than the foxtrot, one-step or bunny hug, the good old dances of the McKinley period.

Perhaps Miller thinks the Republicans should be against the twist because it is a new dance. Or maybe because it is a young folks' whirl, and until 1961 the White House has normally had as tenants a husband and wife First Family team either in or beyond sedate middle age.

IT ISN'T AN OLD FOLKS HOME NOW

This is probably the crux of Miller's case. The Kennedy's are young and act young. That is what annoys him. When Ike and Mamie went into the White House in 1953, they were 62 and 56 respectively. When Jack and Jackie took over in 1963, the President was 43, the First Lady 31.

If at their ages the two Kennedys had tried to copy the social behavior of the Eisenhowers, it would have been a phony performance.

It must be admitted that Miller had an honest right to bring up the Sinatra matter, even if the President crossed him off his buddy list at an early stage.

On the other hand, while Kennedy had his Sinatra, Ike had his Sherman Adams. Miller still needs to explain just how Adams contributed with his Goldfine rugs and vicuna coats to the "decorum and dignity" of the Eisenhower White House.

Capital Calm About Latest Russian Blast

The blast was delivered by Tass, the Soviet news agency, which said the project, aimed at establishing a mixed-crew, Polaris missile-equipped surface fleet in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is in "complete contradiction to the spirit" of the limited nuclear test ban agreement.

The United States and other recipients of the protest replied in June.

"It is preposterous," the American answer said, "to maintain that the Soviet Union should itself be preivileged to deploy nuclear weapons in positions which threaten the cities of Western Europe and to hold that reciprocal measures cannot properly be taken by NATO."

State Department officials declined to comment on the record immediately on the Tass statement .

Red Step Is Proposed By Poland and Ceylon

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The premiers of Poland and Ceylon called today for recognition of the existence of both West Germany and Communist East Germany and their renunciation of all nuclear weapons.

A communique issued by Ceylonese Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike and Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz also called for "restoration" of Communist China's "legitimate rights" in the United Nations.

Lebanon Patrols To Shoot Syrians

The government said the four soldiers were ambushed by Syrian troops inside Lebanon Saturday. There was no comment from the Syrian government.

Cuba Quarantine 'More Proper,' Dennison Claims

By JACK KESTNER

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — One year ago tonight, a large serious-faced man sat in his cabin at Atlantic Fleet headquarters here and listened to the words of his commander in chief emerge from a television set.

"—To halt this offensive buildup, a strict quaratnine on all offensive military equipment under shipment to Cuba is being initiated," said President Kennedy.

The words weren't new to Adm. Robert L. Dennison. He had read them two days earlier at an emergency session with the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

As NATO Atlantic Fleet and U.S. Atlantic Fleet commander, it would be Dennison's responsibility to effect that quarantine—or, if the buildup continued, to take the "further action" referred to by the President.

To accomplish such an alternative, a massive array of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines that at its peak numbered half a million men was being assembled. All were under his direction.

From his office in Washington where today he is an executive for Copley News Service, retired Adm. Dennison reminisced by telephone on that day and the days that followed.

—Advocates of the view "we should have wiped out Castro and communism when we had the excuse" are wrong and are taking a very narrow view of a very broad picture. Getting into Cuba would have been much less a problem than getting out.

—The contention that Soviet missiles are still hidden in Cuban caves is "a pretty far-fetched idea."

—Khrushchev hesitated in ordering his missiles withdrawn simply because he couldn't believe his own intelligence reports—that the United States apparently was willing to risk a war that could grow into a nuclear holocaust.

—Cuba today cannot be considered a Soviet offensive base, although it is being used as a Communist stepping stone into the Western Hemisphere.

—Trade and other restrictions placed on Cuba have imposed an enormous drain on the Soviet economy.

—The limited test-ban treaty might well be one result of our actions taken in Cuba a year ago.

—The Cuban operation as a whole was "a significant milestone in international affairs" and was "very successful."

Dennison believes a quarantine rather than invasion was a proper course for reasons other than it might have backed Khrushchev into a corner from which he could not have emerged without losing face — "The President very astutely gave him a way out."

"In the first place, it would have been impossible to go in there without killing great masses of civilians," Dennison says. "We have many, many friends there.

"In the second place, getting in would have been much less a problem than getting out. How long did it take us to get out of Haiti and Nicaragua once we took over?

"If we had taken over (in Cuba) there was no one party that we could have turned to in the hope that it would represent the country. Instead (as the exiles have shown) there are at least half a dozen parties at odds with one another."

But what would have happened if the missiles hadn't come out?

"We would have had to blast them out," Dennison said.

For one tense day, he said, it looked like this alternative might be forced upon the United States.

Following President Kennedy's announcement of the quarantine, reconnaissance flights revealed Soviet technicians working feverishly to complete missile launching sites.

"They were completed the day that Khrushchev announced the withdrawal," Dennison recalls. "If he hadn't announced it then, Washington would have been faced with a tough decision—would we go in and blast them out at once, would we wait 24 hours, 48 hours, or what?

"But the main one was a feeling of complete confidence" he said. "I knew I had competent forces under excellent leaders. Not only were our plans feasible and appropriate, we had the means of executing them."

Let's Trade

We have a trading department and also salesmen who know the technique of trading. Let us help you to get the larger house you want, or the smaller house you want, or turn that mortgage in on an income property. You can generally trade better than to sell and get what you want, and it can also work to your advantage on taxes. Let us help you to trade what you have for something that you want. Mr. Baker 633-0358, Mr. Berry 634-8328, Mr. Smith 633-0164.

Industry Sought for Navajo Reservation

DALLAS (UPI) — The chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council's Relocation Committee says an attempt is being made to entice industry into moving on the Navajo Reservation in northeast Arizona, northwestern New Mexico, Utah and Colorado.

Raymond Smith, the chairman, was in Dallas to study Navajo problems in the area.

Smith said few offers have been received from industry to move onto the vast Four-Corners area reservation.

"The council would like to have several proposals and then choose the best offer," Smith said.

Water is becoming scarce on the reservation and there is chronic unemployment.

U.N. Flag Display Illegal on Campus

BOULDER (UPI)— A young Boulder real estate salesman charged Sunday that it is illegal for the University of Colorado to fly the flags of foreign countries on campus, as is the custom during the annual United Nations Week.

William T. Conner, 22, cited a 70-year-old Colorado statute prohibiting the display of flags other than those of the United States on state structures.

Conner is an avowed opponent of the United Nations and he said he hoped to prevent the university from putting on its traditional "Avenue of Flags" display in the center of campus during U.N. Week, which began today.

Conner said he contacted Gov. John Love's office and was told the law he cited was a criminal statute, therefore coming under the jurisdiction of the district attorney. He said he received conflicting opinions from members of the DA staff—with one of them taking the position that flags on sidewalks are legal, as long as they are not on a building itself.

Oldest Daughter Of Churchill Dies

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard said today an inquest into the death of Mrs. Diana Churchill, eldest daughter of Sir Winston, will be held Thursday.

The body of the 54-year-old ex-wife of Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys, was found in her house in London's fashionable Belgravia section early Sunday by her housekeeper.

The British Press Association reported that the body was nude, and the Daily Mail said an empty pill bottle was discovered nearby.

Diana Churchill was married in 1932 to John Milner Bailey, son of a South African diamond millionaire. They were divorced in 1960 and since then she had used the name of Mrs. Diana Churchill.

Neighbors said Mrs. Churchill had not been ill and had arrived home alone by taxi Saturday night.

General Strike Threat Battled By Congo Chief

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula clamped a state of emergency on this Congolese capital Sunday night in an attempt to checkmate a general strike threat.

A decree by President Joseph Kasavubu put the city under the rule of a three-man junta of Cabinet ministers led by Defense Minister Jerome Anany. A form of martial law was imposed. Special military courts will try offenders.

Leaders of the Congo's labor union federations had set midnight Tuesday as the deadline for Adoula to accept their demands for a "government of public safety" or face a general strike.

The government also ordered the arrest of six leading followers of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba and Antoine Gizenga. They have been reported in Brazzaville, across the Congo River. Other reports said they were holed up in Leopoldville.

The unions have rebuffed attempts by extremists to join their move to bring down Adoula. The union leaders are generally considered moderates.

Labor leaders, burying longstanding rivalries, joined in charging Adoula with harboring grafters and incompetents in his Cabinet. They called for a government of 12 "honest, capable and dedicated men." Adoula, they said privately, was acceptable to them as a member of such a new government.

They said their main target was the "Binza group"—a handful of ministers and high officials grouped around Justice Minister Justin Bomboko, Security police chief Victor Nendaka and Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, Congolese army commander.

The state of emergency decree indicated a clear-cut victory for the Binza group over a small Cabinet faction led by Labor Minister Alphonse Nguvulu.

Adoula still faces militant teachers and civil servants. A teachers' strike has been in progress since May 15. The teachers are demanding pay due them. Some have not been paid for nearly a year.

Four wise rules for investing

and how to use them

Anybody can quickly learn four basic rules for what never to do—and what always to do—when acquiring stock.

Here they are:

Never get in over your head with money you can't afford to invest.

Always manage your money with an eye on both today and tomorrow. Living expenses have first call on your income. Then comes provision for emergencies. These cared for, you may be ready to consider investing.

Always look for a broker in whose experience or training you feel you can have confidence. If you select a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, you will have the help of a firm subject to Exchange regulations. And of a broker (Registered Representative) who had to meet Exchange qualifications to become a broker in a Member Firm.

Don't expect all Member Firms to be alike. Or brokers to be infallible. Do expect your Member Firm broker to place his firm's knowledge and experience at your service.

Never acquire stock merely on a hunch or a tip.

Always look deeper for facts. Your Member Firm broker often has at his elbow information on the company's financial position. Its earnings. The dividends it pays. Facts like these can be important in helping you make your own careful judgments.

Never ignore the risks of investing.

Always plan your investments with cool care. The wise investor chooses stocks he thinks will fit his needs and circumstances. And he doesn't overlook the relative safety of principal and income that good bonds usually provide. He remembers that prices go down as well as up, that a company may not continue to pay dividends or interest.

But he believes his country is growing, and he intends to grow with it—through sensible investment in good stock.

Send the coupon—or drop in at a local Member Firm—for a free copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS," which describes the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock with as little as $40 every three months.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

(© 1963: By the Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

URINARY TRACT INFECTION

The kidney infection, pyelonephritis, is common in children. As a rule, the causative microorganisms enter from below and may infect the bladder on their way up to the kidneys. Little girls, for anatomical reasons, are most susceptible.

A severe infection brings chills, fever, nausea, and vomiting. Burning and frequency of urination occur and distress may be so acute, the child holds back until the bladder is distended beyond control.

The urine teems with pus cells and bacteria. Several sulfonamides and antibiotics are available to control the infection but this is not enough; treatment often has to be continued for several weeks and periodic urinalyses must be done for 18 months thereafter. This is logical because the disorder tends to recur in a mild but persistent form.

In addition, many victims of pyelonephritis never have the acute or severe form of the disease because it escapes detection unless the youngster complains of bladder symptoms. This organ is vulnerable because it stores the infected urine from the kidneys. Consequently, varying degrees of cystitis (inflamed bladder) co-exist and this frequently provides the clew that the kidneys are involved.

The bladder becomes irritable and the child urinates small amounts at frequent intervals. Others cry whenever urine is passed because it burns or hurts. These complaints should not be ignored just because the child is healthy and happy otherwise.

Chronic kidney infections become more serious as the years pass. Some types of high blood pressure are traced to this condition. Uremia may occur when the kidneys refuse to function properly.

Any chronic or recurring infection of the urinary tract deserves a thorough study, including X-rays of the kidneys and, if necessary, a cystoscopic examination in which the physician looks inside the bladder with a special tube. Conditions such as stones, tumors, or defects along the passageway encourage urinary tract infections. A complete checkup is the best way to detect them.

Heat Helps

Mrs. C. R. writes: Is it better for a woman with arthritis of the fingers to keep the hands out of water?

Reply

No, provided heat does not increase the swelling. In general, warm water is helpful and many arthritics find washing dishes good therapy for this condition.

No Flashes

Mrs. A. writes: I am a woman of 76 and still have not had hot flashes. Do you think I will ever get them?

Reply

Only time will tell because there are other causes of hot flashes. Some women never get them when going through the menopause.

Don't Ask For It

R. B. writes: Do you think it wise for a tense, overanxious person to force himself into situations that seem impossible to handle, in hopes of overcoming the anxiety?

Reply

No. It is a wise man who knows his limitations.

Fluid In Tissues

Mrs. P. writes: Why do some people collect fluid in the body?

Reply

Because of a glandular disorder; a heart, liver, and lung disease; or insufficient proteins in the diet.

Alaska Considered As Overseas Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House decided Monday that Alaska, for certain purposes anyway, is an entitled as Hawaii to be considered an "overseas" post.

By unanimous consent it passed and sent to the Senate a bill under which federal employes assigned to Alaska could ship their cars there at government expense.

Under present rules, Alaska is considered part of the Continental United States and a government servant transferred to duty there and wanting his car generally must make the drive himself, an arduous and sometimes hazardous task.

Improvement Reported in Newspapers

By FRANK L. SPENCER

CHICAGO (UPI) — J. Montgomery Curtis, director of the American Press Institute, said today there has been a marked improvement in American newspapers over the past 20 years.

"There are more truly excellent, dedicated newspapers of the highest standards serving millions of readers today in the United States and Canada than at any time in history," Curtis said.

Curtis spoke at a final session of the 1963 conference of United Press International editors and publishers.

Curtis said 'there are hundreds and hundreds of splendid newspapers, all eager to do a better job tomorrow than they did today."

There is a little-known self-improvement program under way to improve the quality of newspapers, he said.

"We are far too modest in telling them about it," Curtis said. "Consider the breadth of this program, based as it is on the desire of good newspapers to benefit from informed analysis and criticism.

"The Associated Press will soon be doing the same job at its meetings. Both wire services wage continual campaigns to improve their services to the readers."

Tatarian said there has been "a quiet revolution in the UPI service over the past several years."

The "revolution," he said, is "to encircle the spot news from different directions; to anticipate news by reporting trends and tendencies as they occur; to dig deeply into the news to find the significance that may be submerged; and to follow up news in a systematic manner to report its actual or likely consequences as time goes on."

Tatarian said "without in any way diverting attention or energy from the spot news report, we have devoted additional resources to this second strata of news coverage and have very considerably increased the flow of interpretative dispatches, special dispatches, team reports and other enterprise material."

River Water Case Rejected by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its June 3 decision regarded as a victory for Arizona over California in the long controversy over Colorado River water rights.

Reconsideration was asked by California in a petition asserting the court had made errors of fact and law.

The petition disputed the court's conclusion that the 1928 Boulder Canyon Project Act apportioned 4.4 million acre feet of water yearly to California, 2.8 million to Arizona and .3 million to Nevada.

BOREAUX — French shipowners plan to extend Canadian service.

THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE!

★ That the cost of medical care has risen, no one can deny. But the rise has not been out of proportion to the general advance in the cost of living. At the same time the quality of medical service has been immeasurably improved.

● Your physician has invested from eight to ten years and about twenty thousand dollars in his education alone. He has no chance to earn until he is twenty-six or twenty-seven years old. He must have an office in a good neighborhood, good equipment, a car, good clothes.

● Pharmacy, too, has stepped up its standards. Almost every state now requires four years of college and a year or two of practice before registration. All this adds up to better medical service for you.

● At the first sign of illness see your doctor . . . and if he writes a prescription for you . . . we invite you to bring it to Aley's . . . WE SAVE customer's money on every PRESCRIPTION.

PLANE GREETING—B. B. Gundy, managing director of Time Magazine in Canada is greeted by Royal Canadian Air Force air vice marshal Murray D. Lister, NORAD deputy chief of staff for operations, on his arrival at Peterson Field this week. Gundy was traveling with 70 members of the Board of Trade of Metropolitan Toronto who visited the North American Air Defense Command Headquarters this week. Friday the group visited the Air Force Academy. The group was accompanied on their NORAD trip by Wing Commander J. Douglas Harvey, director of public relations for the Royal Canadian Air Force. They are scheduled to depart Sunday for Canada.

Attorneys Argue Barnett Case In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government today urged the Supreme Court to reject a jury trial of criminal contempt charges against Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox outlined in detail the legal tangle that preceded the charges that Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., defied a federal circuit court order by his actions and inactions at the time of Negro James H. Meredith's enrollment at the University of Mississippi last year.

They are accused of violating an order requiring them to cease interfering with Meredith's admission. Another part of the contempt charge accused them of failure to maintain law and order on the campus at Oxford.

Cox argued that the law applied only to orders of a federal district court — not a circuit court as in this case—and further that it did not apply to cases brought by the federal government.

He said that the Justice Department started the criminal proceedings at the direction of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals and not of its own choice.

PARIS — France is one of several countries that is expected to pledge funds for the support of India.

Deporting African Chief Starts Probe

LONDON (AP)—A hearing is being held to determine whether Sir John Hobson, Britain's attorney general, violated professional ethics in the deportation case of an African chief.

The chief, Anthony Enahoro, was returned to Nigeria last May and sentenced to 15 years in prison for treason.

The Masters of the Bench of the Inner Temple, one of four British Inns of Court responsible for maintaining the ethics of the legal profession, opened a private hearing Monday on charges by Reginal Paget, Labor member of Parliament, that Hobson presented an inaccurate and misleading affidavit in the case. He also charged that while the government was assuring Parliament that Enahoro could choose any attorney he wanted, Hobson failed to disclose that the Nigerian government had barred two British barristers who offered their services to the chief.

The Masters of the Bench can dismiss the charges or impose a penalty ranging from a reprimand to expulsion from the bar.

U.N. Flag Display Illegal on Campus

BOULDER (UPI)— A young Boulder real estate salesman charged Sunday that it is illegal for the University of Colorado to fly the flags of foreign countries on campus, as is the custom during the annual United Nations Week.

William T. Conner, 22, cited a 70-year-old Colorado statute prohibiting the display of flags other than those of the United States on state structures.

Conner is an avowed opponent of the United Nations and he said he hoped to prevent the university from putting on its traditional "Avenue of Flags" display in the center of campus during U.N. Week, which began today.

Conner said he contacted Gov. John Love's office and was told the law he cited was a criminal statute, therefore coming under the jurisdiction of the district attorney. He said he received conflicting opinions from members of the DA staff—with one of them taking the position that flags on sidewalks are legal, as long as they are not on a building itself.

Oldest Daughter Of Churchill Dies

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard said today an inquest into the death of Mrs. Diana Churchill, eldest daughter of Sir Winston, will be held Thursday.

The body of the 54-year-old ex-wife of Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys, was found in her house in London's fashionable Belgravia section early Sunday by her housekeeper.

The British Press Association reported that the body was nude, and the Daily Mail said an empty pill bottle was discovered nearby.

Diana Churchill was married in 1932 to John Milner Bailey, son of a South African diamond millionaire. They were divorced in 1960 and since then she had used the name of Mrs. Diana Churchill.

Neighbors said Mrs. Churchill had not been ill and had arrived home alone by taxi Saturday night.

Four wise rules for investing

and how to use them

Anybody can quickly learn four basic rules for what never to do—and what always to do—when acquiring stock.

Here they are:

Never get in over your head with money you can't afford to invest.

Always manage your money with an eye on both today and tomorrow. Living expenses have first call on your income. Then comes provision for emergencies. These cared for, you may be ready to consider investing.

Never be careless in choosing your broker.

Always look for a broker in whose experience or training you feel you can have confidence. If you select a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, you will have the help of a firm subject to Exchange regulations. And of a broker (Registered Representative) who had to meet Exchange qualifications to become a broker in a Member Firm.

Don't expect all Member Firms to be alike. Or brokers to be infallible. Do expect your Member Firm broker to place his firm's knowledge and experience at your service.

Never acquire stock merely on a hunch or a tip.

Always look deeper for facts. Your Member Firm broker often has at his elbow information on the company's financial position. Its earnings. The dividends it pays. Facts like these can be important in helping you make your own careful judgments.

Never ignore the risks of investing.

Always plan your investments with cool care. The wise investor chooses stocks he thinks will fit his needs and circumstances. And he doesn't overlook the relative safety of principal and income that good bonds usually provide. He remembers that prices go down as well as up, that a company may not continue to pay dividends or interest.

But he believes his country is growing, and he intends to grow with it—through sensible investment in good stock.

General Strike Threat Battled By Congo Chief

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula clamped a state of emergency on this Congolese capital Sunday night in an attempt to checkmate a general strike threat.

A decree by President Joseph Kasavubu put the city under the rule of a three-man junta of Cabinet ministers led by Defense Minister Jerome Anany. A form of martial law was imposed. Special military courts will try offenders.

Leaders of the Congo's labor union federations had set midnight Tuesday as the deadline for Adoula to accept their demands for a "government of public safety" or face a general strike.

The government also ordered the arrest of six leading followers of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba and Antoine Gizenga. They have been reported in Brazzaville, across the Congo River. Other reports said they were holed up in Leopoldville.

The unions have rebuffed attempts by extremists to join their move to bring down Adoula. The union leaders are generally considered moderates.

Labor leaders, burying longstanding rivalries, joined in charging Adoula with harboring grafters and incompetents in his Cabinet. They called for a government of 12 "honest, capable and dedicated men." Adoula, they said privately, was acceptable to them as a member of such a new government.

They said their main target was the "Binza group"—a handful of ministers and high officials grouped around Justice Minister Justin Bomboko, Security police chief Victor Nendaka and Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, Congolese army commander.

The state of emergency decree indicated a clear-cut victory for the Binza group over a small Cabinet faction led by Labor Minister Alphonse Nguvulu.

Bomboko was one of the ministers named to assist in ruling the city. The other was Interior Minister Joseph Maboti.

Adoula still faces militant teachers and civil servants. A teachers' strike has been in progress since May 15. The teachers are demanding pay due them. Some have not been paid for nearly a year.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

URINARY TRACT INFECTION

The kidney infection, pyelonephritis, is common in children. As a rule, the causative microorganisms enter from below and may infect the bladder on their way up to the kidneys. Little girls, for anatomical reasons, are most susceptible.

A severe infection brings chills, fever, nausea, and vomiting. Burning and frequency of urination occur and distress may be so acute, the child holds back until the bladder is distended beyond control.

The urine teems with pus cells and bacteria. Several sulfonamides and antibiotics are available to control the infection but this is not enough; treatment often has to be continued for several weeks and periodic urinalyses must be done for 18 months thereafter. This is logical because the disorder tends to recur in a mild but persistent form.

In addition, many victims of pyelonephritis never have the acute or severe form of the disease because it escapes detection unless the youngster complains of bladder symptoms. This organ is vulnerable because it stores the infected urine from the kidneys. Consequently, varying degrees of cystitis (inflamed bladder) co-exist and this frequently provides the clew that the kidneys are involved.

The bladder becomes irritable and the child urinates small amounts at frequent intervals. Others cry whenever urine is passed because it burns or hurts. These complaints should not be ignored just because the child is healthy and happy otherwise.

Chronic kidney infections become more serious as the years pass. Some types of high blood pressure are traced to this condition. Uremia may occur when the kidneys refuse to function properly.

Any chronic or recurring infection of the urinary tract deserves a thorough study, including X-rays of the kidneys and, if necessary, a cystoscopic examination in which the physician looks inside the bladder with a special tube. Conditions such as stones, tumors, or defects along the passageway encourage urinary tract infections. A complete checkup is the best way to detect them.

Heat Helps

Mrs. C. R. writes: Is it better for a woman with arthritis of the fingers to keep the hands out of water?

Reply

No, provided heat does not increase the swelling. In general, warm water is helpful and many arthritics find washing dishes good therapy for this condition.

No Flashes

Mrs. A. writes: I am a woman of 76 and still have not had hot flashes. Do you think I will ever get them?

Only time will tell because there are other causes of hot flashes. Some women never get them when going through the menopause.

Don't Ask For It

R. B. writes: Do you think it wise for a tense, overanxious person to force himself into situations that seem impossible to handle, in hopes of overcoming the anxiety?

Reply

No. It is a wise man who knows his limitations.

Fluid In Tissues

Mrs. P. writes: Why do some people collect fluid in the body?

Reply

Because of a glandular disorder; a heart, liver, and lung disease; or insufficient proteins in the diet.

Alaska Considered As Overseas Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House decided Monday that Alaska, for certain purposes anyway, is an entitled as Hawaii to be considered an "overseas" post.

By unanimous consent it passed and sent to the Senate a bill under which federal employes assigned to Alaska could ship their cars there at government expense.

Under present rules, Alaska is considered part of the Continental United States and a government servant transferred to duty there and wanting his car generally must make the drive himself, an arduous and sometimes hazardous task.

THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE!

★ That the cost of medical care has risen, no one can deny. But the rise has not been out of proportion to the general advance in the cost of living. At the same time the quality of medical service has been immeasurably improved.

- Your physician has invested from eight to ten years and about twenty thousand dollars in his education alone. He has no chance to earn until he is twenty-six or twenty-seven years old. He must have an office in a good neighborhood, good equipment, a car, good clothes.
- Pharmacy, too, has stepped up its standards. Almost every state now requires four years of college and a year or two of practice before registration. All this adds up to better medical service for you.
- At the first sign of illness see your doctor . . . and if he writes a prescription for you . . . we invite you to bring it to Aley's . . . WE SAVE customer's money on every PRESCRIPTION.

Improvement Reported in Newspapers

By FRANK L. SPENCER

CHICAGO (UPI) — J. Montgomery Curtis, director of the American Press Institute, said today there has been a marked improvement in American newspapers over the past 20 years.

"There are more truly excellent, dedicated newspapers of the highest standards serving millions of readers today in the United States and Canada than at any time in history," Curtis said.

Curtis spoke at a final session of the 1963 conference of United Press International editors and publishers.

Curtis said "there are hundreds and hundreds of splendid newspapers, all eager to do a better job tomorrow than they did today."

There is a little-known self-improvement program under way to improve the quality of newspapers, he said.

"We are far too modest in telling them about it," Curtis said. "Consider the breadth of this program, based as it is on the desire of good newspapers to benefit from informed analysis and criticism.

"The Associated Press will soon be doing the same job at its meetings. Both wire services wage continual campaigns to improve their services to the readers."

Tatarian said there has been "a quiet revolution in the UPI service over the past several years."

The "revolution," he said, is "to encircle the spot news from different directions; to anticipate news by reporting trends and tendencies as they occur; to dig deeply into the news to find the significance that may be submerged; and to follow up news in a systematic manner to report its actual or likely consequences as time goes on."

Tatarian said "without in any way diverting attention or energy from the spot news report, we have devoted additional resources to this second strata of news coverage and have very considerably increased the flow of interpretative dispatches, special dispatches, team reports and other enterprise material."

River Water Case Rejected by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its June 3 decision regarded as a victory for Arizona over California in the long controversy over Colorado River water rights.

Reconsideration was asked by California in a petition asserting the court had made errors of fact and law.

The petition disputed the court's conclusion that the 1928 Boulder Canyon Project Act apportioned 4.4 million acre feet of water yearly to California, 2.8 million to Arizona and .3 million to Nevada.

BOREAUX — French shipowners plan to extend Canadian service.

PLANE GREETING—B. B. Gundy, managing director of Time Magazine in Canada is greeted by Royal Canadian Air Force air vice marshal Murray D. Lister, NORAD deputy chief of staff for operations, on his arrival at Peterson Field this week. Gundy was traveling with 70 members of the Board of Trade of Metropolitan Toronto who visited the North American Air Defense Command Headquarters this week. Friday the group visited the Air Force Academy. The group was accompanied on their NORAD trip by Wing Commander J. Douglas Harvey, director of public relations for the Royal Canadian Air Force. They are scheduled to depart Sunday for Canada.

Attorneys Argue Barnett Case In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government today urged the Supreme Court to reject a jury trial of criminal contempt charges against Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox outlined in detail the legal tangle that preceded the charges that Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., defied a federal circuit court order by his actions and inactions at the time of Negro James H. Meredith's enrollment at the University of Mississippi last year.

They are accused of violating an order requiring them to cease interfering with Meredith's admission. Another part of the contempt charge accused them of failure to maintain law and order on the campus at Oxford.

Cox argued that the law applied only to orders of a federal district court — not a circuit court as in this case—and further that it did not apply to cases brought by the federal government.

He said that the Justice Department started the criminal proceedings at the direction of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals and not of its own choice.

Deporting African Chief Starts Probe

LONDON (AP)—A hearing is being held to determine whether Sir John Hobson, Britain's attorney general, violated professional ethics in the deportation case of an African chief.

The chief, Anthony Enahoro, was returned to Nigeria last May and sentenced to 15 years in prison for treason.

The Masters of the Bench of the Inner Temple, one of four British Inns of Court responsible for maintaining the ethics of the legal profession, opened a private hearing Monday on charges by Reginal Paget, Labor member of Parliament, that Hobson presented an inaccurate and misleading affidavit in the case. He also charged that while the government was assuring Parliament that Enahoro could choose any attorney he wanted, Hobson failed to disclose that the Nigerian government had barred two British barristers who offered their services to the chief.

The Masters of the Bench can dismiss the charges or impose a penalty ranging from a reprimand to expulsion from the bar.
